Secrets of Standard Oil Bared.

Hearing in Dissolution Suit Marked by Startling Revelations.

Profits for Eight Years Five Hundred and Seventy Millions.

Assistant Comptroller of the Company Tells of Its Subsidiaries.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The profits of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey in the eight years from 1899 to 1906, inclusive, were $490,315,934, or more than $70,000,000 per year. In addition, the gross assets of the company during that period increased from $200,791,622 to $371,664,521, making a further profit of $170,872,899, making the total profits for the eight years, $571,188,942.

Financiers and those seeking knowledge of the exact profits of Standard Oil have striven in vain to obtain the figures which Mr. Kellogg succeeded today in placing upon record of the court. The Standard Oil Company makes no statement of its business, other than the declarations of dividends it makes public, by which its business may be gauged.

The hearing today brought out much new information.

Mr. Kellogg obtained a statement showing that the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey controls by stock ownership over seventy companies engaged in the refining and the transportation by pipe line of oil on September 14, 1907.

GUARDED SECRETS OUT.

The Standard Oil has always carefully guarded the list of its subsidiary companies and the amount of [illegible] holdings. [illegible] that the Standard Oil Company, of New Jersey owned $990,000 of the total capital stock of $1,000,000 of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, which was recently fined $29,240,000, for rebating.

Mr. Kellogg's efforts at today's hearing to obtain information of the records of the liquidating trustees who had charge of the liquidation of the Standard Oil trust and the changing of the liquidation trust certificates for the shares of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, were not successful.

Charles M. Pratt, secretary of the Standard Oil Company, who testified that he had been a liquidating trustee, said he did not know the whereabouts of the records, and could recall little regarding the liquidation of the Standard Oil trust.

Clarence Fay, assistant comptroller of the Standard Oil Company, the final witness, was also unable to give the government inquisitor the information he desired, which caused Mr. Kellogg to remark, just before the hearing closed, that he thought it strange that no one in the Standard Oil Company seemed to know where the records of the liquidating trustees could be found.

ILLUMINATING FIGURES.

The following is the list of capital stock, etc., of the Standard Oil Company and securities of other companies held by the Standard Oil Company, produced by Mr. Kellogg. The lists were furnished by officials of the company in response to subpoenaes:

Capital stock of Standard Oil Company (N. J.); cents omitted.

Year.	Capital.	Net value of assets.
1899	$96,966,612	$196,270,017

Totals ..		$490,315,934	$308,359,403

Most of the information—the first authentic statement of the profits of the big company—was elicited from C. G. Fay, assistant comptroller of the company, who was on the witness stand today, and was examined by Frank B. Kellogg, special attorney for the United States government, who is helping Assistant United States Atty.-Gen. Milton D. Purdy in the Standard Oil dissolution suit before the special examiner, former Judge Franklin Farris of St. Louis.

Mr. Kellogg also drew from Mr. Fay the statement that the capital stock of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey was $96,966,612 in 1899, and that it was $98,338,382 in 1906; also that in the seven years the dividends paid to stockholders aggregated $308,359,430.

SUBSIDIARY CONCERNS.

Mr. Fay said that the Standard Oil Company received profits from its subsidiary companies in such proportion as it owns securities in these companies. Books were kept showing the earnings on these subsidiary investments, but he did not know where all the books were at this time. Mr. Kellogg asked him to produce the books. Mr. Kellogg asked why nineteen of the subsidiary companies on the list had frac-

OKLAHOMA ADOPTS HER CONSTITUTION.

Prohibition Programme Also Victorious and Democrats Elect Their State Ticket—President Now to Pass on Fundamental Law of New State.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Oklahoma citizens today adopted the Constitution framed by the Democrats at Guthrie last winter, by an overwhelming majority. The Prohibition programme was also victorious, and the entire Democratic State ticket has been elected.

The Constitution now goes to President Roosevelt for his indorsement or veto. Little doubt exists that he will not sanction the document accepted by the people of the twin Territories, after fourteen years' struggle for home rule.

Demonstrations took place tonight in all the leading towns of the State, and, in several cities, the crowning of the hope of all these years with success was celebrated with bands and parades, all classes joining in the processions and marching and cheering through the principal streets.

The Democratic candidate for Governor, C. N. Haskell of Muskogee, I. T., at 10 o'clock last night claimed his election by 35,000 to 40,000. J. B. Thompson, chairman of the Democratic State Committeee, with headquarters in this city, claimed the election of the entire State ticket by 40,000.

B. S. McGuire, Republican candidate for Congress in the First Congress District, claims that he has won, but the vote is close. Frank Hubbard (Rep.) of Muskogee of the Third Congress District, is elected by a small majority, it appears.

Nearly every county in the twin Territories has gone on record as favoring the Constitution. Prohibition has carried by probably 50,000 majority. In many of the towns school children joined with representatives of the churches in parades, carrying banners and singing songs denouncing the liquor traffic.

The convention that framed the State Constitution was heavily Democratic and the Constitution as completed was obviously unfavorable to the Republicans.

Secretary Taft, speaking recently at Oklahoma City, advised Republicans to vote against the Constitution. Because of strong desire for Statehood, however, the Republican party did not attempt to defeat the Constitution.

The new State must wait for the Constitution's indorsement by President Roosevelt, who will either confirm or reject it upon his judgment as to whether or not it conforms to the enabling act of Congress and the Constitution of the United States. In the enabling act, Congress provided for prohibition in the Indian Territory for twenty-one years from January 1, 1906.

The prohibition clause voted on today applies the same provision to the Oklahoma side of the new State. If it has carried, as seems probable, State-wide prohibition will be a part of the Constitution for twenty-one years and at the end of that period will remain in force indefinitely unless repealed.

HIGH FINANCE.

HOW SCHIFF GOT HIS COIN BACK FROM RYAN.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Announcement was made today that the mystery of how Jacob Schiff compelled Thomas F. Ryan and his associates to take back $6,000,000 of Metropolitan Securities Company stock in 1903, will shortly be cleared up by the Public Service Commission.

William M. Evans, counsellor in the investigation of the transit merger, is to call Mr. Schiff as a witness and, it is expected, he will go on the stand a few days after Mr. Ryan returns from abroad.

Just what Mr. Schiff, on behalf of his firm, Kuhn, Loeb & Co. did, and what he said or intimated to make Mr. Ryan and his friends come forward with nearly $7,000,000, has always been a great mystery to Wall Street. Mr. Ryan is known as a man who does not return money obtained through an agreement very willingly.

The general belief is that Mr. Schiff told Mr. Ryan that he had been deceived by statements made at the time the securities were exploited. He is quoted as saying something like this:

"I do not propose to submit to this treatment from you. If you insist on your agreement, then I will adopt another course. I will say a few things. I will not talk about matters of which I am uninformed or which will come as hearsay from me, and what I do talk about will be listened to with great respect."

The way the answer was: "Here's your money."

BAY CITY PROGRAMME.

FUSION FAVORED.

Ryan Refuses to Be Nominated.

Declares He Does Not Want to Figure in Mayoralty Contest.

Supports Resolution for Conference With Other Conventions.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—The Republican County Convention tonight declared itself in favor of fusion in the nomination of Mayor and District Attorney by empowering the chair to appoint a committee of five to confer with the Democratic and Union Labor conventions, the latter of which is to be held on the 19th inst. The date for the holding of the Democratic convention has not been fixed.

The feature of the convention was the absolute control of it by Daniel A. Ryan, who at the primaries led the so-called reform element to victory. Mr. Ryan spoke in support of the resolution for the appointment of the committee of five and against an amendment which if adopted would have placed the Republican party in the position of waiting for a fusion decision by the two other parties.

The unconfirmed programme was that Dist.-Atty. Langdon would be renominated and that Ryan would be nominated for Mayor. Ryan himself smashed this slate by declaring against the "elevation of man above party."

The committee to be appointed by the chair is instructed to confer with the Democratic and Union Labor conventions on September 23.

After adjournment, Mr. Ryan said: "I am absolutely and unqualifiedly for the renomination of Dist.-Atty. Langdon. I do not wish my own name to figure in the Mayoralty nomination. This is a time when the man should be subordinated to principle."

NON-PARTISAN TICKET IS THE PROGRAMME.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Republican Municipal Nominating Convention met tonight at Walton's Pavilion, and, after effecting a temporary organization, adjourned to permit of a conference with the other party conventions, with a view to securing a non-partisan ticket for San Francisco in the approaching election and, if it is possible, uniting on one candidate for Mayor.

To effect this non-partisan union of the parties, the chairman was authorized to appoint a conference committee of five. There was some debate on the resolution because, as originally introduced, it might be construed as requiring the Republicans to await indefinitely the will of the other parties in appointing committees. The resolution, as amended, required the chairman of the convention to appoint its Conference Committee at an early date, thus setting an example for the other political parties in the work of restoring municipal confidence.

RYAN'S DOMINATION.

The feature of the convention was the fact that Daniel A. Ryan, notwithstanding he had more than enough votes to secure his nomination for Mayor, would not permit his supporters to proceed and name him for that office. Instead, Ryan seconded the conference resolution in a speech in which he said that its adoption would show the citizens that the purpose of the Republican League, declared at the primary, was to put citizenship above partisanship.

Ryan was applauded by the delegates, for his position on the resolution meant that he and his associates had abandoned their original programme of nominating Ryan for Mayor and Langdon for District Attorney last night.

When it was discovered that Ryan had yielded to the advice of those favoring a conference, his principal supporters were much disgusted and were for proceeding to the nomination anyway; but Ryan would not consent to this, and the conference plan of the Taylor adherents in the convention carried the day, notwithstanding they were in an otherwise ineffective minority.

An attempt to place the matter of the selection of Supervisors in a pocket committee of five was combatted, and finally the resolution was withdrawn until the matter shall present itself in the order of business which has not yet been adopted.

W. Greer Harrison, the president, and Hugh Burke, the secretary of the Good Government League, were present to voice the claims of that organization for Taylor and Langdon and for a conference. Because of the outcome, the convention was deprived of both speeches and resolutions from the representatives of the league.

WORKS BOTH WAYS.

KINGSTON (Jamaica) Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The first important stage of the fire-insurance battle in the local courts was concluded today, when the Supreme Court delivered its judgment in the matter of determining the burden of proof as to the origin of fire in each case.

The court declares that each plaintiff must prove that his place was destroyed by fire.

To succeed in evading liability the insurance companies must produce testimony, showing that the fire occurred as a consequence of the earthquake, in which event the plaintiffs are required to prove the contrary.

DEALS IN AFFINITIES.

Young Woman With Soulful Eyes Gets Into Trouble With Uncle Sam.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Marion Grey, a demure young person, with such wonderful brown eyes that they would pull a man out of a forty-foot well, today gave a $1000 bill as surety that she would appear in the Federal Court to answer charges of operating a matrimonial agency at Elgin, Ill.

Miss Grey has been a student in the University of Michigan, and she says she is trying to earn funds to complete her course. She says her business is perfectly legitimate and she will continue it. She engages to match "affinities" by correspondence, and bring together persons intended for each other.

"Why, the country is simply dotted," said Miss Grey, "by couples that we have brought together, who otherwise would have been moping their lives away in solitude, with nothing more substantial for their love to feed on than soul-kisses, which, you know, are ethereal at best, and are not to be compared with the hammock or parlor variety. There is an art in picking out affinities, but, of course, there are times when we make mistakes."

She referred to the mistake in the case of the Milwaukee client, who got the wrong affinity, and sued to recover his $5 fee.

INDIFFERENCE.

CHICAGO'S NEW CHARTER LOSES.

OVERWHELMING MAJORITY IS POLLED AGAINST IT.

Little More Than Half Registered Vote Is Cast, Unofficial Count Being 79,581 for and 121,479 Against Proposition—Mayor Busse Deplores Result of Special Election.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] By a vote of 121,479 to 79,581 the people of Chicago said today they did not want a new charter.

Its defeat was overwhelming, unexpected to its friends and discouraging to the men who had worked to give the city the advantages of the proposed act. They always had in mind the possibility that the voters would reject the work of the charter convention and the Legislature, but that it should be by such figures they had not dreamed.

The opposition of the United Societies, with their false idea that their personal liberty was endangered, and of the small property owners who feared that their taxes would be raised, aided by the efforts of certain corporate interests which had reasons for disliking the act, proved too hard to be overcome.

Of the 361,968 registered voters, just about one-half, 181,060, took the trouble to vote, and 180,908 had no voice in the settlement of the question.

The result proved that in an election commanding the interest of only half the voters, the United Societies must be reckoned with in the settlement of a public issue, which they make of interest to their membership.

They went in to prove that they possessed such political power, and they have the satisfaction of knowing that they do possess it, however much the demonstration may have been to the injury of the city.

ONE AMENDMENT CARRIES.

The amendment to the Municipal Court act, which was not opposed, managed to escape the slaughter, and it was adopted by a majority of 18,735 votes. It is doubtful if one voter in twenty who marked his ballot against the Municipal Court act could have given a reason for so doing, but he went to the polls in a destructive frame of mind and made no distinctions. There were not enough negatives, however, to defeat it.

One man in every nine who voted on the charter proposition did not have enough interest in the question to vote on the municipal court act. Nearly 20,000 voters took the small ballot, made one mark on it, ignored the second question and voted merely on the main question.

MAYOR BUSSE IS SORRY.

Mayor Busse issued the following statement tonight:

"It is evident from the result today that a great majority of the people of Chicago either do not want a charter or are not sufficiently interested in a new charter to go to the polls and vote. The very light vote polled and the majority clearly proves that. I think this indifference of the public has been a mistake. While the charter contains some provisions that were disagree to this, that, or the other special interest or element in the community, yet the whole of it was a good thing for Chicago. Its adoption would have enabled the administration to do many things in the way of public improvement which could have been of lasting benefit to the city and its people."

ABROGATE TREATY!

Winnipeg Congress Makes Demand.

Hot Resolutions Adopted and Forwarded to the Dominion Capital.

Trade and Labor Body Wants Anglo-Japanese Agreement Ended.

Immediate Restriction of Immigration Also Vigorously Urged.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

THE objectionable clause in the treaty reads as follows: "Subjects of each of the two contracting parties, Great Britain and Japan, shall have full liberty to enter, travel or reside in any part of the dominion or possessions of the other contracting party, and shall enjoy full and perfect protection for their persons and property."

This treaty extends for twelve years, but can be terminated by either party upon six months notice.

WINNIPEG (Man.) Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Determined in their efforts to bring about strongly prohibitive measures to prevent the influx of Asiatics on the Pacific Coast, the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, in a vigorous meeting today passed a resolution asking Canada's premier to appeal to the British government to have the objectionable clause in the Anglo-Japanese treaty abrogated.

The leader in the movement against the Asiatics, Albert G. Perry of Vancouver, vehemently denounced the present tendency and declared that protection to the white man on the Pacific must be given by the authorities and given quickly.

PRACTICALLY A MANDATE.

To a man, the hundred delegates present were equally vehement in their denunciation of an Oriental invasion, and the resolution went forth almost as a mandate from the labor party, asking for the abrogation of the treaty in accordance with the six-months notice clause, and pending its termination Japanese immigration to be restricted to 400 or 500 a year.

The resolution was as follows:

"I. That we respectfully, but firmly, ask the abrogation of the treaty so far as Canada is concerned;

"II. That as a necessary preliminary to that end, the Dominion government be urged to immediately call upon the Imperial authorities to give the six-months' notice required to terminate the treaty with Japan;

"III. That pending the termination of the treaty, the Japanese authorities be called upon to restrict the immigration of Japanese, in accordance with the alleged convocation that no more than 400 or 500 be allowed to come to Canada during any one year."

CRISIS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

In a vigorous discussion the delegates argued in the support of the resolution that a crisis had arisen in British Columbia by reason of the unprecedented influx of Japanese; that the Japanese had already usurped the opportunities for white labor in the fisheries in British Columbia, and were threatening to supplant white labor in the saw mills and the mines; that the expulsion of white labor from the mines, lumbering and other industries of British Columbia would entail a shortage of fuel and lumber supplies this approaching winter for the people, more particularly of Western Canada; that the willingness of the Japanese to accept a lower standard of living enabled them to oust from employment citizens of Canada, who, under a higher conception of moral, social and industrial well-being, had trained themselves to conform to a standard of living more in accordance with British ideas and who were determined to maintain that standard as the surest guarantee of Canadian citizenship.

LOSS OF PROVINCE POSSIBLE.

The resolutions further declared that the continued influx of Japanese constituted a menace to the predominance of British institutions by driving white labor out of all industries and depriving them of the means to maintain themselves and their families and thus lessening the amount available for merchants, shopkeepers and other business people; that the continued importation of Japanese laborers inevitably meant the departure of white labor from British Columbia, to the utter loss and ruin, not only of British Columbia, but of all Canada; that the first consideration of the Dominion government should be the welfare of Canadians; that they believed that the best interests of Canada and the empire would be served by respecting the autonomous rights of its component parts; that Canada has already sacrificed much for imperial interests, as witness the recent generous contribution on Canada's behalf, made by Lord Alverstone of the Alaskan boundary award, and that the continuation of the Japanese treaty act 1906, meant the depopulation in British Columbia of white people and possibly the loss of the province altogether to the Dominion of Canada.

Even then, many of the delegates took the stand that the dictum was not sufficiently broad. They wished the resolution to crowd out the whole subject of Asiatic invasion.

The whole matter was wired directly to Ottawa and an immediate answer was solicited from the government.

CONDITIONS ON COAST.

"The prevailing conditions in Canada will never permit of the invasion of the yellow race," said Mr. Perry, who fathered the resolution, "and the sooner the Canadian government recognizes that the people of British Columbia will not tolerate the present movement from the Orient the better it will be for the country's welfare.

"Nearly a thousand Asiatics are now at British Columbia. They cannot be used as laborers on the railway lines when the first cold weather comes. Further there is positively no shortage of skilled or unskilled labor on the Pacific Coast, and the malicious statements that only through the importations of the Japanese, Chinese and Hindus, can railway construction be carried on satisfactorily are harmful, misleading and untrue.

"What are they going to do this winter?" continued Mr. Perry. "Last year a number considerably smaller than the present quota would have actually starved to death had not the city come to their rescue. This year it will be many times worse. There is no work for them, and they beg from door to door, oft-times men demanding food and threatening violence in case of refusal.

"In many portions of the city they are feared and they are a menace to society. It has been said that the labor unions have been unreasonable in urging restriction or prohibitive legislation, but the workingman's cry is not the only indication of complaint. The merchants of Vancouver are suffering as well as the man who invests only his time. Well do they know that every Asiatic laborer means one less white worker and the loss of that man's custom because the Japs, Chinese and Hindus patronize only their fellow-countrymen.

"There is not one reason why the present state of things should be permitted. No good can come of it. The Celestial and Hindu must go. We are playing with fire to tolerate them. They are not of our blood and they can never be one with us."

Absolute exclusion is the only remedy which the convention, in its present attitude, would for a moment listen to since the bitter antipathy to the movement of the past few months has now reached high-water mark.

Not only has the feeling of resentment on the Coast increased but for that matter all over the Dominion from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Reports that only the western representatives are making the agitation are entirely erroneous.

CANADA THREATENED WITH BROWN FLOOD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Thirty-eight thousand Japanese have been given permission by the Mikado's government to come immediately to British Columbia. They will cross the Pacific just as rapidly as steamers can be secured to bring them.

The news that Vancouver will see an immigration heretofore unprecedented was received here yesterday by the steamer Woolwich, which brought 220 of the brown men. The steamer Indiana is overdue now from Honolulu with 300. The best informed circles declare that the Dominion government will do nothing at all to prevent the influx of Japanese, despite the protests of Vancouver.

The demand for labor is so great in the interior of British Columbia and on the prairies of the northwest that as many Japs as wish to come will be allowed. On the other hand, official statements come from Ottawa that Premier Laurier and Delegate Ishii will confer tomorrow and arrange a nominal limit. Nobody in Vancouver believes that even if this limit is declared it will be adhered to.

There was absolutely no demonstration yesterday on the arrival of the Japanese on the steamer Woolwich.

CHINESE IN DEFENSE STABS TWO HOODLUMS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] George Wong, a Chinese laundryman, hastening to his work, was set upon by a drunken gang of young ruffians in a crowded elevated train early yesterday morning and badly beaten and kicked.

He was attempting to get out of the car, but he was tripped and was being used for a football, when he drew a knife and stabbed John Trent and Gustave Mikow so badly that both will probably die. In the ensuing panic several other passengers were knocked down, kicked or badly cut by broken glass as they plunged out of the windows. The Chinaman also says the men attempted to rob him of his purse, containing $26.

Passengers say the Chinaman was forced to defend himself, as the hoodlums were bent upon kicking him to death for amusement, and that all of them were murderously drunk. The Chinaman is at the Police Station hospital, terribly bruised, but he may recover.

Director-General Barr of Jamestown Exposition Requests to Be Relieved of His Duties.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NORFOLK (Va.) Sept. 17.—In a letter addressed to the commander of the directors which arranged a settlement of the differences existing some weeks ago between himself and President Harry St. George Tucker, of the Jamestown Exposition, James W. Barr requests to be relieved of his duties as director-general.

Continued conflict between Mr. Tucker and Mr. Barr over the social features of the exposition caused Mr. Barr's action.

He claims he cannot continue in his position and maintain his self-respect.

DESERTED CAMP FOUND.

EDINBURG (Scotland) Sept. 17.—A telegram from Aagard, Norway, states that the steamer sent in search of William Bruce, the Arctic explorer, had failed to find him. The steamer Express, which recently was at Spitzbergen, with the Wellman Chicago Record-Herald Arctic expedition, found traces of one of Mr. Bruce's camps at the end of August, but there was no sign of Bruce or his companions. Another steamer sent in search of the party has just returned to Aagard from Spitzbergen and reports the situation to be critical. Preparations were then being made at the headquarters of the Bruce expedition at Spitzbergen to send the American collier Munroe in search of the missing explorers.

CRASH OF A ROMANTIC MARRIAGE.

The Batonyis.

There are reports from Newport that Mrs. Aurel Batonyi and her husband are to separate. This result of their romantic marriage was generally predicted. Mrs. Batonyi was Fannie Work, daughter of Frank Work, the well known horse fancier, when she married Burke-Roche, an Englishman who has been at times a member of Parliament. Two sons (Maurice and Francis) and a daughter (Mrs. Burden) were born to them and then they disagreed and Mrs. Burke-Roche returned to her father and obtained a divorce in the United States courts. Her husband claimed this divorce was illegal as she became a British subject when she married him and should have sued him in the British courts. Lately he began a suit for divorce in England. Batonyi was a professional "whip" and instructed the members of the smart set in the art of driving. He also drove for owners of fine horses at horse shows. Mrs. Burke-Roche became infatuated with him and married him nearly two years ago before an alderman. She did not reveal her marriage until a year later, when her father was so incensed by the news that he forbade her his house and closed the cottage she had lived in at Newport. He also cut off her allowance. She gave out a statement to the effect that her husband was a member of a fine Hungarian family and when she went abroad with him said that she was going to visit the family estates. On their return he took her to his farm near Newport. It is said that Newport society refused to recognize him and that when she found she must give up her social position or go to entertainments without him, she did not hesitate but accepted invitations and went with her sons. Eventually she decided, it is said, that to continue in opposition to her father would endanger the inheritances of her daughter and her two sons and it is chiefly for their sake, it is supposed, that she has given up her horsey husband.

ON THE BARBARY COAST.

CIVIL WAR IS NOW EXPECTED.

RIVAL SULTANS OF MOROCCO TO MEET AT RABAT.

French Fleet Prepares for Emergency That May Arise as Result of Expected Clash of Authority. Captive Balloons Fail to Locate Moors About Casa Blanca.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GIBRALTAR, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Spanish garrison at Algeciras in all probability will not go to Morocco, though no orders to the contrary have been received.

French destroyers which arrived today from the Moroccan coast report that everything is quiet. Observers in captive balloons say that no Moors are to be seen anywhere in the vicinity of Casa Blanca.

The French fleet in Moroccan waters is read for any emergency in connection with the meeting of the two Sultans at Rabat, where danger is considered imminent and where civil war may ensue.

Four cruisers are along the coast, watching the movements of the Kabyles. Refugees still continue to pour into Algeciras, three hundred arriving today.

TRIBESMEN ASKED TO SURRENDER HOSTAGES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PARIS, Sept. 17.—The French government is greatly encouraged by the improvement in the Moroccan situation, and strong hope is entertained that the rebellious tribesmen whom the delegates, who conferred with Gen. Drude on Sunday, are now consulting, will agree with the peace terms, which include:

"(I.) The punishment of the authors of the Casa Blanca massacre and the ringleaders of the movement.

"(II.) An agreement that no tribesmen shall enter with arms within a radious of twelve kilometers of the city.

"(III.) The acceptance in principle in the payment of a war contribution, the amount of which shall be fixed hereafter by negotiations between the Moroccan government and France and Spain.

"(IV.) The surrender of hostages to insure the fulfillment of these conditions."

It is pointed out that the war contribution has no relation to the indemnities to be exacted from the Moors for the loss of life and property, which will be a matter for future adjustment. If peace is arranged on the above terms no further landings of troops will be made, and pending the result of the negotiations the orders for the embarkments and forwarding of reinforcements have been rescinded.

The delegates of the Moorish tribes are expected to give the final response of the tribesmen Thursday. Another good feature of the situation is a definite agreement with Mohammed el Gabbas, the Moroccan War Minister, for the immediate installation of police at Tangier in accordance with the terms of the Algeciras convention, namely, native police under Franco-Spanish instructors. The ultimate outcome of the struggle between the rival sultans of Morocco is a matter with which the French government is not concerned, the mandate of France and Spain being limited to the restoration of order and security at Moroccan ports.

MAZAGAN NARROWLY ESCAPES MASSACRE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PARIS, Sept. 17.—The correspondent of the Matin at Mazagan telegraphs as follows:

"The residents of Mazagan had a narrow escape from massacre last Friday. The French cruiser Conde went out for target practice without notifying the authorities of her purpose. As soon as the booming of her guns were heard the tribesmen outside the town, believing that the troops were about to be landed, and the city occupied, galloped in to get their share of the pillage, the same as the tribesmen did at Casa Blanca. The Jews and Europeans were quite defenseless and became panic-stricken.

"The guards saved the situation. With great presence of mind they shut the town gates before many of the tribesmen got in, and only a few Jewish shops were pillaged. In the meantime the French Consul explained the situation to the Governor, who at once calmed the affrighted townsmen."

The Marquis Del Valle Cerrato, a Carlist aide de camp to the pretender, Don Carlos, committed suicide in Madrid. The motive for the act is not known.

BURTON WOULD REDEEM CITY.

CONGRESSMAN DISCUSSES MUNICIPAL CAMPAIGN.

Declares That Existing Conditions Under Present Administration of Cleveland by Mayor Johnson Demand Immediate Reform—Letter of President Roosevelt Is Made Public.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CLEVELAND (Ohio) Sept. 17.—Congressman Theodore E. Burton tonight issued a statement discussing the so-called national phases of the coming municipal election in Cleveland, in which he is the Republican nominee for Mayor, and making public for the first time the letter of President Roosevelt, who urged him to accept the local Republican leadership in opposition to Mayor Tom L. Johnson. Mr. Burton's statement, including the letter of President Roosevelt, is as follows:

"An erroneous impression has gone forth that the Mayoralty campaign here is to an exceptional extent complicated with national policies. Such is not the case. The all-sufficient reason for my candidacy is the local situation. Unless I am grossly deceived, existing conditions under the present city administration demand immediate and radical reform. The aim of the campaign in which I am engaged is to redeem the city of Cleveland from the administration of a ring.

"I should have been extremely reluctant to have turned aside from national politics without the approval of President Roosevelt and Secretary Taft and Garfield. For this reason I have communicated with each of them. Their friendly advice has come to me on my solicitation, and there has been no attempt at influence.

PRESIDENT'S LETTER.

"Following is the letter received from President Roosevelt:

"'OYSETER BAY (N.Y.) Aug. 30, 1907.—My dear Mr. Burton—You put a hard question to me in your letter to Mr. Loeb. There are certain qualities of leadersinp you possess which could not be supplied by any one else in the House, and you have a mastery of certain subjects such as no other man in the House can hope to attain. For you to leave the House, therefore, would mean that in certain lines of leadership there would be a loss that cannot be made up. I would, therefore, be tempted to protest against your leaving if it were not for my profound conviction that it is exceedingly desirable that you should win out as Mayor of Cleveland. In view of the fact that our democratic system undergoes its most severe strain in the government of our cities, I feel that it is of the utmost importance to have a man of your experience, power and your long training, theoretical and practical experience in public life, take such a position as that of the Mayoralty of Cleveland. Accordingly, you ask my advice, I should say make the fight.

"'With all good wishes, believe me, faithfully yours,

"'THEODORE ROOSEVELT.'"

"Both Secretaries Taft and Garfield have strongly advised me to enter the contest for the Mayoralty; the former by letter and telegram; the latter in personal conversation."

PITH OF NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The straw hat made its reappearance today, and for a few hours held its own until a thunder storm and a drop of fifteen degrees in temperature sent it back to its peg. By noon the mercury had climbed to 83 deg. and a humidity of 87 per cent. intensified the suffering. The rain and wind storm swept out of the north, a sudden darkness descended upon the city and the temperature dropped rapidly to 68 deg. the minimum for the day. Middle West temperatures.

SEEKS WARRANT FOR CORPSE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Annie McGreedy, No. 5012 Princeton avenue, 50 years old, believing that her husband, who died fourteen years ago, returned nightly from the grave and vented his anger by tearing down her coal shed, ripping shingles from the roof and causing general destruction to her modest little home, today applied for a warrant for his arrest.

She didn't tell Inspector Hunt of Hyde Park station that her hubby was dead when she entered the station.

"Where will we find him?" queried the inspector, as he issued the warrant.

"You can find him prowling around my house tonight," answered the woman.

"But we want to serve the warrant today. Where can we find him?"

"At Calvary Cemetery."

"Where?" shrieked the inspector.

"At Calvary Cemetery. He's a corpse in the daytime and a prowler by night."

She was angry when the inspector tore the warrant into bits.

PRAISES FILIPINO GIRLS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dr. David J. Doherty, commissioner of the Philippine Progress Association, who has returned to Chicago as a witness in the Constantine murder trial, today declared that the Filipino girls are the best telephone operators in the world.

"There is no question about it in my mind," said the former Chicagoan. "Her even temper, the sweet-toned voice, the intelligence, to say nothing of her sparkling eyes and beautiful hair—which have nothing to do with the telephone work—make her the best 'central' in the world."

MURDER AT PIONEER'S REUNION.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, Sept 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John Krug, 66 years old, was murdered by thugs at Kahoka, Ill., the scene of the oldest settlement in the State, at a pioneers' reunion there today. John Miller, porter in a saloon, was held by the Coroner's jury to answer to the grand jury on the charge of being an accessory to the crime.

BECAUSE OF HER COLOR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HOT SPRINGS, (Ark.) Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Gaston H. Fort, the mother of three children and for twenty years the wife of Gaston H. Fort, was today declared by the court to be a negress and the divorce judgment secured by her recently was set aside. Fort only recently learned that his wife had negro blood in her veins.

RECOVERS HER LOST BABY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Dora Dickson of Redfield, Kan., has recovered her baby, whom she lost at the Union Station in this city a week ago. Mrs. Dickson gave her baby to a stranger, Mrs. J. L. Corey, of Blair, Ill., to hold a few minutes at the station. As half an hour passed and Mrs. Dickson did not return, Mrs. Corey concluded that the mother had deserted the child and would not return. Mrs. Corey's train was leaving and, not knowing what else to do, she boarded it with the baby in her arms and went on to her destination at Salt Lake, Utah. Meantime, Mrs. Dickinson, frantic with anxiety on discovering her baby gone, had aroused the police department to unwonted activity. Naturally no trace of Mrs. Corey could be found in St. Louis and Mrs. Dickson finally went to the home of her mother at Shelbyville, Ill. Shrewd detective work finally located Mrs. Corey in Salt Lake, where she reluctantly gave up the infant, to whom she had become much attached.

TIPTON, (Mo.) Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch]. Recently the skeleton of a girl was found in a hog pen near Tipton and was identified as that of Miss Nettie Snyder of St. Louis. The bones were interred by relatives of Miss Snyder, who were terribly shocked over the manner of her supposed death. Today it was learned that Miss Snyder is alive and well in Seattle. She states that the report of her death has been greatly exaggerated. Now Tipton folks are wondering whose skeleton it was that was found in the pig pen.

UNENVIABLE RECORD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] For six years ending with 1906, with one exception, Chicago held the record for the United States for the number of homicide arrests made within its boundaries. The exception came in 1902, when New York made 143 arrests for murder, against only 121 for Chicago, according to figures just compiled.

CHIVALRY GOES THE LIMIT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANDUSKY (O.) Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sandusky has brought to Ohio the honors as the State of chivalry. Adam Heyder is the man responsible for the assumption of the role of the most chivalrous State. He has helped his wife get rid of him, although he says he wants her to retain her place as his better half. Mrs. Heyder sued him for divorce. Her lawyer learned, however, in getting his evidence in shape, that she had no record, nor did any court, of her marriage. "That's soon mended if she wants to get rid of me," said Heyder. He obtained a license to wed, and remarried his wife before a justice. "Now she can sue and get rid of me without question," he said.

TIRES OF AGED SPOUSE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LA CROSSE (Wis.) Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Declaring that her octogenarian husband should be ostracised, Mrs. William Bronson, the young wife of a prominent hotel man, today brought her aged spouse into court in application for divorce.

Testimony showed Mrs. Bronson frequently told the old man that he should go away and die. She claims he was so old he never should have married, and that he deceived her into the wedding by dyeing his white hair and whiskers black during his courtship.

The case will be decided at next term of Circuit Court. Mrs. Bronson is 23 years of age.

RINGS DOWN THE CURTAIN.

WEBSTER CITY (Iowa) Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Ross Hendricks, a well known local theatrical man and former companion of Carl Pressly, the actor, who shot himself in the city park after burning a roll of bills containing $3500, took fifty grains of strychnine in Esterville today because Miss Martha Qundahal refused to marry him after a four-days' courtship. Death was instantaneous.

MAKES GOOD THE SHORTAGE.

Louisiana Tax Collector Pays State $116,190.08 Squandered by His Clerk on Negro Mistress.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS (La.) Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Capt. John Fitzpatrick Tax Collector of the First District, today made good to the State the vast fortune which his chief clerk, Charles E. Letten, stole and squandered on his negro mistress, Virginia Reed.

"The afternoon train for Baton Rogue," said Capt. Fitzpatrick carried by check to Auditor Capt. Devlie for $116,190.08, the full amount of Letten's shortage."

Capt. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Fitzpatrick and their daughter, this afternoon, executed mortgages for $114,000 on the family's property for the purpose of raising funds to meet Letten's shortage. The mortgages filed include one of the Captain's home at No. 2204 Canal street. Other valuable real estate holdings in the Third District were also mortgaged by the captain and his family in order to secure cash enough to meet the amount of Letten's stealings.

GRAFT PROSECUTION.

TWO MORE FORD JURORS NEEDED.

ONLY ONE PEREMPTORY CHALLENGE TO EACH SIDE.

Judge Lawlor Adjourns Court Over Till Thursday and Orders Last Thirty-eight Men Whose Names Remain in "Big Box" Drawn as Ordinary Venire.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—Two jurors were added today to the eight already sworn to try former Atty.-Gen. Tirey L. Ford, chief counsel of the United Railroads, for the bribery of Supervisor Thomas F. Lonergan. As the jury now stands, there are ten men finally accepted and sworn, and each side has remaining one peremptory challenge.

The proceedings were brought to a halt today by the exhaustion of the summoned panel. Judge Lawlor ordered the "big box," in which were deposited in January 2400 names of talesmen to be summoned for trials in various departments of the Superior Court, brought in. It was then ascertained that only thirty-eight names remained therein.

They were drawn as an ordinary venire, and the Sheriff was ordered to return them into court Thursday morning, adjournment being taken over Wednesday on account of the services to be held in the auditorium of the Temple Israel, incident to the celebration of the Jewish Feast of Yom Kippur.

It is expected by counsel that the impanelment of the jury will be completed by Friday.

William H. Sullivan, grocery clerk, was the first of the sixteen to be called for examination this morning. He was excused as a non-taxpayer.

Joseph M. Loewe, wholesale liquor dealer, was excused for bias.

Lewis G. Hill, stationer, and John Bevery, music dealer, were excused by consent on account of extraordinary business engagements.

Henry Reader, grocer, was excused on account of prior jury service.

Michael McHugh, a Mission saloonkeeper, was dismissed on challenge for cause by the defense. He testified that his sympathies lay with the strikers in the street-car strike, that he participated in the boycott against the United Railroads, and that it would please him if the evidence should show Ford guilty.

Charles W. Gould, manufacturer, asked to be excused on account of prior jury service. He was called for examination on the panel from which was selected the jury which convicted Vice-President Glass of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company. The juror's request was denied.

At the afternoon session, Juror Gould was by both sides accepted as probationary juror No. 12, completing tentatively the trial panel. The defense peremptorily challenged Jurors Cutten and Kenney. The exercise of these peremptories left one arbitrary challenge remaining to each side.

PETTY GRAFTING CASES ARE TO BE CONSIDERED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—Members of the present grand jury are eager to be relieved of their duties, and have served notice upon the District Attorney's office that they desire to be discharged next month.

As the law requires that two grand juries be impaneled every year, it is understood that William H. Langdon and Francis J. Heney will join in a request to Presiding Judge Coffey that the jury be dismissed. A new grand jury will be impaneled to complete the investigation into local political conditions.

PRESENT FOR FIELD MUSEUM.

Costly Replica of Sphinx, Made by Mrs. David Longworth, Being Brought to America.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Field Museum of Chicago will be presented with a large and costly replica of the Sphinx, reproducing the minutest variations in its surface, the original copy of which is said by Auguste Rodin, the famous sculptor, to be one of the finest of recent contributions to the Paris salon.

The gift will be offered by William Northrup McMillan, originally a resident of St. Louis, but well known in Chicago, though he now lives in British East Africa.

Mr. McMillan was greatly attracted by the work, which is by Mrs. David Longworth. He decided that the statue would be of great instructive value to school children, aside from its artistic worth, and he also thought that the Field Museum was the most appropriate place in America for such an exhibit.

Mr. McMillan is on his way to America, where he will communicate with the museum authorities as soon as he arrives.

Bishop Neely Reads List of New Appointments.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PACIFIC GROVE (Cal.) Sept. 17.—Bishop Neely being busy with his cabinet completing appointments, Rev. J. D. Hammond presided over this morning's session of the California conference of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Resolutions of many committees were read and adopted. Rev. F. D. Bovard, in urging the claims of the Book Concern, took occasion to voice the resolution complaint of vexatious delay in bringing goods from the East, relating how freight cars had to be personally conducted by the concern's employés from Sparks over the mountains to San Francisco.

In reporting for the Ladies' Aid Society, Rev. Wright told of $25,000 collected, and believed that next in importance to the maintenance of church was the maintenance of the Ladies' Aid Society.

Debate waxed somewhat warm over resolutions deprecating if not forbidding the formation of young people's societies other than the Epworth League. The conference finally adopted Rev. E. R. Dille's advice not to meddle in the affairs of young people's Methodism.

Rev. A. C. Bane, reporting for the Committee on Aggressive Evangelism, wanted future conferences to devote all the evenings to evangelistic revival purposes.

Rev. F. D. Bovard urged rival claims of the great missionary and educational anniversaries to which in the past those evenings have been allotted. The conference sustained Dr. Bovard. Later in the day Bishop Neely resumed the chair and read the list of appointments, which are as follows:

Red Bluff, William Clarke; Redding, J. W. Phelps; Richmond, D. W. Calfee; Russell City to be supplied; Sisson and Gazelle, John C. Gillette; Woodland, R. E. Wenk; Yolo to be supplied; Eureka, J. E. Badger.

Smith, supply; Sacramento Central, Richard Rodda; Sacramento, Sixth street, F. K. Baker; Sutter City, L. P. Walker; Yuba City, E. J. Bristow.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Disaster Monument Stands.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—The Board of Supervisors repealed yesterday the resolution appropriating $95,000 for the rehabilitation of the east and central wings and the McAllister-street wing of the City Hall. Sullivan opposed the repeal of the resolution, saying that the City Hall was a disgrace, and stood as a monument to the big disaster, and its restoration would save much money the city was paying in rentals. He also advocated the placing of the County Clerk's office in the Hall of Records. The sum of $6000 was allowed to restore and furnish the City Treasurer's office in the City Hall.

City Physicians Ousted.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—Dr. T. A. Rottanzi and Dr. A. S. Adler, city physicians, were ousted yesterday from the jobs which former Mayor Schmitz gave them, and Dr. James Watkins, former health officer, was appointed to fill their places. The action has been contemplated for some time by the Board of Health, and it caused no surprise when, after an executive session, Dr. Ophuls, president of the board, announced the change.

Motorman Hits Passenger.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—Walter French, a passenger on a Fillmore-street car, today, was beaten over the head with a controller bar in the hands of Motorman Hanson, and he is now at the Receiving Hospital, suffering from a fractured skull. The trouble arose over a controversy with the conductor regarding his fare. Hanson was arrested.

Fire in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—A fire which started this morning in the saloon of March & Richmond on Van Ness avenue between Bush and Pine streets, destroyed the saloon, the Chinese bazaar of the Wah Sing Lung Company, a vacant storehouse and communicated to the walls of the Bush-street Police Station. The total loss is about $45,000, that on the bazaar, which was insured for $19,000, being $35,000. The three members of the Chinese firm owning the bazaar were asleep at the time, and they narrowly escaped with their lives.

Falls to His Death.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—Charles Pressley, a bricklayer, was instantly killed this morning by falling from the fifth floor of the Nutall building, on Bush street, near Sansome. His death caused all the other bricklayers on the building to quit work. Pressley, who recently came here from Illinois, lived in Oakland, where he leaves a wife and six children.

Gas Men in Session.

Handsome Bartender Improves Opportunities.

Brief Work Nets Three Persons and Big Roll.

Gets Even With Saloonkeeper for an Eviction.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Edward Donnelly, the handsome bartender at Charles Knoblauch's New York Hotel Exchange, No. 412 West Thirty-fifth street, went away from there yesterday.

He took away with him the following possessions of Knoblauch: Mrs. Knoblauch, Fred Knoblauch, aged 9, and Annie Knoblauch, aged 7, one tin box containing $1115, one trunk containing Mrs. Knoblauch's clothes.

Incidentally Donnelly left behind him a wife and five children, also a warrant for his arrest on a charge of non-support.

Knoblauch, who runs a saloon and employment agency for hotel waiters, employed Donnelly three weeks ago. At the same time Donnelly moved his wife and five children into a flat over the saloon.

When Donnelly had been at work a week Knoblauch summoned him from behind the bar one day and assigned him to escort Mrs. Knoblauch, a comely young woman, to a picnic. It was early the next morning when Mrs. Knoblauch and Donnelly got back. For two or three hours previous to their arrival Knoblauch declaimed to all in the saloon what he would do to his wife and the bartender. The crowd remained in the hope of seeing a fight. But there was no fight. Knoblauch gave an imitation of a deaf and dumb man when his wife arrived.

The next day, to get even with the bartender, he evicted Mrs. Donnelly and her five children from their flat above the saloon. Donnelly kept right on working behind the bar, but Knoblauch considered accounts even.

"No man," he declared, "can do me dirt that I don't make him sorry." Knoblauch went down town to attend to some business yesterday afternoon. In his absence Mrs. Knoblauch and her two children and the tin box disappeared. Then Donnelly hied himself away. Doubtless he considers himself even with Knoblauch.

METHODISTS MERGE.

Three Branches of Original Wesleyan Body Separated Many Years Ago, Reunited.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At the center of Methodism, Wesley's Chapel, in the City road, took place this afternoon a union of three branches of the original Wesleyan body—the Methodist new connection, the United Methodist Free churches and the Bible Christian connection—embracing nearly 100,000 members, with 1000 preachers.

These branches separated during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries over doctrinal questions. They have now come together again, anticipating the time when all the followers of Wesley will form one great church.

The keynote of addresses at the ceremonies of reunion was the need of modern Methodists to emulate the virtues and practices of the small group of men who founded Methodism at Oxford in 1729, under the powerful inspiration of Wesley.

British leaders of Methodism declare that they will make the reunion the starting point of closer relations, and aggressive religious and moral work among the millions of Methodists throughout the world.

BILL AGAINST JOHN D.

OYSTER BAY (N. Y.) Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Because a secret service agent had peculiar views of high finance tonight, President Roosevelt missed the chance of his life to make a name as a bill collector.

A person who described himself as Orland Coland, farmer, of Oxford, Ala., called at Sagamore Hill to enlist the aid of the President in the collection of a trifling claim of $10,000,000 from John D. Rockefeller.

He had reached the second door of the executive mansion when he was accosted by Secret Service Agent Wasker, to whom he explained his errand. Wasker hurried him to the depot and placed him aboard the train for New York.

CHANGES HIS MIND.

EXPERT SEES FRUIT CURED.

NOW THINKS SULPHURING IS NOT HARMFUL.

Dr. Bigelow Visits Ranches and Factories, and as Result It Is Expected That He Will Indicate to Secretary Wilson Radical Change of Opinion.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VALLEJO, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fruit growers will not be forced to quit sulphuring their dried fruit. That is, if the Agricultural Department takes the word of Dr. Bigelow, the expert who has been making tests and experiments in various fruit growing counties of this State for the past several weeks, and who is at present at Suisan, experimenting with sulphuring of fruits at the J. K. Armsby Company's packing-houses.

In company with Prof. Jaffa, head of the chemistry department at the University of California, Dr. Bigelow is in this county looking over the sulphuring of the various kinds of fruit, and, though he will not give out any information until recommendations have been officially acted upon in Washington, he is known to have changed his views radically in reference to sulphuring.

Observations at first hand and a thorough inspection of the fruit orchards and packing-houses in all the important fruit counties of the State, with results of the experiments made under Prof. Jaffa's instructions at the university's laboratories, have changed Dr. Bigelow's opinion, and it is said when he returns to Washington his report to Secretary Wilson will contain a recommendation that the sulphuring of fruits be allowed to continue.

It is expected, supplementary to this recommendation will be one that the fruit men exercise more care in their methods, as it is stated that many packers have not been as careful in the preparation of fruit as they should have been.

LABOR.

FEDERATION IS DENOUNCED.

Unionite Declares Organization Is a Humbug.

Succeeds Only in Arbitrating Away Demands.

Radical Orator Is Against Making Contracts.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Propagandists of all manner of latter-day movements continue to flock to the Revere House, where the daily mass meetings of the striking telegraphers are held, and today George Speed of San Francisco, delegate to the annual convention of the Industrial Workers of the World, denounced the American Federation of Labor.

"The American Federation," said Speed, "is a humbug. Whenever it settles a strike, it succeeds only in arbitrating away every demand the strikers have made.

"We must consolidate against the common enemy—capital. You lose because you divide yourselves into groups. No union printer ought to 'set' the newspaper advertisement of a company asking for non-union operators. It is ridiculous for an operator to allow a contract with his employers to keep him from going out on a sympathetic strike. Guard against making contracts."

Although the radical utterances brought forth repeated bursts of applause, Chairman Frank Likes took occasion after Speed was gone, to observe that in open meetings a certain amount of freedom must be allowed to speakers.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The proposed appeal of President Small of the Telegraphers' Union and President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor to organized labor throughout the country for financial assistance to striking telegraphers was issued today from the federation headquarters. The direct appeal is signed by Mr. Small. Mr. Gompers gives a general indorsement of its purpose.

TRIBUTE FOR CANNON.

Senator Cullom of Illinois Urges Nomination of Speaker of House for Presidency.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator Shelby M. Cullom of Illinois reads the signs as extremely favorable for the nomination and election of Speaker Cannon for President next year.

The veteran Senator paid a fine tribute to Uncle Joe today.

"There is no better-posted man in the country than Joseph G. Cannon, not even excepting Mr. Roosevelt, or any candidate, or possibility for President," declared Mr. Cullom.

"The thing about Joe Cannon," he added, "is that he gets better every year. When Joe first went out to stump with me I could beat him all hollow. He was dry—dry as shucks; but it's different now. He has developed a vein of mellow humor that no audience can resist. You know," continued the Senator, "Cannon's not a crazy man."

Just what or whom Uncle Shelby J. meant must be left to inference.

Missouri Congressman Will Contest With Williams for Democratic Leadership in House.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Representative David A. De Armond of Missouri is reasonably certain to be a candidate for Democratic leader of the House in the Sixtieth Congress, against Representative John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, according to Representative James T. Lloyd, Democratic whip of the House, who reached Washington today.

Mr. Lloyd declined to discuss the line upon which De Armond will make his fight, but it is understood the chief argument will be the lack of aggressiveness of Williams in pushing Democratic policies in the House.

CONCERNING COCKTAIL.

Secretary Loeb Officially Denies Story Anent Vice-President Fairbanks's Luncheon.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

OYSTER BAY (N. Y.) Sept. 17.—Because of the wide publicity given to the statement of B. P. Berry of Detroit that either President Roosevelt or Secretary Loeb, and not Mr. Fairbanks, was responsible for the cocktails tendered them by the Vice-President at Indianapolis, Secretary Loeb today issued the following formal statement in denial:

"The statement is too absurd to be given any credence. Neither the President nor his Secretary either directly or indirectly ordered anything of any kind at the luncheon in question, or at any other luncheon where they were guests."

ST. LOUIS WOMAN EXPERT BALLOONIST.

Mrs. A. B. Lambert.

Ballooning as a fashionable sport was sure to be taken up by the ladies of the United States when Paris had set the fashion, though New York was a long time in following. The fad has at last taken hold, not alone of New York, but of St. Louis and some other cities; and presently it will be necessary to own your own balloon if you are to be considered in the social swim.

There are two classes of "balloonistes" in Paris—the fashionable women like the Duchess d'Uzes and the Duchess of Rochefoucauld, and the women who go in for sport like Mme. du Gast. The last is the only woman in the world who has taken part in an auto cup race. She has also run her own motor boat, etc. In America, too, there are two types—women who take up ballooning as an exciting recreation, and those who go in for advertising. To the latter class belong Mrs. Newbold Edgar of New York (who ballooned in Paris and London before making an ascension in New York,) and Mrs. A. B. Lambert, wife of the secretary of the Aero Club of St. Louis, who has just returned to this country after making an ascension in Paris and ordering her own balloon for use in the western city.

Ballooning is a costly sport, for the balloon costs several thousand dollars and the cost of filling it, of taking up a licensed aeronaut for pilot and of transporting the bag from the place of landing to the starting-point, is considerable.

Only one woman, so far as known, has gone in for "flying," and she has taken it up only as a theory. Miss Todd, an American, submitted at the last Aero Club show what was said to be one of the most practical models seen of an aeroplane. Mrs. Harbord of London is the most successful of the women aeronauts of England. She owns her own balloon and makes frequent ascensions.

OCTOPUS DISSECTED.

tional shares owned by the Standard. The fractional shares, Mr. Fay said, resulted from the exchange of the subsidiary companies' stock for the shares of the holding company. Scrip was issued for these fractions.

FACTS GIVEN OUT.

Mr. Fay identified a statement furnished by the Standard Oil Company as showing the assets, liabilities and income of the New Jersey company and all the subsidiary companies in which the Standard Oil had a direct or indirect interest in the period between 1892 and 1906.

"I notice from this statement," said Mr. Kellogg, "that, in the year 1899, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey had gross assets of $200,791,623 and its total profits were $34,420,814."

"Yes, that is true," replied Mr. Fay. Mr. Fay said he knew nothing regarding the income of the C. M. Pratt Investment Company.

Charles M. Pratt, a director of the Standard Oil Company, said he had been an officer of the Standard Oil Company since 1890, is now secretary and has charge of the company's books.

SECRETARY'S TESTIMONY.

"As secretary of the Standard Oil Company, do you know anything about its acquisitions of other companies?" he was asked.

"Not necessarily," replied Mr. Pratt. When asked if the Standard Oil Company controlled the Ohio Oil Company, the witness replied that it did. Mr. Pratt said that the Standard owned 4994 shares of stock of the Solar Refining Company, which was all but six shares of the company's entire stock issue.

Mr. Kellogg asked if it was not a fact that the Standard company and its subsidiary concerns were governed by committees. Mr. Pratt replied that he did not think so, though in the early days of the trusteeship of the company, it was likely that the company was controlled by committees.

Mr. Kellogg asked John G. Milburn, chief of counsel for the defendants, to produce all liquidating certificates issued by the liquidating trustees, which had been turned in to the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. Mr. Kellogg also asked for all assignments of legal title given by those who received the stock of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

RAILROAD AFFILIATIONS.

Mr. Kellogg intimated today that the government will also inquire into the holdings of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, as well as its affiliations, if any, with the railroads.

The United States government has named not only the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey as defendant, but also seventy subsidiary companies of the main corporation, and the following individuals:

John D. Rockefeller, William Rockefeller, Henry H. Rogers, Henry M. Flagler, Oliver H. Payne, Charles M. Pratt and John D. Archbold.

About twenty-five witnesses have been subpoenaed and many more may be called. Four additional subpoenas have been served on Harry E. Felton, traffic manager of the Standard Oil Company; W. H. Tilford, treasurer of the company; M. M. Van Buren, a son-in-law of John D. Archbold, one of the individual defendants in the government's suit; and George Chesbro.

It is expected that William Rockefeller will be the chief witness among the defendants, now that Henry H. Rogers is incapacitated from appearing in court.

SECRETS TO BE BARED.

From the excellent start made today, it is apparent that the government is going to lay bare all the carefully preserved secrets of the Standard Oil corporation. An imposing array of legal wisdom is interested in the suit. In addition to Assistant Attorney-General Purdy and F. B. Kellogg of St. Paul, who are directing the fight for the dissolution of the Standard, the government is represented by United States Dist.-Atty. Harry W. Blodgett of St. Louis, Special Counsel C. B. Morrison of Chicago and C. A. Severance of St. Paul.

Among those who have been retained by the oil trust are John D. Johnson, ex-Judge H. S. Priest and George W. Winstead of St. Louis; J. G. Johnson of Philadelphia, W. I. Lewis, M. F. Elliott Martin and John G. Milburn of New York; Greer, Minot & Miller of Beaumont, Tex.; Mackenzie & Weadock of Lima, O.; W. J. McKie of Corsicana, Tex., and Henry T. Rogers, D. B. Ellis, Horace M. Hawkins and Lucius M. Cuthbert of Denver, Colo.

THAT BIG FINE.

RECORD-BREAKER BOND REQUIRED.

STANDARD OIL MUST PUT UP $6,000,000 SECURITY.

Judge Grosscup Explains That He Could Consider Only the Nominal Defendant in Fixing Amount to Indemnify Government for Its $29,240,000 Judgment.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The largest bonds in the history of criminal jurisprudence were fixed today by Judge Peter S. Grosscup of the United States Circuit Court to secure the government's $29,240,000 judgment against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, pending an appeal from the sentence imposed by Judge Landis.

The aggregate security required by Judge Grosscup is $6,000,000, represented by two bonds—a forthcoming bond of $4,000,000 and a conditional bond of $2,000,000. The total was considered by Judge Grosscup to represent the value of the property owned by the defendant company.

Both the attorneys for the government and the oil company expressed chagrin over the court's decision. Dist.-Atty. Sims announced to the court that he was not satisfied with the amount of the security. His arguments had been in favor of a bond equalling the amount of the fine. John S. Miller, attorney for the Rockefeller corporation, protested that the estimate of assets of the Indiana company were too high.

Judge Grosscup announced that he would grant the District Attorney an opportunity later on to submit arguments to show why the bonds should be larger.

PUZZLE FOR LAWYERS.

Another matter still to be definitely settled, before the bond is filed and a writ of supersedeas granted to stay execution of the judgment, is whether the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey can go on the bonds of the Indiana company. How to obtain the record-breaking security appeared to puzzle Attorney Miller. After protesting briefly that the amount was too high, he inquired if the larger bond might not be an individual bond or whether the guaranty of a surety company was required. The court ruled that the $4,000,000 bond might be supplied on individual security, but that the smaller bond must have a surety company.

"It has been suggested," said Mr. Miller, "that the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey might be surety upon the bond and I should like to settle this matter."

"The court will accept it if the corporation has the power to make a bond," responded Judge Grosscup. "I am not sure that it has."

"It has been shown in this record that the Standard of New Jersey owns practically all the stock of the defendant company," said Mr. Miller, "and any corporation has the incidental power to protect its own."

"If its ownership is considered in that light," interposed Mr. Sims, "why is it not considered in fixing the amount of bond?"

COURT EXPLAINS.

Judge Grosscup explained that, in fixing the fine, the lower court had the right to consider who the real and who the nominal defendant was, but that he himself had no right to create a liability against the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey without a trial in court.

He then announced that the $4,000,000 bond is to indemnify the government against any alteration of value of the plant of the defendant company at Whiting, Ind., and the $2,000,000 bond is to be applied toward payment of the judgment if it is sustained in the Court of Appeals.

It is rumored in government circles that the Standard Oil Company will appeal to Judge Landis to reverse the fine he imposed and that the grounds for this plea will be that the attorneys for the oil company should have been informed of the immunity agreement between the government and the Chicago and Alton road. Attorney John S. Miller declined today to say whether or not this step is contemplated.

IMMUNITY BATH WILL NOT AFFECT BIG FINE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Federal government is preparing to meet any contention of the Standard Oil's attorneys that the $29,240,000 fine imposed by Judge Landis be set aside.

Atty.-Gen. Charles J. Bonaparte, who arrived in Chicago today, will hold long conference with Dist.-Atty. Edwin W. Sims, tomorrow morning. He expressed his certainty that, while immunity will be granted to the Alton road, any effort to nullify the big fine on the ground that the immunity agreement should have been announced will be unsuccessful.

The Attorney-General firmly denied that he intended to resign his office. He said that he intended to remain at the head of the Department of Justice, and that the administration's "trust-busting" will continue without interruption.

The Attorney-General arrived in Chicago at 4:30 and was met at the station by Mr. Sims, who accompanied him to the Auditorium Hotel. After a bath and a shave, of which he felt the need after a journey from Boston, he cordially welcomed a squad of newspaper men.

With frequent shrugs of his shoulders and raisings of his eyebrows in a manner that bore out his French lineage, he answered the numerous questions put to him with many smiles. One of the first questions asked of him was his opinion of the reported attempt to nullify the Standard Oil fine.

"It is generally accepted," he said, "that a promise of immunity is not necessary to secure an accomplice who turns State's evidence, as it is called in the lower courts, from prosecution. I should not care to go into such a professional matter at length, but it was assumed almost without exception that the Alton road would not be prosecuted as it facilitated the indictment and conviction of the oil company.

"While certain portions of the evidence might be fairly open to unfavorable comment the Government is bound in good faith and as a matter of public policy to give effect to its agreement."

FUSION SEEMS LIKELY.

Hearst Unable to Get Candidate of His Own May Join Issues With Tammany.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Fingy" Connors, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, came to the city today to confer with "Boss" Murphy regarding the coming meeting of the State Committee, at which two candidates for the Court of Appeals are to be nominated. It is reported that, while here, Connors expects to confer with W. R. Hearst regarding the possibility of a fusion ticket.

Indications today were that Tammany and Hearst may agree on a ticket. The Hearst men have been very busy looking for two men to run, and are having a hard time. They have asked, among others, William M. Ivins, and Judge W. J. Gaynor, and both have refused.

It is stated that if Hearst had gotten either of these and then agreed to accept a man who would be put forward by Tammany, fusion would be possible. It is still believed by some that fusion will be brought about, and that Tammany will refuse to name the two Bartletts, as the Republicans will do.

"When will the State Committee meet?" Chairman Connors was asked.

"That has not been settled. It will be decided on in a few days. The committee will meet either in Albany or Syracuse, probably the former."

"Has any decision been reached as to who will be nominated?"

"None at all. It is all in the air. Some of the men being talked about up the State are Edward Coatesworth, ex-District Attorney of Erie county; Tom Heffron, the City Attorney of Dunkirk; Daniel Lucey of Ogdensburg, and a lot more."

"There has been some talk of Atty.-Gen. Jackson being nominated."

"There is no danger of that," said the chairman.

"Is there any chance of fusion on the Court of Appeal tickets with the Hearst forces?"

"I don't know anything about what will happen."

Chairman Connors said the committee would not attempt to take any action regarding the Presidency.

"Boss" Murphy was at Tammany Hall today, but was too busy to talk about the Court of Appeals nominations. He was asked about the prospects of fusion with the Independence League.

"I don't know what will be done about that," he said.

It was stated by officials at the Columbus penitentiary last night that Mrs. Chadwick has entirely recovered.

IN MEMORY OF M'KINLEY.

Official Programme for Dedication of Monument Is Framed by Memorial Trustees.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CANTON (O.) Sept. 17.—Vice-President Fairbanks and former Gov. Herrick left this afternoon for a trip across the country to Cleveland in Mr. Herrick's automobile, after a session with the McKinley memorial trustees. Shortly after leaving here, they encountered a severe rainstorm.

Secretary Cortelyou left for the east. After hearing reports of the condition of the McKinley National Memorial Association, framing an official programme for dedication and calling on Mrs. M. Barber, sister of the late Mrs. McKinley, who has donated to the association the McKinley home with its furnishings and relics, the trustees adjourned.

PETTIBONE SERIOUSLY ILL.

Alleged Accomplice in Murder of Former Gov. Steunenberg May Never Be Tried.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BOISE (Idaho) Sept. 17.—George A. Pettibone was unable to appear in the District Court today to have his case set for trial.

An affidavit of the attending physician states that Pettibone is suffering from ulcer of the bladder, which, unless soon checked, will prove fatal. It says an operation may be necessary, but fears the patient will be unable to survive it.

Pettibone is charged with complicity in the murder of former Gov. Steunenberg.

TRAGEDY FOLLOWS PROMISE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After making his wife happy by promising to give up drinking, Frank A. Moulton attacked her this afternoon with a hammer and as she fell unconscious, he slashed her with a razor.

Then in the presence of a policeman powerless to prevent his act, he cut himself with the razor.

Only a few hours before Moulton had been released from Bellevue. Husband and wife are in Roosevelt Hospital, and neither is likely to recover.

ARMY OFFICER CAUSTIC CRITIC.

SAYS SENDING OF FLEET TO PACIFIC IS "FOOLISHNESS."

Disparages Utility of United States Navy, Predicts Shameful and Disastrous War and Points Out Imperative Reforms Needed All Along the Line.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A most extraordinary government document which, by its prodigal criticism, promises to raise a hornet's nest about the ears of its author, Capt. William V. Judson of the Corps of Engineers, United States army, has just made its appearance. Capt. Judson, in an official report, gives ground for complaint not only on the part of naval officers, members of the Diplomatic Corps and brother officers in the army, but has something to say about the foolishness of sending warships to the Pacific Coast, which is out of harmony with the announced intention of President Roosevelt in this regard.

Capt. Judson is one of the officers who were sent to Manchuria to report on the observations of the operations of Russian and Japanese armies. In his report he disparages the utility of the United States navy, hints darkly at coming wars which will involve this nation and tells about the weakness and embarrassments growing out of the Philippines, the Panama Canal and the Monroe doctrine.

Capt. Judson declares that only by adopting certain measures for the improvement of the American navy, which he outlines, can the United States be saved from a "shameful and disastrous war."

The Judson report contains a fling at military attachés also. The officers occupy a diplomatic status and Capt. Judson thinks it is a bad thing to permit them to accompany armies in the field. He declares they are "less dangerous only than war correspondents" and favors the policy of "satiating public curiosity" about a nation's wars by handing out typewritten statements from "some official channel."

It is apparent that Capt. Judson believes that Germany and Japan have designs upon the United States. He has a chapter on this topic and, although he does not mention either nation by name, he indicates them both beyond reasonable doubt.

Capt. Judson's scheme for avoiding national humiliation at the hands of an enemy is the organization of a big army reserve.

He has set naval officers by the ears by slighting references to the utility of the navy. For instance, he says: "Despite the great importance we justly attribute to the navy, in the end it must be admitted that its principal functions are to defend or attack the lines of communications of armies where the same lead across the States. In the last resort, to prevent the final catastrophe of war," he declares, "it is after all the army that is required."

PRODDING FOREIGNERS.

American Delegates to Peace Conference Endeavor to Make European Delegates Hustle.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

THE HAGUE, Sept. 16.—Joseph Choate and Gen. Horace Porter of the American delegation to the peace conference are doing their best to shake the indolence of some of the European delegation, the members of which, although close to their governments, constantly postpone or stop work because they must ask for instructions.

Up to the present time the efforts of the American delegation have been unsuccessful. The fate of the permanent court of arbitration is still undecided, while strangely enough the part of the matter of obligatory arbitration was entrusted to Baron Guillaume of Belgium, who has constantly opposed this idea in accordance with the instructions of King Leopold, who fears the application of obligatory arbitration to the Congo Independent State. For the same reason M. Beernaert, the head of the Belgian delegation, who personally is in favor of compulsory arbitration, has been ordered not to take part in the discussion there. Baron Guillaume, by delaying the drafting of his report, now expects to have it ready September 23. In the meanwhile the delegates to the conference are undecided as to their position on this question.

Ten tons of printed matter have been distributed since the conference began. It is said now that the conference will come to an end on October 19.

KANEKO MAY COME.

Possibility That Baron Will Succeed Viscount Aoki as Japanese Ambassador at Washington.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, Sept. 17.—It is understood here that Count Inouye, Japanese Ambassador to Germany, has intimated his desire to resign his post at Berlin.

Speculation is rife as to his successor, and Viscount Aoki, now Ambassador of Japan at Washington, has been mentioned as a possibility. The Japanese Foreign Office, however, it not prepared to make an official statement on the subject. Should Aoki desire a change, it is possible that Maron Kaneko may be appointed Ambassador at Washington, if the government can spare his services as president of the exposition to be held at Tokio in 1912, in which at present he is actively interested.

Baron Kaneko is considered to be one of the most capable diplomats in Japan.

DOUBLE LIFE.

DOCTOR'S DEATH IS EXPLAINED.

WOMAN WHO CALLS HERSELF WIFE IS HIS NEMESIS.

Millionaire Physician Who Led Presumably Bachelor's Life and Then Married at Age of Seventy-five, Takes Morphine With Fatal Effect, After Strange Female's Visit.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Following the publication of the circumstances surrounding the death of Dr. A. Warner Shepard, of morphine poisoning at his home on the Shore road, Brooklyn, Coroner Brewer has ordered an inquest to be held on Friday.

With the disclosure of the aged millionaire's sudden death, a strange story is brought to light—one so unusual that even Dr. Shepard's best friends are astonished. Dr. Shepard gave himself morphine on Wednesday, Sept. 4, and again on the following Sunday, the last time with fatal results. On Monday of that week he received a visit from a woman who lives not far from his office.

On the morning of the day that the woman called on him, Shepard went to his office in good spirits. He left for home a different man. The woman was an incident of Dr. Shepard's bachelor days. At the age of 75 he was married to Miss Mary Myers. His life with the many housekeepers whom the bachelor physician employed in his home, the way in which he managed to marry off his sweethearts to younger men,—these things his woman visitor threatened to make public if she were not paid, and paid a price which all the aged physician's wealth was no more than sufficient to satisfy.

She declared that she was his wife and the marriage was recorded legally years ago. She demanded that the physician acknowledge her before the world as his wife, and put aside the woman who had cared for him since she was a slip of a girl, and whom he married after twenty-seven years "companionship." The woman demanded that the doctor make a final will and testament, with her as sole heir to his $1,500,000 estate. She called upon him for $50,000 in cash as the price of silence until the physician should have complied with her other demands.

Dr. Shepard asked for a week to consider her demands. The woman consented. On Tuesday morning, Dr. Shepard took an overdose of morphine, and another with success on Sunday.

PUSH BLACK CLOUDS AWAY.

Two Prominent Capitalists Declare There is no Danger of Serious Depression.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Two prominent capitalists interviewed here as to present financial conditions and possible troubles ahead, think alike that there is no cause for uneasiness.

Sir William Van Horne, chairman of the board of directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway, said:

"The time has come when Wall street can no longer ignore the great prosperity that prevails throughout North America. Business will go ahead, Wall street notwithstanding. Of course it is easy to predict anything. Tight money might be the result of two things. It might come from lack of credit or because of the active conditions, the great activity in trade. The present tightness is caused by the latter condition, but it is not hurting anybody."

Richard C. Kerens, the St. Louis financier, said:

"A year ago the country was at flood tide of its greatest industrial prosperity. Then came a scarcity of labor, followed by stringent money conditions and recession in building and kindred enterprises. This should not be called a depression.

"It is generally believed in the West that the worst has been passed, for this season. An all-important consideration, however, is the crops. A few weeks more of favorable weather and a bumper corn crop will be assured. The yield of other cereals has been fair. Therefore, it may well be said that there will be nothing like a panic or even serious depression."

HUMAN BOMB PLANNED.

Russian Girl Suspected of Plot to Blow Up Police and Go to Death With Them.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 17.—The police today arrested a young girl nick-named "Wanda," who is accused of participating in a plot to blow up the headquarters of the secret police, situated on the Moika Canal, whose torture chambers have aroused bitter feelings on the part of the revolutionists.

The police claim that "Wanda" planned to become a "walking bomb" and enter the headquarters building in the middle of the day, when it is generally full of police, wearing the uniform of a gendarme officer lined with guncotton, and carrying powerful bombs.

"Wanda," the police add, hoped, by blowing herself up, to reduce the entire building to ruins, and kill all the officers composing the staff of the political police. The plot was betrayed and the police, in addition to taking "Wanda" into custody, arrested a Jewish tailor, in whose shop they seized a half-ready uniform, which was intended for the woman.

In consequence of the murderous designs of the revolutionists, the secret police have decided to give up their present quarters, removing to an isolated stone building on Kamenny Island, where an elaborate electric signal system will be installed in order to prevent undermining.

Daughter of Old-time Stage Line Driver Found After Search Lasting Eleven Years.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Sept. 17.—Grace Gidley, the daughter and heir of William J. Gidley, an old stage line driver, who died in Montana in 1896, has been located here, after a search of eleven years.

Gidley operated through the Wymore Hills in the eighties. When he died he left his estate to his child, whom he had not seen since the day her mother deserted him, when Grace was a baby.

Grace Gidley now is the wife of Charles T. Depew, a Kansas City painter. The estate to which she has fallen heir is made up principally of realty in Billings, Mont.

Racing Machine Containing Eight Men Returning from Social Session of Elks at Colorado Springs Strikes Curb While Going Sixty Miles an Hour.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

COLORADO SPRINGS (Colo.) Sept. 17.—Eight men, crowding into a powerful racing automobile built to hold but three passengers, dared death in a wild burst of speed down the West Huerfano street hill early this morning, and the most frightful accident in the history of Colorado Springs resulted.

Four men were mangled almost beyond recognition, and the other four occupants of the car were more or less seriously injured. The machine, a six-cylinder, forty-horse-power Ford, is the same one which ran over and killed C. V. Dasey in the recent double tragedy at the automobile races at Overland Park, Denver.

The dead: W. H. Ralston, John S. Grey, formerly of New York; H. Winnall, Britton L. Graves.

The injured: James English, George Buckley, F. H. Ward, A. W. Marksheffel.

Marksheffel, who was driving, lost control of the wheel, and the powerful machine, swerving from side to side across the car tracks, ran into the gutter. For fully fifty feet the heavy car plunged onward, the right front and rear wheels a foot higher on the curb. Suddenly one front wheel struck some object, and the machine, slewing around, was thrown a distance of about forty-five feet down the hill. The car would probably have been whirled down the hill for a still greater distance, but for a telephone pole, which barred the way.

Grey was jammed against the telephone pole, as though thrown from a catapult. The entire left side of his face was flattened and his skull was laid open, the impact tearing the top of his head almost in two. Ralston was evidently thrown against the pole, or against the board fence on the other side of the walk. His skull was also fractured, as was that of Winnall. Winnall was hurled a distance of more than fifty feet.

William Ralston was a member of the firm of the Central Electric Company. Grey and Winnall were both professional chauffeurs. Graves, who was a drug clerk, died in the hospital several hours after the accident.

All of the injured and Ralston, who was killed, were prominent Elks. A social session was given at the Elks' Club last night to the non-Elks of this city. As the time approached for the breaking up of festivities, some one suggested an automobile ride. The fun-seeking crowd clambered aboard the huge racing machine, clinging to guards, hood and seat, and drove to Manitou, eight miles distant. The road back is a gradual grade, and the car is said to have been speeding at a rate of sixty miles an hour when the accident occurred.

EXPLORERS ARE MISSING.

Fears Are Entertained That William Bruce and Two Companions Have Perished.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BERLIN, Sept. 17.—A telegram from Advent Bay, via Hammerfest, states that nothing has been heard from the William Bruce expedition, which left the base of supply almost one month ago, with the intention of returning August 28.

Mr. Bruce, with whom were Capt. Boagsen, former companion of the Prince of Monaco, and Capt. Johnson, former companion of Dr. Nansen, took provisions for two weeks only, and, as no game can be found along the coast, it is feared that the three have perished in attempts to cross Prince Charles Bay.

Their sleds have been found near the landing.

BALL GAME IS CALLED OFF.

Loolooe and Portland Quit After Nine Innings.

Beavers Surprise Fans With Triple Play.

Grounds Sloppy and Good Ball Impossible.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] For nine innings today the Tail Enders held down the Pacific Coast League leaders to goose eggs and failed to register themselves. The contest was called at the end of nine innings, the score being 0-0. Randolph shot the spirals over for the visiting team and he had just enough twist in the shoots to prevent the home guard from getting results. At no time did the Beavers even threaten to cross the home plate. Groom was on the slab for the homers and he also had such a bunch of puzzlers up his sleeve that the Angels could not negotiate the register. The field was sloppy and wet and it was by stipulation that the game should end at the ninth if there was a tie score.

Portland pulled off a triple play in the fourth that brought out prolonged applause from the fans. It has been a long time since such a play has been pulled off on the local grounds. This stunt could hardly have been prevented even had the grounds been dry. Dillon led off with a single to center field and perched on first. Cravath hit one to Casey, who threw to Donahue at first ahead of that runner, but the baseman muffed the ball and both runners were safe. Brashear, who is playing third, during the enforced absence of Jud Smith, came to bat and hit a liner to Groom, who caught the drive and hurled the ball to Fay at second, by which Dillon was retired and Fay sent the ball to Donahue before Cravath could get back.

The triple was accomplished in the twinkling of an eye. The fans hardly realized what was doing until the Angels ambled on the field, when storms of applause greeted the players.

With two out in the eighth, the Portland team managed to fill the bases but Randolph was particularly unsolvable at this juncture and there was nothing doing. Los Angeles filled up the paths with but one down in the ninth and it looked like another defeat for Portland. However, Groom managed to fan Delmas and Hogan flew to Schlafly, when the game was over.

There was considerable disappointment among spectators not to see additional innings played when the ninth ended with the score still tied, for Managers McCreedie and Dillon had neglected to inform the umpire or the crowd that if the score was tied in the ninth there would be nothing further doing. Score:

DETROIT, Sept. 17.—Smith was easy for Detroit, while Chicago could do nothing with Siever, most of the hits off him being scratches. The game was called at the close of the sixth inning because of darkness. Score:

Detroit, 9; hits, 15; errors, 0.
Chicago, 1; hits, 5; errors, 0.
Batteries—Siever and Payne; Smith and Sullivan.

CLEVELAND LOSES TWO.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CLEVELAND, Sept. 17.—St. Louis took both games from Cleveland today. Powell was in grand form, allowing but two of the locals to reach first. Errors were responsible for all the runs. Score:

First game:
Cleveland, 0; hits, 2; errors, 3.
St. Louis, 3; hits, 3; errors, 0.
Batteries—Thielman and Bemis; Powell and Stephens.
Second game:
Cleveland, 5; hits, 7; errors, 4.
St. Louis, 6; hits, 11; errors, 1.
Batteries—Clarkson and Clarke; Bailey, Howell and Spencer.

SENATORS' HOT FINISH.

Batteries—Willis and Gibson; Fromme and Hostetter.

TENNY'S TRIPLE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Tenny's three-base hit decided today's game, the locals defeating New York again. High wind gave both teams a number of scratch hits. Score.

Boston, 6; hits, 12; errors, 2.
New York, 3; hits, 11; errors, 1.
Batteries—Barberich and Needham; Mathewson and Bowerman.

PITCHERS BATTED HARD.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BROOKLYN, Sept. 17.—The locals had today's game well in hand from the fourth inning, and from the seventh batted Moran out of the box. Score:

Philadelphia, 1; hits 11; errors, 6.
Batteries—Moran, Pastorius and Ritter; Corridon and Dooin.

PASSING OF POP.

DIVORCED FRO BASEBALL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Indignant over the assault made on Umpire William Evans of the American League, at St. Louis, Sunday, Harry Pulliam, president of the National League, who is in this city, will do everything in his power to eliminate the deadly pop bottle from baseball grounds throughout the country.

In an interview today, President Pulliam said: "I have come to the conclusion that for the best interests of baseball there should not be any pop in bottles on the bleachers or on the grandstand at ball games, and I will do my best to have it stopped in the National League and will ask the American League to join me."

ALLEN ON DECK.

LAYS FOR HOEGEE TEAM.

Scotty Allen has secured the Edison Electrics to play the first game with the Morans, Saturday, and if the Hoegees fail to appear for the scheduled game in the Southern State League, a double-header will be played with the champions of the Mercantile League. The first game will be called at 1 o'clock.

The games next Saturday and Sunday will conclude the championship series in Los Angeles, but two more contests are scheduled for the following week, at San Diego, between the Hoegees and the Pickwicks. Since Manager Goodman, of the Hoegees, has announced his intention of playing no Saturday games, Allen says failure to play will mean the forfeiture of the contests.

If the Hoegees decide to play Saturdays, they will present a strong line-up, and make a hard attempt to win the four games scheduled for the team. After Sunday the Morans play no more games in the series. Last Sunday they played an errorless game against the Pickwicks. In the present series they have won all the Sunday games, and lost all the Saturday games played. Speice of Santa Monica will probably umpire the next two contests.

WINTER BASEBALL.

AFTER EIGHTH FRANCHISE.

Two applicants have spoken for the eighth franchise in the Winter League, but no action will be taken until the meeting late in the month. Manager Palmer of the San Diego Pickwicks would organize another team in the southern territory and call it the Coronados; and Manager Ward of the Edison Electrics is anxious to get into winter baseball.

Palmer intends to give the San Diego fans continuous ball, this winter, and with two teams in the league expects to have one at home throughout the season.

Says Edisons Were Greedy.

Regarding the Santa Barbara baseball squabble last Sunday between Managers Ward and Chaves, of the Edison Electric and Santa Barbara teams, respectively, the latter says, in reply to Ward's allegations, that the Edison players were allowed as much expense money as other teams that had made the Santa Barbara trip, but wanted more. Chaves says the Edisons were paid in accordance with a previous agreement, which included railroad fare and two meals, and that Ward has no legitimate kick coming.

U.S.C. GIRLS' BASKETBALL.

Brilliant Prospects for Championship Team With Old Stars Entering School.

There is every prospect that U.S.C. will have one of the crack basketball teams of the year. Several of the best players of last year have enrolled in the institution, and the outlook is very promising.

Foremost among the new members are Ella Winstanley and Ann Sheppard, who were members of the Los Angeles High School team of last season. Vera Brooks of Occidental will do post-graduate work at the university this term, and incidentally add considerable strength to the team. In addition there is one of Long Beach's best players, Miss Taylor, and Laura Woodhead, Ethel Hogan and Alta Thornton, who formerly played on the university team.

The academy team has hopes of entering the County League, and this will give the collegiate team additional advantage in the way of practice.

Four hours weekly will be devoted to athletics, and two instructors have been added to the gymnasium force under Miss Vanderpool, Miss Thornton and Miss Cocks. Miss Cocks comes from the Kansas City High School and has done post-graduate work in physical training at Yale and the Boston Technical School.

Volleyball, which bids fair to be very popular this season, will be played at U.S.C., and it is the earnest wish of the instructors also to introduce hockey as soon as adequate grounds can be obtained. It is also possible that golf will be introduced as a regular feature of the athletic work of the university.

Berry After Players.

Manager Henry Berry, whose ambition seems to run to inflamed vests that no one else would be found dead in, is on the trail of new ball players for next season, and tried to catch a pair last night that Director Tom Darmody had a line on. One is Murdoch, who played on the Oakland team several years ago, according to report. If it is the same Murdoch, he was in the Macon team of the South Atlantic League last year as an outfielder, and hit only .228 for 114 games and fielded .950. This kind won't do, when compared with Carlisle, Cravath and Bernard. There is plenty of time, however, to pick up players, for the coming season won't open until four months after the close of the present season.

LOS ANGELES ATHLETIC CLUB PLANS RECEPTION.

Senior Four Rowing Crew to Be Honored—Baseball Men Spring a Surprise by Turning Out in Large Numbers for Practice—Football and Cricket Now Being Talked.

The Los Angeles Athletic Club will hold a reception in honor of its oarsmen, Tuesday evening, September 22, in the club rooms at No. 534½ South Spring street, from 8 o'clock until 11. Invitations now are being sent out to the entire membership, the reception being an exclusive affair and not open even to friends of members by card, as has been the case with some previous functions at the club.

An informal programme of gymnasium sports, such as a boxing bout or two, some fancy trapeze work by the veteran performer, Ben. Bogner, and possibly a wrestling match, is being arranged.

The entire affair will be of an informal nature, but two or three talks by leading members will be features, and Capt. Isaacs is expected to tell how the race was won, with details contributed by the other crew members. Coach Treloar will talk upon the hard work done by the crew and the advantages overcome in defeating their opponents. Some pleasant little suprises are being arranged.

The Los Angeles Athletic Rowing Club held a business meeting Monday night and talked over future arrangements. Many members want to become oarsmen now that success has crowned the crew's efforts.

Last Sunday's baseball practice at the Chutes proved encouraging to Capt. Reilly, who is managing the team. Instead of the ten or a dozen players expected, enough turned out to make up several teams. Scrub matches were arranged and the ball tossers adjourned to the St. Vincent's campus and a team made up of some Knights of Columbus players was defeated by the L.A.A.C. nine; score, 6 to 4.

Coach Reilly, at its close, said he already beheld the amateur championship of Southern California in sight if the boys would only get in and work. A splendid infield, composed of such players of record as the Moriarity brothers, Joe Amestoy and Reilly was in action. Several new players appeared in addition to those previously named: Frank Sheehan, Joe Pensa, Bill Desmond, Chas. Lyke, Jr., W. B. Fessenden, Fred Holbrook, C. A. Fitzhenry, Walla V. Wheeler, Sam Wood and Dick Dunnigan. The squad worked faithfully all morning. In all about three dozen candidates were on deck for the fray.

Reilly states that his scheme will be to go ahead and pick a first, second and third team. Players will be graded on the showing they make. As the lower class players improve they will be given chances to display their ability, and some already are so advanced that Reilly thinks he can have a team out before the league season is over.

The football project is being agitated and an eleven may be formed yet at the club, the chief drawback being the general doubt as to what game should be played. A strong Rugby or socker team could be made up at the club and if there is any encouragement for the sport, one will be started. Likewise there are some lacrosse men of ability on the rolls, but of late years there has been but little doing here with the Canadian game, except in a sporadic way.

Some of the Anglo-American members have talked a little of a L.A.A.C. cricket team. There are enough cricketers of class in the club to form an eleven that ought to be able to make a good showing against the local Zingaris, Marylebones and Wanderers.

Uncovers Wealth of Football Material Which Make Methodists Immediate Factor.

The initial sessions of the fall semester at U.S.C. have uncovered unlooked-for athletic material. Coach Holmes appears jubilant.

As a nucleus for the football squad, the veterans of last season's championship team include Burek, who returned Saturday; Shute, the All-Southern half, who was scheduled among the number unable to play this year, and Capt. Haigler, who is due to arrive some time today. George Runyon, a monogram veteran of three seasons' playing, brings to the squad his six feet and more of hardened fiber, and undoubtedly will prove a whirlwind lineman.

A good acquisition for all branches of college sports, Osborn, a former student of Whittier College, signed up for work yesterday. He was a member of the champion basketball five of the Quaker institution, and also does a few stunts in the line of track and baseball activities. Osborn has announced his intentions of trying for a place on the team, and likely will be given a chance at quarterback, a position which has very few applicants in sight.

It also is rumored that Haigler would bring a new player with him from Arizona, the home of Shute, the Haigler "twins" and other 'varsity prodigies of the past. Burek holds a communication from a former teammate in Wisconsin, who is expected to arrive in time to secure a good berth on the team.

The candidates are anxiously awaiting the summons to don the moleskins, still a fortnight hence. It is possible Coach Holmes may inaugurate a series of pre-season blackboard talks, which would go far toward giving the men at least a theoretical knowledge of the game in its newer aspects.

LIEUT. LAHM IS ILL.

Aeronaut May Not Be Able to Pilot Racing Balloon for Aero Club of America.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Aero Club of America, located in New York City, probably will have to select another pilot to represent it, and the United States as well, in the international balloon races, October 21.

Lieut. F. P. Lahm, who was chosen to race for the James Gordon Bennett Cup, is recovering from a severe illness. James E. Smith, president of the Aero Club of St. Louis, under the auspices of which the meet will take place, received a letter from Frank S. Lahm, father of the aeronaut, saying the latter was convalescent, but was afraid he would not be in shape to pilot a balloon in October.

Mr. Lahm wrote from Paris. He said his son was in the hospital in Sumier ninety-two days, and left the institution several weeks ago. He is at St. Germain, recuperating, and will go to Switzerland September 22, and hopes to be able to sail for America in November.

The French contestants will sail from Havre, September 23, aboard the Provence, land in New York, and come immediately to St. Louis. The party, aside from Aeronauts Garnier and Leblanc, who will pilot two balloons for the Aero Club of France, will include several aides, Assistants Lavee and Nix, and Maurice Mallet, who will act as official starters.

GREAT OLYMPIC GAMES.

Athletes Look Forward to Contests of International Character to Be Held in July.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Athletes on this side are beginning to focus their attention on the great international Olympic games to be held in London in July next year. It is expected that twenty-five nations will compete. In view of the recent reverses sustained by English sportsmen, British athletes are being adjured to spare no effort to obtain the entry of the best possible men.

The stadium being erected will accommodate 80,000 spectators. The site is close to the building of the Franco-British exhibition. It will contain space for great international sports and pastimes and a travel exhibition. It will be oval in shape, with seats all the way round and a passage beneath. Its length will be 1000 feet and width 700 feet.

The first track will be for cycling and will be thirty-five feet wide and of two and three-quarter laps to the mile. Inside that will be a running track twenty-five feet wide and three laps to the mile. Then there will be a swimming tank 100 meters long, and the remainder inside will be turfed for lawn tennis and numerous other contests.

The programme for next year's games has been fixed only provisionally, for each nation at present is considering the conditional form. The principal athletic events probably will include flat racing, hurdle racing, jumping, throwing the hammer, putting the shot, tug of war, throwing the discus and hurling the javelin.

Entries from each country will be limited in number for various events, twelve being the maximum for most of the athletic competitions.

MISS PLUMMER TO COACH.

Goes to Throop Polytechnic School to Teach Girls How to Play Basketball.

Miss May Plummer is to coach the girls' basketball team of the Throop Polytechnic School this fall. Miss Plummer coached the Los Angeles Angeles High School team last season.

The High School, under Miss Plummer, won the county league championship and the central State championship by defeating Selma High.

Three years ago Miss Plummer played center for the J.U.G. team. The next year, which was her first year at High School, Miss Plummer made the team and played brilliantly. This last year she was not in school but consented to coach her old team. With the material to be had Throop ought to have a winning team.

POMMERN WINS BALLOON RACE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BRUSSELS (Belgium) Sept. 17.—The long-distance prize in the international balloon race has been won by the German balloon Pommern, piloted by Herr Erbsloh. The Pommern came down at Bayonne, France, 421 miles from Brussels. Herr Erbsloh was a competitor in the French balloon race. The Swiss balloon and English balloon probably will tie for second honors.

All the balloons have been accounted for. The contest was given under the auspices of the Belgian Aeronautic Club. The balloons left this city September 15.

BICYCLE EVENTS.

Bicycle events scheduled for this fall are:

September 19, Wilkesbarre—Wilkesbarre Motorcycle Club's open race meet at Driving Park track.

September 29, Valley Stream, N. Y.—Century Club Association's 100-mile road record run; open.

September 29, Milwaukee—Milwaukee Cycle Racing Club's postponed twelve-mile handicap road race; open.

MANY MURDERS SUSPECTED.

Thirty Girls Lured to St. Louis Never Heard from After Reaching That City.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The death of thirty or more girls lured from their homes in Northern Arkansas and Southwestern and Central Missouri may be laid at the door of one man.

Deputy Sheriff Campbell of St. Louis county today left Clayton for Herman, Mo., where he hopes to effect the arrest of Harry Lambs on suspicion of knowing something about the disappearance of an unknown girl, and who is said to have been hurled from a bridge into the Missouri River Saturday night by two men.

Lambs is supposed to have been one of these two men, and the murder was witnessed by five persons, who were powerless to prevent the deed.

Since Saturday night thirty letters and telegrams have been found, indicating that Lambs has lured at least that many girls from their homes in Northern Arkansas and Southwestern and Central Missouri, and who, in most instances, never were heard from after reaching St. Louis.

MYSTERY ABOUT RUEF.

Chief Biggy Will Not Tell What Elisor Biggy Will Do With the Arch Grafter.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Chief Biggy has not yet announced what disposition he intends to make of Ruef. Whether the arch grafter is to remain at the Fillmore house on a scale of more or less commodiousness is only speculation.

Biggy said today that Ruef is still at the Fillmore-street house, but that the city is not contributing one cent for the maintenance of the establishment. When asked the question who is to pay the bill, Biggy said he was, but refused to say if the money came out of his own pocket or Ruef's, or out of the pocket of some friend of Ruef's or person interested greatly in the health and safe-keeping of Ruef.

Biggy admitted Ruef might continue to reside on Fillmore street for perhaps a week, but he would not give any definite information.

FOR DOUBLE MURDER.

Roman Catholic Priest from Chicago Is Convicted in Pittsburg of Slaying Two Men.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 17.—Ludwig Szozygiel, the Roman Catholic priest from Chicago, who has been on trial for the murder of Andrew and Stephen Starzynski, brothers, was convicted of murder in the second degree by a jury which returned a verdict tonight.

The fate of the prisoner was given to the jury late this afternoon, following a bitter argument by counsel. To protect himself from the supreme penalty of the law, the priest unburdened his past life, frankly confessing his many shortcoming, especially his drunkenness. During his testimony he admitted that Francesca Shrow, his housekeeper, who was in the house when the double murder was committed, had accompanied him to this city from Chicago. It developed that the housekeeper occupied the same room with one of the Starcynski brothers. Following the admission Dist.-Atty. Goehring remarked: "There, you have the motive."

The priest said he supposed it was correct that he had killed the brothers, but that it was done in self-defense, and that he was drunk at the time.

Hand Tailored Suits for Men

What?

Yes, HAND-TAILORED—that's one reason why Bullock's fall suits for men fit absolutely perfectly. How can we sell them at $15? (Most dealers don't; they can and do get $17.50 and $20.) Perhaps we're more careful and thorough in our buying; perhaps we order larger quantities.

Certainly best trade tailors are eager for this great California outlet and price concessions are frequent.

Equally certain, these $15 suits are the best we have seen. Hundreds of newest patterns and colors. We want every man to see them, and particularly men who are used to wearing custom made clothing. Third floor.

Unable to Reach Agreement on Proposition to Advance Round-the-World Rates.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Members of the Trans-Continental Passenger Convention have found it impossible to reach any agreement by correspondence on the proposition to advance round-the-world rates, as has been done in Europe and Great Britain, and the subject has been docketed for discussion at the next meeting of the Association to be held October 8.

Most of the American roads have strong objections to the present plan of including sleeping car fares and price of meals in the rate.

This practice was established by the Canadian Pacific Railroad, which owns its sleeping cars and the hotels located along its lines, and it was to meet this competition that the American roads consented to put the plan into effect.

BURIAL PERMIT REFUSED.

Coroner of New York Will Investigate Death of Adherent of Christian Science Faith.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Nellie C. Fox, 47 years old, an adherent of Christian Science faith, died in her apartments, No. 609 West One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street today.

The health department has refused to permit the burial until Coroner Harburger has investigated the case. Dr. Brinsmade was called to attend the woman on September 10, and prescribed for her. He refused to issue a death certificate except in the regular way, and this caused the funeral to be tied up.

Miss Fox was a sufferer from tuberculosis, dropsy and a complication of diseases. On September 10, when it became evident to her and her sisters with whom she lived that death was but a matter of a short time, they decided to call Dr. Bransmade.

"I am a Christian Scientist," the patient told the physician. "I have been treated regularly by a reader of my faith. I realize, however, that I may pass away at any moment, and I wish to be prepared so that a burial certificate may be issued for me."

HORSEWHIPS "AFFINITY"

Wife of New Jersey Horseman Answers Note from Her Husband's Soul-Mate.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Mary Mitchell of Patterson, N. J., has, with the aid of a horsewhip, undertaken to rid her husband of an affinity whom he declared he could not shake.

Mrs. Mitchell is thirty and slender, but what she lacks in avoirdupoise she makes up in nervous energy. When she learned through a note, accidentally discovered, that her hubby, a turf speculator and former owner of race horses, was playing the role of soul-mate to Miss Annie Rooney, a plump blonde, she resolved to take matters into her own hands.

The note, which was from Miss Rooney, asked Mitchell to meet her at Main and Market streets. Mrs. Mitchell took it upon herself to keep the appointment. When Miss Rooney came along, the wife wasted no words, but she applied her whip. The court acquitted her.

FLASHES FROM WIRES.

Slippery rails caused a collision between the forward end of a southbound freight and rear of a northbound passenger train on the Chicago & Northwestern Railway at Racine, Wis., yesterday, resulting in the injury of five dining-car employés, the freight engineer, fireman and two passengers, and demolition of a passenger coach and the diner.

A Lehigh Valley express train from Buffalo to New York, was wrecked early yesterday near Pattenburg Tunnel, in New Jersey. A number of trainmen and passengers were injured, but none of the latter fatally. The train was running at high speed when the locomotive jumped the track and plunged into the mountain side. Engineer Herbert Godley was injured internally.

POMONA.

POMONA, Sept. 17.—With the building of two new schoolhouses, two large churches, the new exchange orange packinghouse east of Reservoir street, two new brick blocks on Thomas street, and nearly thirty new houses in different parts of the city, Pomona contractors and builders are enjoying the greatest era of activity in their history.

J. A. Fitch and wife have returned from a five-weeks' sojourn, camping in the Shasta Mountains. Mr. Fitch enjoyed large game hunting and fishing, having caught over 300 trout.

Harry Joos, brother of City Attorney Joos, has located a mining claim of much promise near Ludlow.

George W. Ogle left tonight for a visit to his mining claims on the desert.

The World Needs Him.

From my youth I have hated like sin
To mix up with my neighbor's concerns.
I am much disinclined to butt in—
It's a trick a fellow soon learns,
For it's certain as older I grow
And the scales disappear from my eyes,
I'm impelled to tell things that I know;
I've a longing, in short, to advise.
It's an impulse I constantly fight,
But a word now and then will slip out
When I know very well I am right
And my neighbor is somewhat in doubt.
But I've noticed a lot in my day,
And experience makes a man wise,
So I feel I have something to say,
And I'm glad if they let me advise.
There's so much that good people do wrong,
There's so little quite right that they do,
And with mind and my memory strong
I am willing to help them on through,
For my insight's remarkably clear
And my judgment you cannot despise;
So, you see, it would be rather queer
If I didn't take hold and advise.

New Manhattans! Fall Styles in Your Favorite Shirts

It's usually an easy matter to pick the winners from an ordinary stock of shirts.

But to choose the most attractive from a stock that's ALL winners—THAT'S different.

Manhattan makers have fairly outdone themselves this fall—especially on shirts ordered for the four Silverwood stores.

And we're a bit chesty about it, too.

You'll not blame us when you see the shirts.

The name "Manhattan" alone is guarantee enough for any man, and one that becomes doubly strong when backed by the name "Silverwood."

Each Silverwood store is now ready and anxious to supply you.

Seems needless to say the patterns are exclusive.

The name Manhattan spells shirt perfection.

FOR SALE—
ATTENTION, HOMESEEKERS.

I will sell you a modern [illegible]-room, [illegible]-story residence, in good residence district and in the trend of increasing values, at $[illegible] less than actual value; only 12 minutes by Grand ave. car from [illegible] and Broadway, within one block of Grand ave. The price of today, $[illegible], was the price [illegible] years ago when bought from a builder who was in financial difficulty, and represents the actual cost of material, labor and lot at $[illegible], which is now cheap at $[illegible].

The house is close to St. Mary's Academy and the Marlborough School for Girls and is in first-class condition, never having been occupied except by owner.

The terms are $[illegible] cash, balance $[illegible] per month, including interest. A choice home, a safe investment and a good speculation.

If you will come to my office I will convince you that you can turn this at a profit of $[illegible] within [illegible] months.

NEW COTTAGE PARTLY FURNISHED

$[illegible] $[illegible] $[illegible]
$[illegible] $[illegible] $[illegible]
$[illegible] $[illegible] $[illegible]

We offer for $[illegible], which price includes $[illegible] worth of furniture, a handsome new 6-room cottage on an east-front lot on a desirable street. Photographs of both exterior and interior may be seen at our office.

Fine cement steps lead to a large roomy front porch. The entrance is attractive, having bevel plate glass, leading to a large attractive living-room with beamed ceilings, paneled walls, built-in seats and bookcases, and French windows. The dining-room is bright and cheerful, having plenty of large windows and has a handsome buffet and brick mantel. To the rear of this room is a mighty convenient kitchen with fine nickel plumbing and a plentiful supply of bins, drawers, shelves and cupboards. There are three large, sunny, artistically-tinted bedrooms.

This house is unusually attractive on the exterior, having a large gable on the front which is finished with exposed beams and plaster. Inside the lighting fixtures are tasty, having been specially designed, while a little touch of individuality is lent through the arrangement of the opening between the dining-room and living-room, which is finished by two artistic buttresses supporting posts which run to the ceiling.

This is a bargain—a sacrifice—as the owner desires to leave at once.

BEAUTIFUL NEW MISSION HOME.

$12,[illegible] $12,[illegible] $12,[illegible]
$12,[illegible] $12,[illegible] $12,[illegible]
$12,[illegible] $12,[illegible] $12,[illegible]

This home is finished throughout the lower floor in fine quarter-sawed oak, put in by the best workmen obtainable in the city. No expense was spared to produce an A-1 job, and as the house has never been occupied the beautiful workmanship on window and door frames, doors, and paneling on walls and ceilings is perfectly intact.

SPECIAL NOTICE—The glass used throughout the house where bevel plate is used, is the best in the market.

The large, cheerful dining-room, with walls paneled 5 feet high with oak, has a specially-designed built-in buffet with heavy glass doors and hand-carved oak trimming. In the pantry in the rear beautiful shelf, bin and drawer room is available. The whole front of the house has plate glass windows, while the entrance itself is of heavy oak with art plate glass on the sides, making a very attractive appearance. The den has walls of paneled oak and luxurious imported tapestries, together with a mantel finished in old gold and built-in bookcases with plate glass doors furnished with glass knobs.

Five large bedrooms, one of them [illegible], exclusive of a front alcove, which contains built-in seats, are all tinted in soft harmonious colors and well supplied with closets. The cemented and bricked cellar contains the best furnace manufactured; the large cemented porch in front extends the whole width of the house and everything else in the appointments of the place is strictly up-to-date, even to an interior telephone.

REMEMBER, this house has never been occupied, its location is superb, facing a $[illegible] home, and for the price it cannot be duplicated at the present price of materials and building.

THE NAVY.

MAY DELAY PACIFIC FLEET.

BATTLESHIP ALABAMA MUST UNDERGO REPAIRS.

Four Months Needed to Fix Crack in Head of One of Her Engine Cylinders so Navy Probably Will Not Start to the Pacific Coast Before January 15.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Navy Department today received word of an accident to the battleship Alabama which will doubtless result in delaying the departure of the Atlantic fleet on its trip around the Horn to the Pacific.

The Alabama has developed a bad crack in the head of one of its engine cylinders and the damage must be repaired before it can undertake the long trip to the Pacific.

At least four months will be required to make the repairs which will keep the ship in home waters nearly a month after the time scheduled for departure on December 15.

The incident has occasioned the naval authorities a little concern for it is an unpleasant hint of what may be expected from the ships after they have left this Coast.

A mishap of any sort occurring on the South American coast at a point far distant from a large harbor would be a big handicap. This, however, is looked upon as one of the chances that must be taken.

Self-Support in College.

A SURVEY OF THE METHODS EMPLOYED IN PACIFIC COAST INSTITUTIONS.

BY S. S. ASHDERIAN.

In preparing the following article circulars were sent to all the leading colleges and universities of the Pacific Coast for information, and the treatment of the article is based upon the statistics and opinions concerning various phases of self-support, which are the subjective but frank estimates of college presidents or their representatives. Self-support is used throughout to designate students who are wholly or partially self-reliant.

Going to college has never been so popular in the Pacific Coast as at present. Great endowments, new and mighty buildings, the development of the professional schools, the newspaper interests in college matters, and the widespread impression that the colleges give the best preparation for the work of life, are enough evidences. The sons of many an illiterate farmer are in colleges or professional schools, and parents in general are making heroic efforts to send their sons through college. The students themselves, on the other hand, whenever necessary, are ever ready to enlist in the army of self-support to wage a "four years' warfare" for a four years' course.

There are twenty-five colleges and universities in the Pacific Coast States, all of which are full of promise and vigor, and many of them splendidly equipped, and are close rivals to the best institutions in the land. In all their departments they have nearly 9000 students. The percentage of self-supporting students, of course, is different in different institutions. In the University of Washington, 35 per cent. are self-supporting, while in the University of Oregon fully one half of the students wholly or partially work their way. At Stanford University it falls to 25 per cent. and to 40 per cent. in Whittman College. Several colleges report the percentage to be very large, while others do not know. Nearly 10 per cent. of the students in the University of California are estimated as wholly dependent upon their own resources, while a large number are only partially so.

It is, therefore, a hard matter to estimate the average percentage of the working students in these colleges. It would be safe to say, however, that 50 per cent. of the total enrollment would be a fair average. It may be a little less.

This army of students from frugal homes, and of scanty means, sons of farmers, lawyers, preachers and other professional men, constitute a most desirable element in the college life today. Unspoiled by luxury and earnest in purpose, they give character and tone to every college community, and in spite of being obliged to spend much of their time and energy on outside work, still they get what they want.

How many are deterred from going to college for financial reasons would be a hard matter to estimate. But as President David Starr Jordan of Stanford University says: "A student is not fit for educating who cannot work his way." A man with health, energy, cheerfulness and a good preparation should not hesitate to go to college.

Naturally the first thing to be considered by a prospective self-supporting freshman is what shall be his expenses. The published "low" and "moderate" expenses of different colleges are often misleading. Often tuition and sometimes even clothing, laundry, etc., are included in these estimates. The average "low" living expenses as given by different institutions is $143, and $201 as "moderate." These, of course, do not include tuition and other college fees, nor clothing or traveling expenses; so that a man with $200 may with strict economy be able to get through his freshman year. In a State university where no tuition is charged, a man can make his other expenses very small after paying for his board and room. Of course, these figures would not mean anything to a person who is careless and extravagant by nature. One's expenses may be "low" in an expensive college only through economy and careful management.

A college president states that often men obliged to leave college for financial reasons dressed better than he did. Yet how many others, in order to bring down their expenses to their low means, have been compelled to rent cheap quarters and use the same for sleeping, study, kitchen and often for laundry. This is the easiest way for one to neglect himself (and his stomach,) which is especially true at examination times. In this way some have not only lost their health for a while, but many have gone through college with chronic indigestion to regret all their lives. One should never attempt to cook for himself. For this reason nearly all colleges urge the importance that every student should have resources sufficient for the expenses of one year. This would keep the student not only in peace of mind until he finds something to do, but he would not be obliged to resort to unhealthful economy.

Self-support has become so common in every student body that nearly every college has established labor or employment bureaus for the benefit of its needy students, and thus has become an unpaid middleman between demand and supply. In the universities of Washington, Stanford and California, this work is carried on by the Y.M.C.A., which is lending ever valuable and increasing service. The student's reliance, however, must be mainly on his own self. On entering college he will find many other men who have the same object in view, but the man who has the greatest activity and the finest initiative will secure the work, and the most faithful and capable man will retain it.

The competition is great, but the man who sees where work is, solicits it promptly and performs it well, is the one who ought to, and will succeed. Often obstacles and disappointments arise in the first few months of college life, but with patience and energy and courage success will ultimately come, if proper prudence is exercised.

In the modern development of undergraduate self-support, the student industries are ever increasing in number and variety. What can a person do to earn his way in college? This is the question of many an ambitious youth, and the best answer is that it is easier to enumerate the things he doesn't do than what he does. They are endless in variety, and it is apparent from the reports of every college that he isn't afraid to "tackle" anything listed in a city directory. His ingenuity, frankness, pertinacity, cheerfulness and, last, but not least, his health, are his stock in trade. He will come in Los Angeles like a professional, and take the picture of your house; another man will report the graft trial in San Francisco, and another will deliver the newspaper to your house in the morning; still another will clean your house and keep your books.

Tutoring, perhaps, is regarded as the most dignified and desirable of all student work. It yields good returns in a small expenditure of time, and the discipline and the experience gained are also invaluable. Laundry agency, without doubt, comes next in the student's estimation. Waiting on table is a method of earning board widely practiced in every college. A very easy way of earning board, however, is that often some influential man gathers together ten or twelve of his acquaintances and secures board for them where accommodations can be had. He is in a way responsible for the character of the food, and the cooking, and intermediates between the boniface and his guests. In return for his services he has his own seat at the table without charge. Several students thus earn their board at the University of California. This is, of course, one of the best known ways of supplementing slender means.

Some other men have earned considerable money by representing different merchants in the college public. Tailors, photographers, jewelers, dry goods merchants and some others, often reach the students in this way, and the profits a student may be able to make depend entirely upon his own efforts. It is surprising how much help an alma mater can offer her needy sons in supplying its physical wants. In the twenty-five colleges 154 scholarships are offered, and everywhere, whenever practicable, students are employed as janitors, waiters, in libraries and laboratories, as stenographers, and in other positions for which they are generously paid.

The University of Washington reports that "there is a very good spirit toward student help in Seattle, and all sorts of positions are given them." The same good spirit prevails in all college communities, and students are employed at ordinary wages paid for such services. Among the different kinds of work mentioned as given students are gardening, house cleaning, soliciting, advertising, drafting, drawing, waiting on table, attending furnaces, telephone, pressing clothes, selling programmes, stenography, bookkeeping, driving delivery wagon, working in stables, elevator boy, canvassing, carpentering, office and store work.

It is safe to say that few men could succeed in earning their way through college had it not been for the three months' recess in the summer, and the other short holidays. Literally, the vacation is the time for making "hay" for the self-supporting student, and one's best thought and exertion should be expended in finding a good opening for summer work. It is remarkable how he turns up anywhere and everywhere at all sorts of positions and schemes.

You will find him in the wheat fields, pitching hay, or in a large ranch as a foreman with a gang of men. He will weigh your fruit at a country packing-house and hand you your check for it. He will register you at a hotel, show you to your room, wait on you in the dining-room just as cheerfully as a professional, and take in your "tip" in his various capacities, all for the sake of an education. Canvassing for books and stereopticon views has been widely practiced, from which men with adaptability and perseverance have often been able to earn all or a large part of their college expenses. Managing a summer stage line in the Yosemite, guiding on the trails, cooking, setting type, buying fruit on commission, teaching, typewriting, are among the many works reported as done by students of various colleges during the summer.

By his earnestness, seriousness, energy and capacity, the self-supporting student supplies one of the most precious influences in college life today. He is in a way counterbalance to some sons of the rich, who are in too many cases idle and negligent, if not often evil in their influence. Yet the self-supporting student does not have a holiday task out of his difficulties. He has many drawbacks, trials and disadvantages which he must constantly fight. In doing double duty he often runs the risk of undermining his health or neglects his studies.

A man can profitably use all his time, except that due to healthy diversions, with his studies and the literary activities of college life. The time of diversion should be used in earning his living or, as the universities of Southern California and Stanford recommend, some men should take one subject less than the regular work, taking one year longer to graduate.

One should be very careful not to encroach upon the time due his studies, and every minute should be profitably used lest before he knows, as time passes rapidly on, opportunities of culture and discipline which the college offers will have gone unimproved, and be lost. What does it profit a man to have gone through college if in getting through he has missed the benefits for which he went? It should be born in the mind of every working student that he doesn't go to college to make a living there; it is only a means for the attainment of his main object—education.

To what extent his work interferes with his college work, college faculties have different opinions, yet all, with one exception, believe that it is bound to affect some, but, as Whittman College puts it, "his earnestness and devotion to his work seem to overcome the difficulty."

Happily, work is often diversion and recreation, but unless one is robust and cheerful, he may run the risk of a nervous breakdown in doing double duty, and perhaps be obliged to abandon his undertaking. Health is the most precious of all attainments, and one should take every precaution, as no one can afford to impair himself physically while fitting himself for life intellectually.

The recreative value of mingling with one's fellow students and the other benefits derived therefrom are not small. But often a self-supporting student, on account of lack of funds and time, must adapt himself to its limitations. It is pleasant to believe, however, that in none of the Pacific Coast institutions the working student is barred from the college society on account of class feeling or distinction. If these colleges have no other advantage over the eastern institutions but one, it lies in the democratic spirit which is exhibited in every institution—giving the rich and the poor the same and equal chance for their efforts. The University of Washington believes it typical of western civilization that, as the University of Oregon puts it, "men in a western college are measured by what they are, and not by what they do or have." Even the fraternal societies are not regarded as a class by themselves; and every year self-supporting students in all colleges are elected to office in the various class and other societies, ability being the only qualification.

The disadvantages of narrow means are less obvious and less felt than in society at large. Of course, there is some feeling of difference produced between the sons of the wealthy and those of limited means. Yet, on the whole, the relation of the students with each other is simple and manly, and determined only by character and manner, rather than any other consideration. In this question the University of California believes that "difference in social standing arises from early training, disposition, personality, habits, tastes and the amount of money and time available for mingling in the interests and pursuits of other students. A man "hard up" financially may be "hard up" in manners, adaptability and training. It does not matter whether one is rich or poor, his social standing will ultimately depend upon his own self.

It is gratifying, however, to see to what a height of success the self-supporting student has been able to ascend. For one with carefully regulated social ideas, it is rather disconcerting to discover in the commencement orator the man who used to cut the lawn for his next-door neighbor, or the man who carried the college nine into victory was no one but the person who tutored his son. These he will soon find as familiar sights. In spite of the handicap in being obliged to spend much of his time and energy on outside work, in every college, with the exception of one, he has not only stood better in scholarship or just as well, but he has carried more honors and prizes than his better-favored colleague. In athletics, debating, on the editorial boards of college publications, and in all other college activities, he ranks high out of all proportion.

One familiar with the trials and the hardships of a self-supporting student, his numerical and economic relation to the college, his ambitions and their attainments, will not hesitate for one moment to acknowledge that the typical college man of today is more truthfully represented by the self-supporting student than the much more familiar hero of college tales, illustrated weeklies and athletic fields.

SWISS MAY BEAR ARMS.

The army of Switzerland, theoretically 500,000 strong, is practically invisible except at some afternoon of rifle shooting or target shooting on the rifle range of the commune, says the Boston Transcript. Guaranteed in its neutrality, and land-bounded by the guarantors, Switzerland has really no enemies from whom military invasion is to be apprehended. But the whole population is liable to military duty, all the same, and duly performs it, first and last, in all classes of society. The elementary military drill is taken by boys at 10 years of age as play and gymnastics at school. At 17, all the youth of Switzerland are taken bodily into the army, every one of them, and from that age to 50, each is liable for service in defense of his country, and, in fact, does give up of his time from study, business or pleasure, as the case may be, from forty-five days a year, when he is 20, to sixteen days every other year until he is 32, after which the demand of the army upon him is only for nine days' service in every four years until he is 44. The basic principle is that every able-bodied man should accustom himself to the use of arms, and thus the home of democracy claims, at the same time, to be the first of the European nations to introduce universal military service.

The wealthy taxpayer stands in the ranks side by side with the mechanic; the broker from the city and the peasant from the mountains share the same quarters and equal hardships. There are no crack corps; the career is open to talents; each is assigned tasks according to abilities; the son of a groom may work himself up to the position of the only general, and the rich man's son may graduate from the army a groom, tidying the barracks. It is said that the Swiss enlisted men perform feats of mountain climbing with their mule-borne artillery that make available points of vantage which to the ordinary military eye would seem inaccessible. An army that makes the smallest possible draft on the public purse and on the labor supply of the country, and yet includes every man who is physically fit and not more urgently demanded, say, as railroad man or telegrapher, is the ideal military establishment for a democratic age.

I am the prayers of an unkissed mouth
That prays for a silver rose,
I am the love of the dead that comes
From a land that no one knows.

I am a pearl from the waveless sea,
The soul of a lily gone,
I am the star at Heaven's gate
The Virgin sleeps upon.

Freight train No. 61, west-bound, on the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad, was wrecked near Pando, Col., yesterday, killing Engineer Fred McNichol, Fireman Pledger and Brakeman Harry Sharpe, all of Salida. The air brakes failed to hold on the four per cent. grade in Tennessee Pass and the train after attaining terrific speed, jumped the track. Traffic on the main line is blocked by piles of wreckage.

THE CITY IN BRIEF

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Murder Hallucination.

Pedro Valenzuela, a laborer, residing at Compton, yesterday gave himself up to an officer and confessed to having committed a most brutal murder. Investigation proved that the murder was a drunken hallucination.

Dog Attacks Lad.

Wendall Larsen, a 15-year-old lad residing at No. 315 South Hope street, was attacked by a vicious dog at Forty-seventh and Main streets last night and sustained a slight laceration in the back. He was sent to the Receiving Hospital.

Teamster Injured.

J. W. Wright, a teamster, residing at No. 4601 Central avenue, was run down and injured by a Los Angeles Railway car at Eighth street and Central avenue last night. He sustained bruises on the shoulder and his face was badly cut. He was sent to the Receiving Hospital.

Two Bankruptcy Petitions.

Creditors of L. M. Popoff, a local merchant, filed a petition in the United States District Court yesterday, asking that he be declared a bankrupt. It is set forth that Popoff owes a little over $4000. Vaso Petcovitch of Hanford filed a petition in bankruptcy, giving his liabilities as about $2000; assets, nominal.

Private Funeral Service.

A private funeral service will be held this morning at 9 o'clock in St. Vincent's Catholic Church, over the remains of Mrs. Lena Reed Henderson, wife of Frank C. Henderson. The deceased was a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Reed, who died at her home, No. 1427 Malvern avenue, on Monday afternoon, after a short illness.

Run Over by Auto, Not Hurt.

O. T. Yoder of No. 641 East Twenty-fourth street was run over by an automobile at First street and Broadway, yesterday afternoon. Both the front and back wheels of the auto passed over his body, yet he arose without even a bruise to show for his experience. Yoder is in the employ of the Western Union Telegraph Company. He was riding a bicycle when a collision occurred with a runabout, driven by J. M. Green.

Enlarges Its Quarters.

The quarters of the Builders' Exchange on the second floor of the Stimson block have been enlarged and now comprise eight rooms. Yesterday the work of moving was completed, and Secretary Kline received his callers in a large new office. The new quarters are admirably suited to the requirements of the exchange, and include roomy consultation rooms and private telephone booths.

Station L's Growth.

On and after October 1, Station L of the Los Angeles postoffice, located on East First street, beyond Evergreen Cemetery, will issue and pay international money orders. This station has made a remarkable showing in the increase of business, and now does business exceeding $1000 per month. The Montebello postoffice has been discontinued, and patrons of that district are now served from Station L. Rural delivery route No. 6 has this station as its headquarters.

Weeds on Figueroa Street.

The most scandalous display of weeds in the city is perhaps that at Sixteenth and Figueroa streets, where they grow four feet high on both sides of the walk. They are on the front of a vacant lot adjoining the Concordia Club, and it is impossible for ladies to pass without sweeping the dust from the weeds with their gowns. If the real estate men whose signs cover almost the whole front of the lot, do not clear the weeds away, citizens say, the city should have it done for the credit of a handsome street.

BREVITIES.

G. E. Reynolds and H. W. Johnston have opened offices for the sale of real estate and mining investments on Third street in the Citizens National Bank Building, room 542, under the title of Reynolds & Johnston. Mr. Reynolds has been connected with the Ryder Realty Company for several years. Mr. Johnston is a capitalist with large holdings in Los Angeles city and suburban properties.

Ladies—You never have to pay more than $3 for the best shoes made, and the men need never pay over $2.50. I sell $3.50 to $6 sample shoes at these prices. I can fit all feet. I am located on the second floor of 414½ S. Broadway. Visit my store and be convinced. Sample Shoe Man Stark.

J. W. Frey has moved his stock of mantels, grates, tiles and andirons to his warerooms, corner Los Angeles and Twelfth streets, where can be seen the largest assortment of black and brass fireplace trimmings to be found in the United States.

The many friends of Mr. Sol Levy will be pleased to know of his return to this city, and that he has again connected himself with the well-known house of Harris & Frank.

Henry J. Kramer will form an adult beginners dancing class Monday evening, October 7th. Juvenile class Saturday afternoon, October 5th at 1:30. References required.

FIRST STEP FOR GOOD ROADS.

Ventura Supervisors Appoint Commissioners—Half-Million Bond Issue Probable.

VENTURA, Sept. 17.—This county has taken the first decisive step toward the bonding of the county for good roads and bridges. The Board of Supervisors yesterday appointed these commissioners: R. B. Edmundson of Oxnard, Thomas Clark of Nordhoff and Hugh Warring of Piru. The bond issue will probably be for $500,000.

TAX RATE FIXED.

The county tax rate for the coming year has been fixed at $2.35, which is 15 cents higher than last year. There is a general increase in expenses, and particularly in school salaries, which made the increase necessary.

The Ventura River bridge at Casitas will be open for traffic in about two weeks.

CREEK AMBITIOUS.

The Board of Supervisors today took a trip to Sespe. The waters of the creek there threaten to leave the channel, and it is possible that there will have to be a considerable outlay of money to keep the water in bounds.

In the fall months no lovelier place is known than "Hotel del Coronado." A trip to that delightful resort at any time is a great pleasure, but in the cool autumn with clear days and bright nights it is almost beyond description.

POOR BRUTES.

ONCE PREACHER, BUT IS CRUEL.

ACCUSED OF DRIVING MULE TO DEATH ON DESERT.

Twice Before Arrested for Abusing His Animals—Charged With Buying Crippled Horses, Working Them on Ranch and Then Heartlessly Turning Them Out to Starve.

M. S. Croswell, formerly a preacher, but now a recluse in the Antelope Valley, was arrested yesterday, upon the complaint of N. W. Zimmer of the Los Angeles Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, for driving a crippled mule to death. Croswell is an old offender, having been fined twice before for cruelty. He will be tried on September 27.

One of his mules dropped dead from exhaustion on the desert southeast of Lancaster, it is claimed, and the other was seized by E. E. Cummings of Lancaster and killed. A man from Croswell's ranch accompanied him, riding an old horse, which could hardly walk. It was also taken by the society and will probably be killed.

Since Croswell left the Congregational ministry, ten years ago, he has lived on a ranch in the Antelope Valley. He made a small fortune in oil, and still owns some valuable property and about 200 head of cattle.

For several years Croswell has bought crippled horses, because he could get them cheap, and after working them on his ranch, has turned them out to starve, it is charged.

He was making preparations for his fall round-up when he harnessed the mules and drove toward Lancaster. He intended to buy supplies and return the next day. Every foot of the way he drove the mules as fast as they could travel, and with a wire lash attached to his whip, he cut deep into their hides, it is stated. The whip will be used as evidence at the trial.

Besides being starved and crippled, the mules had harness sores which showed they had been overworked for months. Croswell admitted that he did not feed them, but turned them out on a desert range to shift for themselves. It is stated by Cummings that he has a number of horses which ought to be killed to relieve their suffering.

When Croswell was arrested in Los Angeles on February 24, 1903, for cruelty to animals, he gave the name of Sampson, but his identity was afterward established. He brought seven calves, lashed to a buckboard, from his ranch to Los Angeles to sell. There was only room for two calves in the back of the wagon, he gave them no food or water during the long drive, and when he reached Los Angeles two or three of them had been injured.

He was allowed to sell his calves, but was fined $30, which he paid. After he was sentenced, he arose and forgave the court and those connected with the prosecution, saying that he would pray for them. Since that time Croswell has been prosecuted on a similar charge at Lancaster.

OBITUARY.

Odin Louis Renning.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 17.—Odin Louis Renning, a pianist and composer, who composed the coronation ode to King Haakon of Norway, died today, aged 27 years, following an operation for appendicitis.

Maj James Carroll.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17. — Maj. James Carroll, surgeon, U.S.A., who was a member of the commission which was sent to Cuba to study the yellow fever just after the close of the Spanish War, died at his home here late yesterday. It was his commission that fixed definitely on the mosquito as the medium of transmission in yellow fever. Dr. Carroll allowed himself to be bitten by a mosquito that had been infected from distinct yellow fever cases. He developed the disease after four days' illness. His last illness was the direct result of his work.

DEADLY WIRES MUST GO.

High Tension Service of New York Central Road Considered Dangerous to Life.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The deadly high-tension wires erected by the New York Central from Spuyten Duyvil to Ninety-sixth street, without the city's permission, must come down.

Acting on reports of his experts that the terrific force imprisoned in these wires is a constant menace to life and property along the route, and that already in several places the weight has sprung the poles or bent the insulators, John H. O'Brien, commissioner of water, gas and electricity, has written to Corporation Counsel Pendleton, announcing his determination to order the wires put underground and requesting advice as to the way to proceed.

The decision of the commissioner means a cost of hundreds of thousands of dollars to the railroad company.

DISASTER ON BATTLESHIP.

Five Japanese Officers and Twenty-two Men Killed and Many Others Injured.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, Sept. 17.—By an explosion on the battleship Kashima near Kure, September 9, five officers and twenty-two men were killed and four officers and twelve men were injured.

The cause of the explosion is under investigation. It occurred inside of the shield of the starboard after the ten-inch gun. It was not the shell which exploded, but powder, which evidently caught fire from the gas emitted from the breech when it was opened for the purpose of reloading the gun.

The hull of the Kashima is not damaged, but the upper works were badly wrecked. The crew was indulging in target practice when the accident occurred.

FAST FRIENDS.

WELD FIRMER THE TIES THAT BIND US TO MINES.

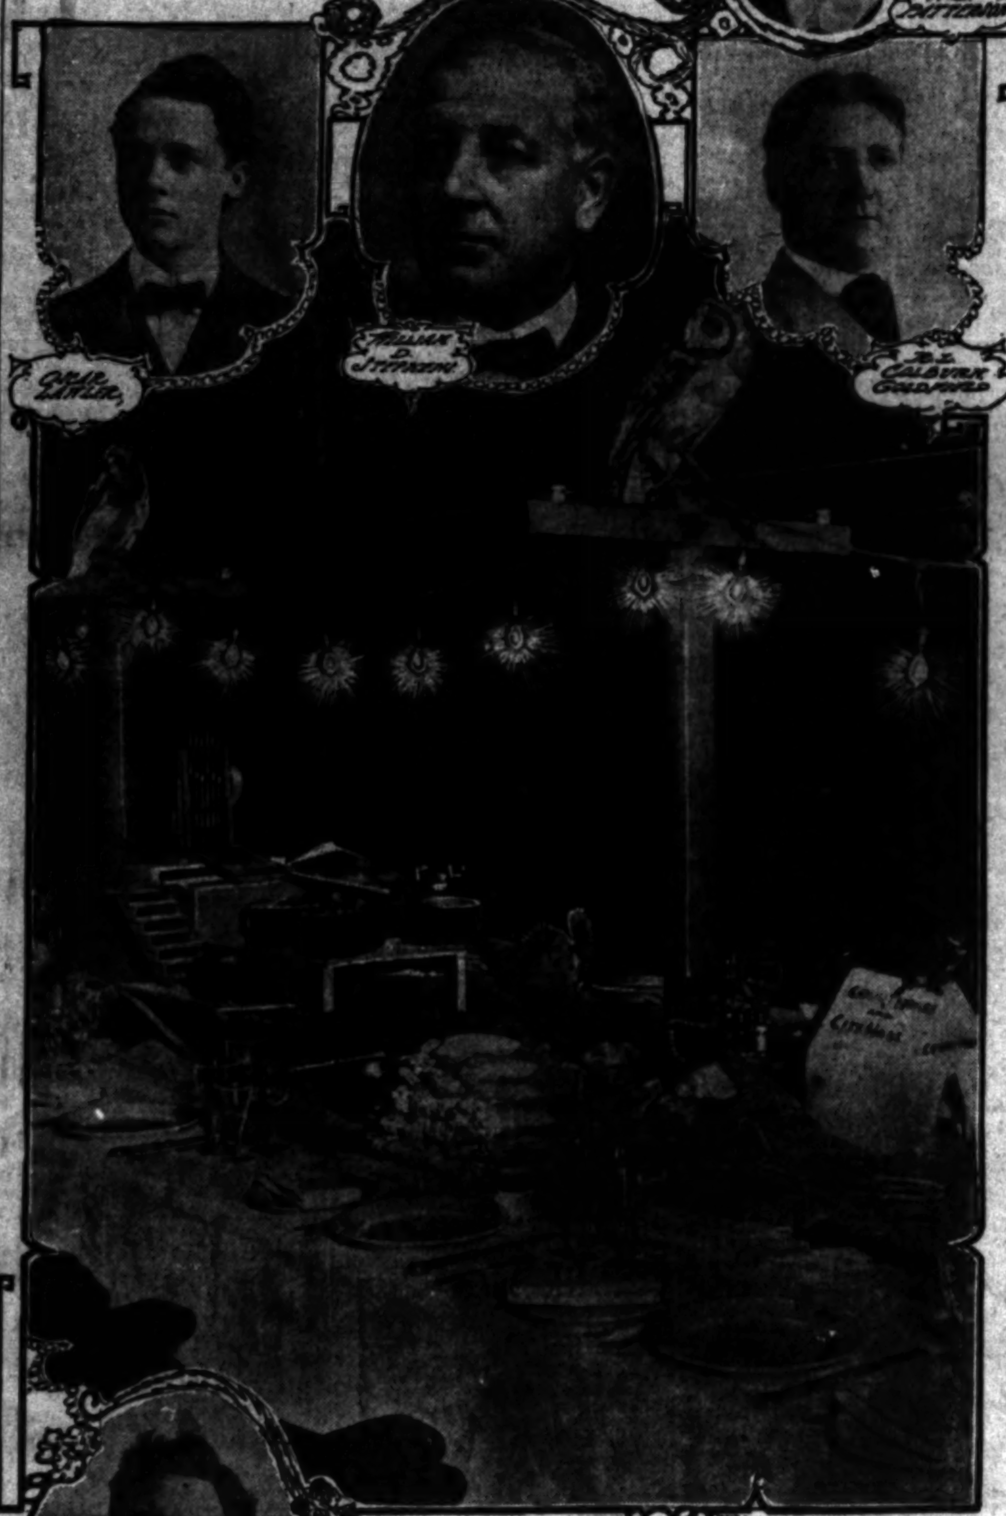
Closer Union of Nevada and Los Angeles Is Pledged at Magnificent Banquet.

LUXURIES and charms of civilization blended with realistic representations of the bleakness of the desert mining regions in forming a setting last night for a brilliant banquet given at the Alexandria by the Los Angeles and Nevada Mining Stock Exchange to its members and many prominent invited guests. The magnificent affair, notable even in this center of prandial perfection, marked the inauguration of a new and active factor in the development of the rich resources of the sister State of Nevada and served as one more indication of the important place to which Los Angeles has attained in the mining activities of the great Southwest.

There were 200 guests, including the 150 members of the new exchange, and in the big company were many of the leading captains of industry of this great section, the real doers of things in the financial, industrial and mercantile world—all there to prove the closeness of the ties that bind Los Angeles and the wonderful tributary territory.

Prominent speakers attested the good that is to follow the strengthening of the ties between Los Angeles and the mining districts, the former through the building up of trade and the acquirement of wealth through investment in legitimate enterprises, and the latter through the facilities for dealing and for attracting the capital that is necessary to a proper development of the treasure fields.

Unique were the embellishments of the banquet, tempting were the viands and cordial was the spirit of good will that prevailed.



Desert Mining and Miners at a Banquet.

Strikingly realistic scene represented on one of the tables last night, showing stamp mill and cyanide plant in operation, with cactus, mesquite, greasewood, horned toads, rattlesnakes and relics of the parched trail in the sands about, with desert owls looking solemnly on. Other phases of the desert were also reproduced on the long boards. Portraits are of some of the principal speakers at the spread.

The scene was one of exceeding novelty and beauty. The great dining-room had been converted into a wonder spot. The great bulk of the guests were seated in groups of six and ten at individual tables, arranged in an orderly way about the immense room, while twenty-eight special guests were provided for at the place of honor—a long table at the west end of the room. It was upon this banquet board that the skill and ingenuity of the decorator had been most lavishly expended.

Running down the center of the board was depicted a typical scene in a desert mining camp. The first striking feature was a telegraph line extending down the full length of the table, the white and brown posts supporting not only the wires, but festoons of glowing electric lights of eight candle power.

The telegraph line ran through stretches of sand and rock, wastes of cactus and sagebrush, in which were to be seen horned toads, snakes and other creatures of the desert. In the center of this long stretch was located a mine, with a cyaniding plant, stamp mill and other buildings, all worked out with amazing truth to detail, even to the hundreds of diminutive ore sacks filled and tied as if for shipment.

Straggling about the mine was the familiar desert mining camp of tents and shacks, some of them bearing grotesquely funny legends.

At the smaller tables scattered through the dining-room were elaborate designs in flowers, mostly carnations and roses, with a lavish use of feathery greenery. Some of the centerpieces depicted desert wells; others represented floral trails, the horn of plenty and the like.

The toastmaster was Orra E. Monnette, a Los Angeles lawyer, the son of M. J. Monnette, president of the Los Angeles and Nevada Mining Stock Exchange. In his sparkling introductions of the various speakers Mr. Monnette acquitted himself with distinction.

MAYOR'S WELCOME.

Mayor Harper extended to the guests the warm welcome of Los Angeles. He expressed the belief that henceforth this city will make giant strides as the center of the mining industry of the Southwest, and that there is no reason to doubt the statement made by prominent mining men that Los Angeles will become the most important mining center on the Pacific Coast. The nearness of this city to the richest fields of California and Nevada and Arizona were exploited, and the mutual advantage of closer commercial interests was emphasized.

"Nevada, the Land of Promise," was the subject assigned to Louis H. Rogers, secretary of the Goldfield Stock

SUES CITY OF PASADENA.

Edison Electric Company Seeks Over Twelve Thousand Dollars Rental for Its Plant.

Two complaints, for amounts aggregating over $12,000, were filed in the United States Circuit Court yesterday by the Edison Electric Company against the city of Pasadena. One complaint sets forth that the city entered into an agreement with the Edison Electric Company in July, 1904, for the lease of its lighting system. The lease included the use of 64 arc and 1321 incandescent lights. It is averred that due demand was made on the City Council of Pasadena for the payment of the rental agreed upon, but that no payment was made. Judgment is asked for $8652.

In the second complaint, the Edison Electric Company seeks to recover $4131, alleged to be due on a contract for the supply of electric energy.

DEATH MUFFLES WEDDING BELLS.

SUDDEN DEATH OF WILLIAM BACON DOUBLY PATHETIC.

Head of Local Branch of Pinkerton Detective Agency, Who Was to Have Married Miss Minnie Tichenor Next Month, Stricken as He Was About to Retire.

Death came suddenly early yesterday morning to William R. Bacon, superintendent of the Los Angeles branch of the Pinkerton detective agency. He was found dead in his room at the Trenton Hotel. The grim and startling news of his passing has prostrated Miss Minnie Tichenor, who was to have become his bride early next month.

Arrangements for the wedding had been made and all details attended to, even to the sending out of the invitations.

Mr. Bacon and George N. Tichenor, father of Miss Tichenor, had been lifelong friends. They had been together for years in the Pinkerton service and shortly after Mr. Tichenor came to Los Angeles to assume control of the Continental Building and Loan Association here, Mr. Bacon was detailed to cover this territory for the Pinkertons. In that way the two men again met and Mr. Bacon fell in love with the pretty daughter of his old friend.

Monday night, Mr. Bacon, accompanied by Mr. Tichenor, attended lodge. Both were prominent members of the Scottish Rite and of the Al Malaikah Temple of the Shrine. Tichenor accompanied the detective to his rooms at the Trenton. At that time Bacon seemed to be feeling perfectly well. He retired to his room, giving orders to be called at 8:30 o'clock in the morning. A bellboy was sent to his room at that hour. A knock on the door failed to gain any response.

A short time later, several calls for Bacon were received at the hotel and the bellboy was again sent to the room. Failing to gain a response he notified the clerk and the door was opened with a pass key. The body, clad in night dress, was found lying on the floor in front of the dresser. The feet were toward the dresser, showing that Mr. Bacon, after attiring himself for bed, had probably glanced into the glass and was stricken at that moment.

An autopsy disclosed that death was due to natural causes, the liver and kidneys being seriously affected.

William R. Bacon was 30 years of age. His rise in the ranks of the Pinkertons was remarkable. He left California several years ago and went to New York, where he entered the eastern branch of the service. Later he was transferred to the San Francisco department and then sent to Los Angeles as assistant superintendent, four years ago. Last November by reason of his brilliant work, he was appointed local superintendent.

Local Shriners are arranging for the funeral.

STEEL COACHES FOR THE COAST.

HARRIMAN LINES SOON TO PUT THEM IN SERVICE.

Superintendents in Conference Here Recommend Metal Passenger Cars for Economical and Other Reasons—Same Material Urged for Freight Service—Motors, Too.

A solid steel passenger train is the standard which will be inaugurated on the Harriman lines in the near future. In reports submitted yesterday by the suprintendent of motive power, who are in conference in Los Angeles, such recommendations were made. Safety and durability are the ends in sight.

For more than a year several models have been in service on the Harriman system. It is estimated that the steel car will decrease the cost of maintenance about one-half, thus offsetting the increase in the first cost. Its safety in wrecks and fires is a strong point.

A number of tests have been made with the steel car. They were taken up in a general discussion yesterday by the superintendents. The steel car will stand a 200 per cent. greater shock than the present coach. It is also practically fire-proof, and the weight is only slightly increased.

"It is only a matter of a few years until nothing but steel cars will be used," said H. J. Small, superintendent of motive power of the Southern Pacific. "The steel cars which have been in use on the Southern Pacific show much more durability and safety for passenger traffic than the wooden ones.

"At Sacramento several steel mail and baggage cars were built last year and are in use. As fast as possible the wooden cars will be displaced. There are a number of steel passenger coaches in service which show the same favorable results. It is possible that these coaches will take the place of the present model.

"At the Jamestown Exposition the Pullman Company exhibited a fire-proof steel car. I understand that the company will put the steel model on the market as fast as possible. It will take some time, however, before an entire steel passenger train will cross the continent."

The superintendents also recommend the adoption of a steel box car, which

STRANGE.

MAGNETIC BUT MOHAMMEDAN.

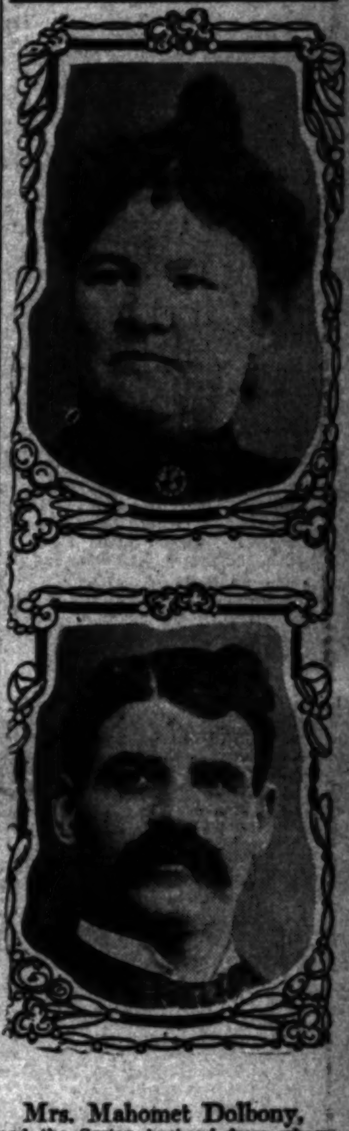
Syrian's Ideas Abhorrent to American Wife.

Bitter Experience Behind a Suit for Divorce.

Missionary's Life Ruined by Fatal Mistake?

The ancient and honorable profession of the Magi has fallen into disrepute in Los Angeles. When a heart-broken woman filed a suit for divorce yesterday, it was incidentally shown that a man who has his head among the stars may be unpleasant to live with.

The woman has had to cope with that mysterious influence of the East that has wrecked so many lives. That slow, sweet poison of the Mahatmas has been distilled, drop by drop, into the emotional natures of women of this land, and has not spared even enthusiastic young missionaries, who have felt called upon to labor with aliens in the large cities.



Mrs. Mahomet Dolbony, and the Syrian husband from whom she is seeking a divorce.

Mrs. Mahomet Dalbony is as shrinking as a girl, and a soft blush mantled her cheek at the thought of publicity. She was only induced to tell her life story because she thinks it might prevent some other woman from marrying a man of different race and widely-divergent ideas and traditions.

Eleven years ago Mrs. Dalbony was Miss Bates of Kansas City. She was the first slum worker there, and was also a missionary to the men and women immured in the jails. Foreigners of any persuasion found her a friend and champion. She belonged to the Baptist church but her services were sought by all denominations. It was through going to Omaha to assist a Catholic priest in a difficult court case that she made the mistake of marrying a Mohammedan.

PLAUSIBLE AND MAGNETIC.

Mahomet Dalbony was very plausible. He was handsome and magnetic and of superior intelligence. Though educated in the faith of the Prophet, he made his great appeal by declaring that he meant to become a Christian.

"He asked me to marry him many times," said the wife who is now seeking a separation, "but at first I had no idea of doing so. I was called to Omaha one day to help a priest in administering the estate of a woman who had died. We went into court in the morning and got everything settled, and that afternoon I was surprised to see Mr. Dalbony. He called at the place where I was staying, and said he intended to marry me that very day. He even had the license and had brought two friends of his to be the witnesses of the ceremony. I did not mean to marry him, but somehow I did, and it was a fatal thing for an American to do. If girls only knew what it meant to marry a man with the ideas of the East in his blood, they would never be so foolish. It is terrible!

"No, he never struck me, but the wife, you know, is the last thing to be thought of by a Syrian. When I first met him, it seemed so beautiful to me to know someone from the Holy Land, the land where Christ had lived and preached. That is why I was interested in him at first."

The unfathomable nature of the Syrian husband baffled this simple-hearted woman who loved him and followed his fortunes so faithfully. She went about with him on his trips as an astrologer as faithfully as she had walked about the streets in Kansas City on her errands of mercy. This lasted two years and then she persuaded him to settle down and go into the mining business in Denver, Colo. From there they went to Seattle, where she helped him to conduct a grocery business. THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Rev. George E. Foster blocked neatly yesterday an attempt by C. O. Wolff to secure a wholesale liquor license at No. 640 Central avenue; Wolff was convicted in court a few weeks ago and fined for selling liquor to school children.

Property owners on East Twenty-fifth street protested to the Board of Public Works yesterday that Contractor Groat is using dirt in place of gravel in grading that thoroughfare.

H. E. Huntington, general manager of the Los Angeles Railway Company, sent a communication to the Board of Education yesterday declining to sell school tickets to children attending schools located in the shoestring strip.

The San Pedro Chamber of Commerce has asked the Board of Public Works to assist in getting a right of way through the shoestring strip for a highway leading from Los Angeles to the sea.

Attorney Kase made little headway yesterday toward establishing his charges against F. A. Hartmann, executor of the Andrade estate, but a mysterious book, containing secrets of the Andrade family, was mentioned, and is to be opened for inspection.

"Olly" Watkins, land swindler, and Mrs. Florence Peters, secretary of the California Fruit Growers' Association, yesterday were charged with embezzlement in an information filed in Justice Selph's court.

After rehearsal in the Police Court of an entertaining drama, the plot of which involved an attempt to secure rent from a woman, Frank Lewin, the representative of a collection agency, was fined $5 yesterday.

AT THE CITY HALL.

PASTOR BESTS ROYAL ARCH.

EXPOSES ATTEMPT TO WIN LICENSE BY SUBTERFUGE.

Ex-Saloon-keeper Convicted of Selling Liquor to School Children Asks for Permit in Name of Countryman—Highway to Sea Right of Way Asked.

In a single-handed combat with the Royal Arch at the City Hall yesterday the Rev. George E. Foster of the Newman M. E. Church scored a signal victory. But for his intervention, C. O. Wolff, an ex-saloon-keeper, convicted of selling liquor to school children, would have secured a wholesale liquor license at 749 Central avenue.

Wolff neglected not to secure sheep's apparel in which to make the application for this license. The application is recorded in the name of P. Schmidt, a good-natured countryman of Wolff's who agreed to help a brother German back into the liquor business. Wolff formerly conducted a saloon at 2306 Central avenue on a license for a wholesale liquor store. Three months ago he was convicted of selling liquor to children attending the Twentieth street school and his license was revoked.

Later he came to the City Hall with an application for a wholesale liquor license at 640 Central avenue. Mayor Harper told him pointedly that there will be nothing doing for him in the way of a liquor license during this administration. Then it was that the Royal Arch came to his rescue; under the guidance of the political manipulators of this organization Wolff secured Schmidt to stand as the record applicant for the license.

The application from Schmidt went to the Chief of Police for investigation two weeks ago. Yesterday it came back with a favorable recommendation. In the meantime the Rev. Mr. Foster discovered that a new liquor store was about to be established in the midst of his flock, almost in the shadow of his church. With but six hours to work before the police board would meet he succeeded in unearthing the connection of Wolff with the license. Through him Mayor Harper learned that something was back of the application and he instructed Chief Kern to hold his report for one week.

This order brought a wild but ineffectual protest from the Royal Arch. The chief was ready to report and no protest had been filed; they claimed the license as the spoils of victory. The Rev. Mr. Foster lent a voice to this discussion; he said that he was ready to protest in behalf of the members of his congregation living near Seventh and Central avenue.

"That won't buy you anything," jeered the liquor men. "You can't protest until you have property signatures back of you."

"But I can go before the commission and expose the fraud that you are working on the Board and on the people of the Seventh Ward," responded the representatives of the church militant.

Catching sight of Councilman Lyon in the City Hall, the Rev. Mr Foster succeeded in enlisting him in the good work. Lyon decided that he didn't care to make his ward a place of refuge for the dregs of the liquor traffic. He went to the Mayor and to the police commissioners and told them that he is opposed to granting Wolff a license at Seventh and Central.

Wolff and Schmidt went to the City Hall together to make a last effort for the license. Therethe Mayor told them that he will not consider the application until Commissioner Woodill returns from his vacation. Woodill secured the evidence against Wolff's old place in the Sixth Ward. His vote is not likely to aid Wolff materially to locate in Lyon's bailiwick.

The Rev. Mr. Foster's rapid fire campaign against the Royal Arch won for him the admiration of the politicians who frequent the municipal building. He made a record stop on a license that was considered already granted. Now the politicians say that any time he wants the leadership of that Central avenue precinct it is his for the asking.

Next Tuesday the application will come before the Police Board for final action, but the expose of the Royal Arch is so complete that there is little danger of the commission's granting the license.

The game which the liquor men attempted to play to get Wolff back into the business is an old one here, and it has worked in almost every case. Liquor men themselves say that former commissions have been venal enough to revoke a license under popular clamor, giving their assurance secretly to the holder that they would grant him another on a dummy application.

HIGHWAY TO THE SEA.
ASK FOR RIGHT OF WAY.

The Board of Public Works, the local Chamber of Commerce and the Chamber of Commerce of San Pedro are to hold a joint session here soon to discuss with the Highway Commission the selection of a route for a highway from Los Angeles to the sea.

A route through the shoestring strip has already been inspected by the Highway Commission and by the Chamber of Commerce of San Pedro. It has met with their approval and they are ready to proceed with detailed plans, provided the city will coöperate.

Yesterday the Board of Public Works received the following communication from the Chamber of Commerce of San Pedro:

"At a meeting of the board of directors of the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce a committee was appointed to confer with your body with reference to the establishment of a highway leading from the end of Pacific avenue to a point on Westen street. All of the route will, of course, be in the shoestring strip, over which, of course, San Pedro has no jurisdiction.

"The route has been examined by the Highway Commission and we think that if the right of way is secured the commission will look favorably on the establishment of the road. Will you kindly set a date when the committee can meet with your body?"

The Board of Public Works decided to ask the local Chamber of Commerce to appoint a committee to join in the consideration of a route for the new highway through the shoestring. The first meeting will be held on a date to be fixed by the San Pedro committee.

LOCAL OPTION TEST.
TEMPLE-STREET FIGHT.

The liquor interests have thrown down the gage of battle to the W.C.T.U over the location of a wholesale liquor store on West Temple street, near Temperance Temple. F. J. Johansen applied to the police board for a liquor license yesterday at No. 500 Temple street, almost overlooking the home of the white-ribbon brigade.

Six weeks ago an application was made for a wholesale liquor license at No. 504 Temple street, in the same building as the location asked for yesterday. A detachment of white ribbons went to the City Hall from Temperance Temple, and made so vigorous a protest that the applicant took to his heels without awaiting a decision from the Board of Police Commissioners.

Securing a new tenant in the person of Johansen, the owner of the building set to work securing frontage signatures favoring a wholesale liquor license. Working under cover, he secured through his attorneys almost the entire frontage in the block. These frontage petitions were filed yesterday with the application for the license. Next Tuesday afternoon the application will come before the board on a report from Chief Kern for final action. Another protest is expected from Temperance Temple, but the opinion prevails at the City Hall that this time the liquor interests will win.

SOME ONE'S BLUNDER.
STREET AWAY OFF GRADE.

Sixth Ward property owners have declined to submit to what they term the mutilation of East Twenty-fifth street by Contractor C. E. Groat. Led by their attorney, a determined delegation went before the Board of Public Works yesterday afternoon to protest against the manner in which this street is being graded.

"The contract calls for four inches of gravel, the contractor is delivering about three inches of common dirt," asserted the attorney, "a mistake has been made in the grade and if the street is finished as started it will be so much below the other streets in that vicinity that it will form a small lake every winter. There can be no drainage. We have the figures of an engineer employed to make a special survey. They show that East Twenty-fifth street is lower than Long Beach avenue, Adams or Twenty-third street. Water will drain there and stand all winter."

Property owners on the street say that they will appeal to the courts if the Board of Public Works fails to give them relief. They say that a mistake has been made by the engineering department and that they, the property owners, are expected to stand the cost. This they decline to do. The Board of Public Works has ordered an investigation.

ALL WANT TICKETS.
SHOESTRING TRIBULATIONS.

City Attorney Hewitt has been appealed to by the residents of the shoestring to help them to get school tickets that will entitle their children to ride at reduced rates on the cars of the Los Angeles Railway Company.

Howard E. Huntington, general manager of the Los Angeles Railway Company, sent a communication to the Board of Education yesterday declining to sell tickets to children attending the following schools:

Normandie avenue, Howard, Gardena, Moneta, McKinley Home, South Park avenue, Denver avenue, Gardena High School.

Explaining the refusal of his company to issue tickets for rides to these schools, Mr. Huntington says: "The question of annexation of this territory is being litigated, and we understand will be taken into the Supreme Court for determination at a very early date. As soon as the matter is finally settled we will take the question of these schools up with you again, and arrive at a further determination regarding them.

The City Attorney says that officially the shoestring is a part of the city until the Supreme Court decides otherwise, and that its citizens are entitled to the same privileges as those of any other section of the city.

But he does not say that the city can compel the railway company to issue school tickets to the children attending the shoestring schools. The franchises held by the railway company in the shoestring were secured from the county, and it is not bound to carry school children there for even a five-cent fare. Mr. Huntington intimates in his letter, however, that if the shoestring is declared to be a part of the city, his company may make some concessions in the matter of school tickets. The company is now issuing tickets voluntarily for a number of schools that it could not be compelled to recognize, as they are in territory that was outside the city when the franchises of the company were granted.

The City Attorney said last night that the railway company is not bound, legally, to issue tickets to children attending other than public schools. There are a few exceptions to this; franchises granted during the last two years provide that tickets shall be issued to children attending "any school." All the main franchises of the railway companies stipulate "public schools" only.

"Secrets?" suggested Judge Rives, and Attorney Edwin A. Meserve thundered:

"That is exactly what I mean."

Attorney Thomas K. Kase, who has brought serious charges against F. A. Hartmann, as executor of the famous Andrade estate, hesitated in sudden embarrassment, and stammered:

"If there are secrets which the heirs would not want revealed to the public, I don't want to drag them out; but this book, which, I understand, all in the handwriting of Gen. Andrade, containing a full statement of the resources and liabilities of the estate, including attorney's fees, up to the time of his death, would be of assistance in determining whether the administration of the estate has been properly conducted."

Attorney Meserve, ignoring the covert slap in the reference to attorney fees, answered that he stood ready to have the book filed in court.

"If you want the matters it contains thrown open to every one, all right," he said. "Nobody ever has asked to see that book. Counsel for Mrs. Blinn, or any one who has a right to see it, could have done so at any time."

"Will the court make an order that I may see the book at 5 o'clock this evening?" demanded Mr. Kase.

Mr. Meserve resented this implied doubt of his veracity.

"If the court makes an order, we'll bring the book into court," he said, grimly.

Mr. Kase hastened to oppose this idea, but persisted in his effort to induce the court to make an order. Finally Mr. Meserve, after addressing a question to Mr. Hartmann on the witness stand, offered to let Mr. Kase examine the book this morning in his (Meserve's) office.

The question of the book arose suddenly, for the first time, while Attorney Kase was reading the account filed by Executor Hartmann, and objecting to item after item of expense. He came to an item of $12 a year for storage of the book in the safety deposit vaults of the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank, objected to it as an improper expense, and then proceeded to ask questions about the book, which resulted in his discomfiture.

Mrs. Guadalupe G. Blinn, widow of Gen. Guillermo Andrade, for whom Kase is acting in his opposition to the executor and the expense account, was an interested auditor while the book was discussed.

When quiet followed the stormy discussion, and the danger of the deeper Andrade secrets being revealed, had been averted, Attorney Kase continued his objections to the items of the account filed by Executor Hartmann.

"Are you interested in the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank, or own stock in it?" asked the attorney, hopefully, raising his eyes from an item of $12 a year for a safety deposit box in that institution.

"No," said Hartmann.

The attorney seemed disappointed.

"Is it necessary to have a box that costs $12 a year?" Kase demanded, fiercely.

Hartmann growled back that he thought it was. It appears that the box contains $63,000 in bonds, which the executor thought needed special protection.

Attorney Kase next took up the question of an expense of $36 for bringing Mercedes Andrade, the deaf and dumb daughter of Gen. Andrade, from San Francisco to Los Angeles a short time before the death of the general, in order that she might sign a paper allowing of the transfer of certain property. It developed, in the explanation by Meserve, that Andrade feared an attachment was to be placed upon the property, hence his haste to get it safely placed.

Kase talked about this item at some length, saying he thought the expense should be a charge against the personal estate of the dumb girl, instead of against the estate of Guillermo Andrade, but he did not succeed in making clear his reasons for thinking so.

Abandoning this point, he took up a charge of $20 as the expense of a trip by Edwin A. Meserve to San Francisco, and asked the executor, seated patiently, but frowningly, on the witness stand, if it had been necessary to send Mr. Meserve to San Francisco. Mr. Meserve explained, with emotion, that he had donated his services in San Francisco to the cause of the estate, through one entire day, receiving only half his expenses.

"Do you think I could go to San Francisco and back for $20?" he asked scornfully. "I was going any way, and the estate paid half the expense because of the work I did in its interest."

Mr. Kase began to seem discouraged. Half-heartedly, it appeared, he took up the charge that the executor had planned the sale of the property in Mexico, "to the value of more than $500,000" for $45,000, and added an objection to the approval of a bill of $5000 from Attorney Velasco and $3000 to Attorney Meserve.

Mr. Meserve then launched into a statement regarding the Mexican end of the estate, especially in its relation to the will.

It appears that under the strange will of Guillermo Andrade, this land, 120,000 acres, must not be sold till it will bring $5 an acre. After the specific bequests are paid, the balance received from the sale of the land is to be devoted to the establishment of a school.

"But the three aged men who have been appointed trustees of this fund, which as yet does not exist," said Mr. Meserve, "may die of old age, and their children die of old age, and their grandchildren grow to manhood and womanhood, before that school is built."

Meanwhile, he declared, neither the executor nor any one else has any power to sell the land, even if they wanted to.

As to the lawsuit which resulted in the $5000 and $3000 fees, he explained a law of Mexico which provides that the establishments of boundaries to a grant does not invest title to all the lands contained therein in the grantor. If a survey shows a greater number of acres than the grant provides for, the surplus, or "democies," belong to the government. Such a "democies," of 29,000 acres, had appeared in the holdings of Guillermo Andrade, and the two attorneys had convinced the Mexican authorities that the extra acres, actually numbering only 7000, were the result of a change in the meander line of the Colorado River, and, as such, could properly be claimed by the estate.

In the course of the hearing yesterday, Judge Rives took occasion to rebuke the attorneys for their asperities toward each other, saying that his court was not the place for brawls.

The hearing will be resumed this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

"OILY'S" TROUBLES.
ONE MORE BAD CHARGE.

Ollie J. Watkins, for many long weeks a resident of the County Jail, is in more trouble.

Embezzlement is the latest charge, and the complaint, filed last evening in Justice Selph's court, includes Mrs. Florence E. Peters, secretary of the fallen California Fruit Growers' Association.

The swindle concern owned a safe, a nice, big safe, in which the dollars of the unwary ones who bought imaginary orange groves were kept. Recently, since the removal of the association's leading spirits to the penal establishment on Temple street, there has been more need of dollars than a safe to keep them in. The safe itself represented quite a few dollars in possible selling value. The difficulty of arranging a sale lay in the fact that all that was left of the association was in the hands of the courts.

However, great minds override difficulties. The oily one is accused of transferring the safe to Mrs. Peters, who in turn sold it to the Atlantic and Gulf Railroad Company for the sum of $265. The indicted president of the discredited concern had guessed wrong once more, and another loop of fate's coils has been thrown about his still robust body.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.
BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

DAMAGES AWARDED. The jury in the case of B. C. Chambers against the Chicago and Rock Island Railroad Company, in which the plaintiff sought $2000 damages for the alleged breaking of three ribs, yesterday awarded $700 damages.

MORE SENSE. Because he had peculiar ideas of how a car should be run, and sought to impose them on the conductor of a Long Beach car Monday night, Scott Sense yesterday paid a fine of $25 in Justice Selph's court. Sense had declined to accept the conductor's statement that he was on a through car, and insisted that it stop at Graham station. The conductor refused, and the result was a "rough house" in which Sense got the worst of it even before a policeman on the car arrested him.

RACES CLASH. Anastasia Morreal yesterday paid a $25 fine in Justice Selph's court for stealing a sack of green corn from Chan Kin Sing at Inglewood. The Chinaman testified that the larcenist also had threatened him with a rock when he protested against the theft.

ANNULMENT ASKED. Alleging that her husband had a wife living, from whom he was not divorced at the time of her marriage to him in Golden, Colo., Mabel E. Rissmann yesterday filed suit for annulment of marriage against Edward G. Rissmann. The complaint states that Mrs. Rissmann discovered the true situation May 1, 1907, nearly five years after her marriage.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

PIAZZA DRAMA HAS AUDIENCE.

AT END OF THIRD ACT SCENE IS SHIFTED TO COURT.

Attempt to Secure Rent Causes Police Justice to Fine Collector, After Entertaining Rehearsal of Proceedings—Motorman to Be Prosecuted for Alleged Violation.

A picturesque stage setting, a heroine, a villain, the papers for the old home and a convenient tenor who came to the rescue and saved the day, interested residents near South Hope and Tenth streets yesterday afternoon. Frank Lewin attempted to collect a bill from Mrs. Mary E. Smith—to put the matter briefly.

The appearance of a patrolman put an end to the performance just as the climax to the third act was reached, and the scene was transferred to Justice Frederickson's court.

Lewin, who represented a local collection agency, was sent to Mrs. Smith's home on South Hope street to collect $25 rent. He had been there on similar errands before. From her room Mrs. Smith watched him approach. He rang the bell. Mrs. Smith looked from behind the glass door and signaled to him to depart.

Lewin sat down on the front door step and waited. Finally he knocked on the door again. His actions had begun to attract attention.

Mrs. Smith opened the door and began to argue. Lewin replied. Their voices rose and fell. It was fine for the audience. Heads began to bob out from windows.

"I'll have the money," said Lewin.

"I'll punch your head," came a voice from the porch. Yesterday in court there seemed a difference of opinion as to whether Mrs. Smith said that or whether it was a part of the lines of Lewin.

At any rate, that was the proper cue for a rescue, and a rescue came. George H. Carr, a vocal teacher, who boards at the Smith house, came along. He is tall and handsome, with a wealth of snow-white hair. The heads from neighboring windows craned farther out.

Up the steps went Carr to where Lewin was saying in a tragic voice: "Give me the money."

"Back, man, from the door," said Prof. Carr, and to the audience it seemed as if the clash of cymbals and the voices of a chorus must follow.

"Not," answered the indignant Lewin, and then added: "I want my money."

"Don't abuse the woman," said the singer.

"You darned fool," said Lewin.

"I'll punch your nose for you," said the singer.

A burst of applause came from the audience in the windows.

Then the patrolman came upon the scene.

In the Police Court the drama was reenacted and Lewin was fined $5.

Motorman Arraigned.

Frank Pinnie, an employé of the Los Angeles Railway Company, was arraigned in the Police Court yesterday on a charge of violating the distance ordinance. He is said to have driven his car to within five feet of the car in front of him, on East First street, near Main, Monday night. The ordinance provides that on the downtown streets a car must stop at least twenty feet from the car in front.

Five other motormen who had been arrested on the same charge, were released yesterday. Pinnie will be prosecuted to test the ordinance.

Woman Pincher Fined.

A. Lein, convicted of pinching women Monday afternoon, was fined $100, with the alternative of spending ninety days in jail, by Justice Frederickson yesterday.

Lein said that he had no recollection of having touched any of the thirty women whom, it is alleged, he insulted.

STILL ANOTHER COMPLAINT.

United States District Attorney at Phoenix Brings Action Against Mexican Revolutionists.

An Associated Press dispatch from Phoenix states that a complaint, sworn to by United States Dist.-Atty. J. L. B. Alexander, has been issued for Flores Magoon, Antonio J. Villareal and Liberado Rivera.

These are the Mexican revolutionists charged with conspiring with Abram Salcido, J. B. Travenio, Gabriel Rubio, T. D. Espinosas, E. Martinez, and others, to set on foot a revolution against the Mexican government. The expedition was begun at Douglas about September 1, 1906.

As the United States is plaintiff in this action, extradition will not be necessary. The defendants may stand trial either in California or Arizona. They are now in jail in this city, the St. Louis request for them having been denied, because Gov. Gillett found errors in the requisition papers.

A Competence is Within Your Reach

We have gotten up a little booklet addressed to people who want an investment for their savings that will yied them a competence. We wil send it to you if you will ask for it. It tells you that the little investment that will yield you a competence, which you have dreamed about, is within your reach; that the rich man no longer has a monopoly of the independent income-producing investments; that at last an investment has been found in a country where bananas, oranges, lemons, cocoanuts, pineapples, dates, limes and a profusion of fruits grow in abundance; where there is free transportation by water to market; where there is an abundance of free water for irrigating purposes; where there is cheap labor at 30 cents a day; where there is a rich alluvium soil, and where, best of all, you can buy an acre of land planted to bananas that will yield you an income almost from the very start, and you can pay for it on easy terms if you wish.

You can buy five acres if you like (no more than 10 to any one person) and have an investment that will yield you an independent income almost indefinitely.

Your land is planted to bananas when you buy it, and your trees are growing while you pay for the land. When you finish your payments you get a deed to your property. If you do not care to, or cannot live on it, we will care for your grove and market your fruit, making a small charge for maintenance. You get the profits.

There is nothing like this in the world except in near the big seaport of Tampico, where we have just bought a magnificent plantation of 630 acres, with one and one-half miles of clear water frontage on the beautiful Tamesi river, navigable for a distance of 135 miles.

It tells you of the exact amount of profit yielded by a one, two, three, four, five and ten-acre grove of bananas. It tells you how bananas are cultivated and everything else you will want to know about this investment.

The best acres are going fast and the price is shortly to be advanced. Investigate our proposition and you will want an acre or more of this land. Investigate it quicky and you will pay less—much less—and be much surer of the acres you want than later on. Call or write for the book, using the coupon below.

[illegible] tired and suffering little ones have often to stay for hours in the cramped offices at the Humane Society's headquarters before a more comfortable place can be found for them.

UNIVERSITY OPENS.

Enrollment of Students Largely Increased Over Last Year—Recitations Begins Tomorrow.

The University of Southern California opened on Monday for the registration of students, after having completed notable improvements about the campus and buildings. The enrollment on the first day was about 150 in excess of the first day last year, and indicates a sure increase of fifty per cent. in all departments combined, which last year reached 800 students. The larger part of the increase comes to the freshman class, owing to the registration of many high school graduates.

The first chapel exercise will be held on Thursday morning, when there will be a special address and other features marking the opening. The first recitations will also be held tomorrow. The Y.W.C.A. will hold its annual reception tomorrow afternoon, and the "stag" of the Y.M.C.A. will be held in the evening; the joint Christian Association reception will be held on Friday evening.

Instead of the educational anniversary being held this year at the annual conference, it will be held at the university, on Wednesday afternoon of next week.

President Bovard said yesterday: "Everything looks splendid for a great year." Under his management the university has gone forward by bounds, and in another year will probably reach the goal set by Dr. Bovard, when he said a year ago: "We ought to have 1200 students."

A TREACHEROUS TROUBLE.

"Every Picture Tells A Story."

The headaches and dizzy feelings that trouble so many persons are often but symptoms of kidney complaint.

Kidney diseases are very treacherous. They come on silently, gain ground rapidly, and cause thousands of deaths that could have been prevented by treatment in the beginning.

Nature gives early warnings of every disease, if you would but note and heed them. Backache, twinges of pain when stooping or lifting, headaches, faint spells and urinary disorders are among the first warnings of kidney trouble.

If these signals are unheeded, there comes a steady, dull, heavy aching in the back and loins, a noticeable weakness and loss of flesh, rheumatic attacks, weakening of the sight, irregular heart action, languor, attacks of gravel, irregular passages of the kidney secretions, sediment, painful, scalding sensation, dropsical bloating, etc.

But there is no need to suffer long. Doan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney troubles. This remedy has made a reputation for quick relief and lasting cures. It is a simple compound of pure roots and herbs that have a direct action on the kidneys. It was the secret 76 years ago of an old Quaker lady. It was given to the public by James Doan, a druggist, and is now known and recommended the whole world over.

Home cures prove the value of Doan's Kidney Pills to our readers.

Los Angeles Proof

Mrs. Mary K. Bennett, 539 San Pedro street, Los Angeles, Calif., says: "I can vouch for the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills and feel that I am well justified in doing so. Ever since a girl, I had trouble which plainly indicated weakness of the kidneys, the secretions being irregular and too frequent in action. I never took much medicine though when Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention. I was so impressed with the claims made for them that I went to The Dean Drug Co.'s store and got a box. The result of their use was entirely beneficial. They gave strength and tone to the kidneys; I felt so much better in every way and I have ever since. I am glad to acknowledge the benefit I received as it may be of help to others."

Pen Points

When a man gives his word, how can he keep it?

William J. Burns makes the wads and Heney fires them.

High finance, high pressure, high fever, high-toned funeral.

This country is just beginning to find out why God put rivers in it.

The idea is to put the Mississippi in shape to connect with the Panama Canal.

Henry Rogers played the great game and it broke him as the wind breaks a reed.

We have come to the conclusion that the Jap has been educated beyond his intellect.

Almost the busiest men in the United States from now on will be the boat builders.

This country and several others are about ready to get tired of the yawp of the Jap.

It is not the dead Moors before the walls of Casa Blanca who have surrendered.

"Dig Her Deep Through Dixie" may not be Tennysonian poetry, but it makes a dandy song.

In the race for the pessimists' cup Jim Hill and Hetty Green appear to be running neck and neck.

We may yet be sorry that we didn't dig the Owens River aqueduct so that boats could be floated on it.

What this country needs is a financier who can invent a way to make money keep up with business.

How does it come that Uncle Heine Lowenthal is not a member of the Press Humorists' Association?

In that chorus of 50,000 voices singing "Dig Her Deep Through Dixie," one poor singer will not be noticed.

The question is can a Los Angeles lawyer do with a San Francisco jury what Mr. Delmas failed to do?

What is being done to give the visiting poets an opportunity to hear our mocking birds sing in the moonlight?

Something that also may happen again is a trip by first-class steamer from Fort Benton, Mont., to New Orleans.

There are lots of engineers in the army who are eager and able to do for the Mississippi what Col. Goethals is doing at Panama.

The more frequently Mexico celebrates her independence the less she fears that an enemy will attempt to take it away from her.

The trial of Tirey L. Ford takes on a new interest since it is known that "Bogy" O'Donnell and "the Banjo-Eyed Kid" have become factors in it.

Our advice to Earl Rogers, up there among the Philistines, is to save his wind, so that he can come up strong along toward the twentieth round.

When John W. Gates said that it is easy to make a million dollars, he probably thought it unnecessary to add that it is also easy to lose it again.

While not particularly sympathizing with the object of the fight he had on his hands, we still feel like congratulating Gen. Drude. He has made good.

The Japanese are no longer a dread. They are simply a common nuisance, making an eternal noise and hopping around like a lot of hens on a hot griddle.

In many ways Henry Rogers has always been the noblest magnate of them all. He had ever the good word to say and walked on the sunny side of the street.

The doctor predicts that John D. Rockefeller will live another score of years. In the meantime the men who do his work are falling by the wayside, paralyzed.

The strange thing is not that Detective Burns has been able to place Eugene Schmitz in jail, but that something has induced the fiddler to keep his mouth shut.

While the subject of waterways is attracting so much attention the project of a ship canal from San Pedro to Los Angeles might be taken up for discussion again.

It is not to be wondered at, perhaps, that a man like John D. Rockefeller, who was smart enough to make a billion dollars, is also smart enough not to let worry get him in the solar plexus.

The strangest thing in the world to a sane mind is that a man with a hundred million dollars should worry when he loses one or two millions of so vast a sum. How can he feel the difference?

"Why are there so many gray-haired young men and women in Los Angeles?" asks a correspondent. We suppose they got tired of the East and felt that they had the same right to [illegible] here that other people have.

THE AWAKENING IS SURE TO COME.

The Times believes that this thought will be gradually borne in upon the minds of those who think at all, in the army following the lead of noisy demagogues in a senseless crusade against large holders of property and the managers of large enterprises, no matter whether they have sinned or not—this thought:

That the rage of the propertyless and the unthrifty (those who have never saved a dollar themselves) now directed against large interests in a sort of rabid fury, unless checked, will later turn against every man whose thrift and economy have enabled him to build a home or open a little bank account.

That the blind attack of the army of recklessness, profligacy, riotous living and discontent, now aimed at the big accumulators, will (unless checked) untimately strike at every form of property right, at every man or woman who, by industry, patience and saving, has piled up a little money.

That the real animus of those who are most ardently promoting an unreasoning and unreasonable rage against the men who have made great successes, is against every person, great or small, male or female, who has succeeded. The boss agitators have disregarded all the sane rules of life, are financial vagrants themselves, and they have a grudge against every neighbor who has toiled and economized and put by while they have wasted. The thrifty neighbor is a robber; he has taken from them; his should be theirs—that is the viewpoint of these apostles of unrest and revolution.

Then, what The Times says further, is that the time is coming when people of small means who have been beguiled into this indiscriminate crusade against people of large means (against possessors of large means, we make plain, who have in nowise offended) will realize that they are in the same boat.

The Times is not referring now to the prosecution of violators of the law, rich or poor, big or little; but emphasizes the fact that conscienceless newspapers and unscrupulous demagogues, of whom we have several conspicuous examples in California—some of them millionaires themselves—have taken advantage of the public feeling against rich criminals to blow a dangerous flame of abuse and persecution against men whose only offense has been to make money for themselves while making more money for the community, to build up their own estates while doing a giant's work in building up the country.

Some of these demagogues are seeking political advancement by appealing to the basest prejudices of the mob; others are merely thirsty for notoriety and are willing that any price be paid for it, so long as the cost comes not from them but out of the public (in the way of discouragement to enterprise and curtailing of industry.)

But here is the point:

Many well-meaning men who are now playing with fire will some day awaken to a consciousness of their own danger. The rage against property rights that is sweeping over the country in certain strata, unless it is checked, will not stop at the door of the millionaire. Property is property. The little shop of the cobbler is property, as well as the great establishment of the railway magnate. The savings-bank deposit of the workingman is property, as well as the factory of the mill-owner. The root of this so-called socialistic movement is antipathy to the private ownership of property, and if the besom should sweep on unimpeded—and it will not—it would wipe out every property right, whether in railway, gas plant, cottage, palace, ranch or vegetable garden.

Thousands of good men and women have been swept off their feet by the senseless clamor against the doers of big things, a clamor raised because these things which have been done are big. Without discrimination thousands of right-meaning people have been led by designing demagogues, hypocrites and anarchistic plotters to classify all great industrial leaders and enterprises in one category and condemn them all for the sole reason that they have been successful—not sorting the honest from the dishonest, the fair from the unfair.

Here is the point:

There will be a recession of this tide when misled people understand, as they will, that the movement which has carried them away threatens every doer of things, the doer of small things as well as the doer of big things. Its spirit is the spirit of undoing.

The trusts are doing their best to scare business with the bogy man.

SOME PORT STATISTICS.

Possibly some persons may remember—probably many more have forgotten—that the San Diego Onion recently had a catfit over the visit of naval officers to the beautiful bay, and concluded its gyrations with a squall of rage at San Pedro harbor, which it designated as "that thoroughly discredited fake."

According to the Onion, there is neither harbor, port nor anchorage at San Pedro, and the only evidence of activity is the beating of surf upon a desolate shore. Not for the purpose of dispelling the cherished delusion of the Onion, which is but one symptom of its incurable mental disease and if removed might be succeeded by something more pernicious, but as intrinsically valuable information, a few customhouse statistics are appended.

The official report for August shows the volume of commerce of the ports of San Diego and San Pedro, here tabulated for ready comparison:

Items—	San Diego.	San Pedro.
Arrivals	66	192
Steam vessels	57	162
Sailing vessels	9	30
Net tonnage	68,036	76,144
Passengers	2,581	18,028
Lumber (feet)	4,000,000	33,347,000

In addition to the 4,000,000 feet of lumber brought by vessels to San Diego, a log raft of 4,500,000 feet arrived, making the total receipts of lumber 8,500,000 feet, or just about one fourth the receipts at San Pedro. But in addition to the lumber measured in feet, San Pedro received 6,330,000 shingles, 390,000 shakes, 2,161,000 laths, 779 piles, 16,244 poles and 31,205 ties. During the month, 2779 tons of merchandise were exported from San Pedro. There is no record in the San Diego customhouse of tons of merchandise exported, but the value is placed at $30,139.

For a "thoroughly discredited fake," the port of San Pedro makes a fair show of commercial activity and importance. Possibly the term quoted might be applied more aptly to the esteemed Onion.

BRAWN AND BRAIN.

The papers are filled with news of the colleges these days, the fall semester having begun. But what may surprise some people with old-fashioned ideas is that the news rarely makes mention of the educational features of the colleges; all that's said having something to do with either the football teams, the rowing clubs or some other branch of athletics. One would suppose that our colleges are now given over entirely to the development of the body to the exclusion of intellectual training.

But there is no reason to believe that the mental training of the youth of the land is to be neglected. These strong, healthy boys who are sent to college are simply venting their surplus physical energies, that's all. It may be true that they are more deeply interested in the gridiron field and the tanbark track than they are in their books, but this foreshadows no calamity and there are no reasonable grounds to fear that learning is to become lost.

We shall always have our scholars, never fear. There will be a sufficient numbers of boys in the schools to prefer their books to sport. There will be those who will burn the midnight oil in the pursuit of book knowledge while the others are dreaming of victories on the campus. The athletically inclined will be forced to learn enough to carry them through to qualifications for diplomas, at least. And that's learning enough for the average man. Too much learning is not the best thing in the world for everybody. What the nation needs is men who are strong and healthy of body, of mind and of character—with intellectual accomplishments sufficient to make gentlemen of them.

COSTLY LABOR LESSON.

Now that the smoke from the San Francisco street-car strike has cleared away, an effort has been made to foot up the cost.

In one respect this is a problem as easy as the first rules in arithmetic, but in another, no mathematician or political economist will ever be able to reach a conclusion that can be accepted as a certainty.

It is known that there were lost four lives, and, as the irony of fate usually decrees, these were the lives of innocents, of those who were defending their rights as free American citizens or of those who were defending the majesty of the law against the mob of irrational labor unionites and their equally lawless sympathizers. These must forever be numbered among the martyrs to a just cause.

The simple process of addition shows the number of injured to be above two hundred and fifty, and, as in the case of those killed, the far greater number were the defenders of right and law, while the rioters, from places of safety on roofs and in dark alleys, were able to make the coward's fight and escape practically unscathed.

By computation it is found that the car company suffered the loss of over thirty-five hundred window panes broken out of the cars by the rioters. This glass can be replaced with slight cost compared with other damage done, but the great number of broken car windows demonstrates the persistency, method and extent of the mob violence perhaps as forcibly as does the number of broken heads and bruised bodies of the victims of the labor-union rioters.

From the company's books it is shown that the strikers lost in wages, during the four and a half months that they have been fighting for a principle that even might cannot make right, the sum of $600,000. This means not only the loss of so much money in dollars and cents, but that the innocent members of the families of strikers, the wives, children and other dependents, must in many instances suffer for the actual necessities of life and be compelled to accept alms, thus lowering themselves in the scale of society.

In round numbers the loss to the street railway company in damaged equipment, revenues not received and in unusual expenses incurred, is placed at $1,000,000, which is undoubtedly too low; but even if it were twice or three times that amount the company could afford the loss much better than can the employés stand the loss of their wages.

No estimate has been made as to the direct loss of merchants in trade as a result of the excitement incident to the riots, but this doubtless would run up into the millions, and indirectly their loss will be millions more.

All these losses are serious in themselves, but much more serious, as far as the city of San Francisco itself is concerned, is the loss of prestige and confidence, not only among financiers and business men, but among the people generally, and especially those who had been planning at some time in the future to make their home in the city by the Golden Gate.

There is no method by which this loss can be computed, and it is one from which there can be no hope of recovery unless the people of San Francisco remember the costly lesson and throw off the yoke of unionism.

The victory of the street railway company should be the opening wedge, and a few vigorous blows would free the Bay City from bondage.

UNCLE SAM: IT'S UP TO JOHN NOW!

[Cleveland Plain Dealer]

DEATH ON THE RAIL.

Six thousand eight hundred and eighteen killed and 97,706 injured!

What a rush this would cause for the morning papers were such an announcement shouted by the nimble newsboys. Where? When? How?

It is the list of killed and wounded on the railroads of the United States, during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1907.

Oh, is that all? And the citizen goes off to his daily vocation, somewhat impatient at having his attention momentarily diverted from more important business by such a trifle as this.

The report of the Interstate Commerce Commission for the period named shows that the casualty list of railroads last year was larger than in any previous year. The victims of railroads for the year aggregated the enormous total of 108,324. Of this number 10,618 were killed outright and the balance of nearly 100,000 were maimed. Only 359 passengers were killed last year, as against 537 passengers in the previous year. The number of passengers injured, however, increased slightly, being 10,764.

Even if this is an old story, it surely should not be a subject of indifference to the people of this country, to inquire why the proportionate number of deaths in the United States should be so enormously greater than in any other country of the world where they have railroads. While the government is going over the big financial organizations of the country with a fine tooth comb, it certainly seems as if an appropriate subject for investigation on part of the Federal authorities would be the cause, and the possible remedy, for such an immense number of deaths on the rail. And surely, if only from the low point of view of dollars and cents, the railroad companies themselves would be greatly interested in acquiring information that might enable them to diminish this massacre. We cannot, of course, altogether forget the bitter and protracted fight that the companies put up against the general introduction of automatic couplers, that have saved thousands of human lives. Still, with or without the coöperation of the railroad companies, the public certainly has a right to demand that a Federal commission should be appointed for the purpose of ascertaining why the fatalities on the American railroads are so altogether out of proportion to those that happen on the lines of other countries.

In this age of wonderful scientific achivements, in a country that outranks all others in the world in ingenious labor saving devices, we can only arrive at the conclusion that a continuance of this wholesale killing is rather due to indifference than to inability to secure a remedy. Probably, when the question is thoroughly sifted, it will be found that the chief difficulty lies in the unstable and unreliable "human equation." Still, problems of that kind have been solved before, and surely the stake at issue—thousands of human lives every year—demands the keenest study and the strongest effort.

A Plea for Joy.

We are the heirs of progress, ours is the pride of place,
We who have conquered nature, we who have conquered space!
Ours is the victor's pean, triumph without alloy;
But, sated with gold and glory, we hunger, we thirst for joy!

Back in the dusky ages men struggled and fought and fell,
Found all life's tale worth telling, enjoyed
 it passing well,
Knew not the varied splendors that our sad hearts employ,
Lacked, it may be, for comfort, but never they lacked for joy!

We who have tamed life's lions,
 have all but vanquished fate,
Find never life's wine enchanting, or waste it soon or late;
Does victory undiluted the soul's
 fresh youth destroy?
Powers of the bygone gladness, give us to taste of joy!

HOROSCOPE FOR THIS DAY.

Wednesday, September 18, 1907.

Science this day will guide your steps aright;
And fortune smiles on words you may indite.

The 261st day of the year; moon's age, 11 days. Moon is in perigee this day, and Jupiter rises in the first hour of tomorrow. Uranus is stationary in the zodiac. Mercury is in benefic aspect with the moon.

Seek advice today from men of science. Medicine, chemistry and electricity are under favoring stars. If you have pressing business afoot, use the telegraph or telephone today instead of the mails.

For ordinary business, however, letters will answer well, for the aspect of the planets favors writings. There is luck attached to all work of the pen this day, whether business or social correspondence, literary work or legal documents.

An excellent day to hire workmen of all kinds. Lucky for sending children to new schools. Good for starting on journeys, long or short, but beware of leaving something needful behind.

The opposition of the sun in Virgo with Saturn in Pisces threatens Turkey. During the coming days the Sultan is menaced by treachery from subjects and covetous governments. Before the moon dies, floods and earthquakes may be apprehended in the east of Europe.

Those whose birthdate this is are threatened with illness due to overindulgence during the next four months. They may have losses in business; but the winter will bring them profits to balance it if they keep a stout heart.

The child born today will be so quick and clever that it will presume on its powers and neglect study and business. This tendency means an unfortunate career if not checked. It should be led in youth to study the history of men who have achieved success by application in the face of adverse circumstances. If a girl, she must beware of an unfortunate marriage.

POPULAR FALLACIES.

[As seen by a pessimist.]

That it is better to let nine guilty men go free than to punish one innocent man.

That it is better that nine guilty men should each punish nine innocent men—eighty-one in all—than that the law should punish one innocent man.

That this is better logic than little geese are capable of immediately after pecking their shells.

That it is better to afford an army of lawyers a fat living defending crime than to eliminate crime.

That man has any inalienable rights whatsoever except to abide by such rules as society finds necessary to secure the greatest good for the greatest number.

That because a criminal is a single individual fighting organized society, fair play requires that he should be accorded every unfair advantage—technicalities, for instance—that the law can give.

That our overwhelmingly greater percentage of crime per capita, as compared with other nations, and their overwhelmingly greater percentage of conviction per crime as compared with us, does not overwhelmingly discredit this theory.

That when facts and theory do not agree, so much the worse for the facts.

EDWIN RUTHVEN.

These "Weapons."

In this room are stored razors, knives, matches and other death-inflicting weapons, which the inmates are always too eager to obtain.

All inmates know where these weapons are stored, as they watch every move of the attendants.

The shocking murders, and amount of blood that could be spilt in a night by even one razor in the hands of a crazed inmate, is beyond imagination.—[Reckid's Insane Asylum Shocker.

Yes, they "is," but how many shocking murders and how much blood could be "spilt in a night" by one match?

Miss Hattie Stevenson of Spokane has been selected as Queen of the carnival, to be held in connection with the interstate fair in that city.

RAMBLES IN THE LITERARY FIELD.

Frank Richardson is an English novelist who has provided some amusement by dint of joking in season and out of season about the art and mystery of wearing whiskers. There is a little more than enough of rather labored fooling on that subject in his "2835 Mayfair" (Mitchell Kennerley,) a novel of mystery, but this does not keep the book from being a source of exciting bewilderment to the reader. In the first chapter the body of an apparently murdered man is discovered. A few pages further on the body disappears, and then ensues a long struggle on the part of one of the men in the tale to clear up a problem involving another. The solution turns out to be of a somewhat repulsive character and we fear that nowhere in the book does the author approve himself a person of flawless taste; yet we are diverted by the twistings and turnings of his story and follow it appreciatively to the end.

Apropos of the fiction of mystery we may note that A. C. Fox-Davies, author of "The Mauleverer Murders," is at work upon another novel of the same sort. He will probably call it "The Duplicate Death."

In his forthcoming book on "Camping and Tramping With President Roosevelt," John Burroughs tells the story of his trip with the President to the Yellowstone Park in 1903, and describes a visit to Oyster Bay, filled with walks and talks with Mr. Roosevelt. In his account of the Yellowstone trip the author treats of the President's manner of meeting people along the route, his chats with old acquaintances of ranching days, his rides and walks in the wilderness, and his campfire conversations and story telling.

Nine persons out of ten, if asked to quote a certain saying, would promptly give it in this form—"Where the Macgregor sits there is the head of the table." According to Messrs. Henderson and Watt, authors of "Scotland of Today," it is to the Macnab that the palm must be given in this matter of sublime arrogance. He was dining with a person of importance, and of his own accord took up a comparatively retired position. Asked to go up higher he steadily refused, and, on being pressed, at last burst forth, saying, "Know, sir, that wherever the Macnab sits, there is the head of the table."

To be vanquished is a condition which has brought into existence an expressive bouquet of colloquialisms. Some of them follow: Baskated, up a tree, all in, bowled out, trumped, broken up, timbered, busted, tied up, caved in, stumped, choked off, struck of a heap, cornered, spread-eagled, cooked, snuffed out, coopered up, sewn up, done brown, sat upon, doubled up, put in his little bed, flattened out, squashed, flummoxed, pocketed, done under, graveled, knocked silly, knocked out, petered out, and so on.

"Not to care a rap" is not to care much at all, for, according to Webster, a "rapp," or "raparee," was a coin of almost infinitesimal value which circulated in Ireland in the eighteenth century. The Newark Evening News varies this derivation of the expression, as follows: By the way, if in writing to your sweetheart that you don't care a rapp if "they do say" she has red hair, for you consider it an auburn aureole, be sure to spell rapp with two p's; for it means not a rap or snap o' the finger, but an old German or Dutch coin of very small value—just as a Yankee would say: "I don't care a red cent."

Shameless Truth.

Drape me with a fig-leaf, said Prudery.

Decorate me with epaulets, said Mediocrity.

Clothe me in the robes of righteousness, said Sin.

Decorate me with the garments of innocence, said Vice.

Put sincerity's gown upon my shoulders, said Deceit.

Place the crown of fidelity on my brow, said Disloyalty.

Cover me with the draperies of love, said Lust.

Give me the staff of tolerance, said Persecution.

Adorn me with the cloak of liberty, said Tryanny.

Beautify me with the dress of duty, said Irresponsibility.

Garb me with the habiliments of humility, said Pride.

Then Truth said: "Let me be naked and unashamed."—Life.

to an end. You are mistaken. "La Tosca" has introduced a dramatic soprano superior to any Italian dramatic soprano I have ever heard. A finished artist, with a ringing voice of thrilling mezzo quality, an actress of magnetic temperament and great declamatory powers, a person of surpassing beauty—all this is Ester Ferrabini.

Alessandro Arcangeli gave us a Scarpia equal in vocal and dramatic force to the Tosca of Ferrabini. He possesses a somewhat high baritone of singularly liquid quality, but with great carrying power.

As regards productions, the unintentionally humorous ballet, and the work of the lesser principals, Mr. Metzger's review coincides generally with the opinions of the newspaper critics, already summarized in these columns.

The tenors Parola and Delli-Franci appear to have been tremendously mixed up in the minds of the San Francisco writers. One is an artist of fair ability, while the other is generally inefficient—but which is which is a matter not starightened out to date. Probably the familiar Italian habit of changing the cast and omitting to mention the alteration accounts for this.

"La Boheme," and subsequent productions which may introduce new singers, will be considered here by Mr. Metzger.

EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY.

MRS. M'FADDEN of San Francisco and her attractive young daughter, Miss Mabel McFadden, who have been enjoying a twelve months' visit in Los Angeles, and near by beach resorts, will leave next week for their home. Miss McFadden, who possesses rare beauty, is a social favorite in the northern city, and during her stay here has received much attention. She is soon to go East to continue her study of music and art.

Notable among today's events will be the wedding this evening of Miss Alice Cherry and Jess E. Stephens, which will be solemnized in the Pico Heights Congregational Church, Rev. J. M. Schaefle officiating. The bride, who is very accomplished and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Cherry, recently of Chicago, will be attired in a pretty creation of cream net, made Princess effect, and trimmed with baby Irish lace. She will carry a shower of lilies of the valley, and will wear a cluster of the same blossoms in her hair. The groom is vice-president of the Title Abstract and Trust Company. At the conclusion of their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Stephens will make their home at No. 2018 West Thirtieth street, where they will receive their friends after October 1.

Hull-Russell Wedding.

Miss Reba May Hull and Hubbard Searle Russell were married last evening at the Vincent Methodist Episcopal Church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. B. C. Cory, pastor of the church. Miss Hull was gowned in white net over silk, and carried a shower bouquet of Bride roses. The church was decorated with hanging baskets of ferns and white carnations. Soft music was played during the ceremony. After a trip through the northern part of the State, Mr. and Mrs. Russell will receive their friends at Rancho el Conejo, Ventura county.

Married at Bride's Home.

Miss D. Marutian and H. Enovkian were recently married at the home of the bride's parents. Miss Marutian wore a gown of white silk, trimmed with satin and lace. The matron of honor, Mrs. D. Stephens, was attired in white chiffon taffeta.

Lindenfeld-Andreas.

Miss Elisabeth Lindenfeld and Vincent Andreas, assistant cashier of the City National Bank of El Paso, Tex., were married yesterday morning at St. Joseph's Church. The officiating clergymen were Rev. Raphael Fuhr and Rev. Edward Lunney. A special feature was the musical programme, which included sacred hymns, sung by the church choir; a vocal solo, "Ave Maria," by Miss Mathilda Singer, and instrumental numbers by Messrs. L. Opid and Wismer. The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lindenfeld of No. 1224 Santee street, was attired in an imported gown of white hand-made lace, over taffeta and silk mull, made en train, and trimmed with Valenciennes lace. She carried a shower of bride roses and lilies of the valley. Her lace veil was fastened with a diamond brooch, the gift of the groom. The bride's sister, Mrs. Rose Nettleton, who has just returned from a European trip, assisted as matron of honor. She wore a cream silk Battenberg gown over mull, and carried a cluster of Cecil Bruner roses. The maids, who were attired in cream mousseline de soie, included the Miss Leah Starin and Miss Helen Johnston. They both carried arm bouquets of pink roses. Little Ramona Block, a niece of the bride, assisted as flower girl. She wore a childish frock of white point d'esprite over taffeta, and carried a basket of pink rose buds. The best man was Bemus Phelps. Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents for relatives and members of the bridal party. Their wedding trip will include a tour through Southern California. The young people will make their home in El Paso, where the groom's father has built and completely furnished a beautiful home for them.

Trip in Motor Car.

Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Peyton, their attractive daughter, Miss Edna Peyton, and their house guests, the Misses Helen and Louise Jones of Newark, O., will leave today in their motor car for a trip to their ranch at Lordsburg. They will remain there two or three days.

K.B.H. Girls.

The K. B. H. girls of the Central Presbyterian Church entertained recently in honor of the Baraca boys. The affair was given at the home of their teacher, Mrs. F. Matthews. Games and music were enjoyed during the evening. A pretty color scheme of red and green was carried out in the decorations, red geraniums and greenery being combined.

Afternoon Reception.

Mrs. George E. Adams of No. 2307 Pasadena avenue will entertain this afternoon with a reception.

Sunday-school Reception.

The home department of the First Lutheran Sunday-school held its second annual reception recently at the home of Mrs. J. S. Cullen, No. 1722 Roosevelt avenue. The home was aglow with the department colors, lavender and white and the refreshments also carried out the color scheme. A musical programme was rendered during the evening.

Announces Wedding.

Announcement is made of the wedding of Miss Willie McKengee of Friars Point, Miss., and William Kilgore of Los Angeles. The ceremony took place Monday evening in this city, Rev. J. J. Wilkins, pastor of St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral, officiating. The bride has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Plowman of No. 1640 Shatto street. At the conclusion of a honeymoon trip to San Diego they will be at home to their friends at No. 1640 Shatto street.

Pi Beta Phi.

The members of the Los Angeles Alumnae Club, Pi Beta Phi, were guests yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wilfred C. Lewis of No. 2887 Roxbury street. The home was fresh with pink roses and asparagus plumosis

A Home Drink

After the fatigue of the day's work—after the dinner is over and you sit down for a comfortable evening at home, a bottle of Pabst Blue Ribbon will add to your enjoyment, and aid your digestion.

Pabst Blue Ribbon
The Beer of Quality
is brewed from Pabst Famous Eight-Day Malt, which contains all of the nourishing, wholesome, food properties of barley-grain in predigested form. These properties, together with the tonic quality of the choicest hops, give nourishment and tone to the system. The very small percentage of alcohol (less than 3½%) is a mild stimulant that prompts the stomach to do its best work.

CHAPTER XVII.

FATHER AND DAUGHTER.

Richard Gessner returned to Hampstead on the Friday in Ascot week, and upon the following morning Anna and Alban came back from Henley. They said little of their adventures there, save to tell of quiet days upon sunny waters; nor did the shrewdest questioning add one iota to the tale. Indeed, Gessner's habitual curiosity appeared, for the time being, to have deserted him, and they found him affable and good-humored, almost to the point of wonder.

It had been a very long time, as Anna declared, since anything of this kind had shed light upon the commonly gloomy atmosphere of "Five Gables." For weeks past Gessner had lived as a man who carried a secret which he dared to confess to none. Night or day made no difference to him. He lived apart, seeing many strangers in his study and rarely visiting the great bank in Lombard street, where so many fortunes lay. To Alban he was the same mysterious, occasionally gracious figure which had first welcomed him to the magnificent hospitality of his house. There were days when he appeared to throw all restraint aside and really to desire this lad's affection as though he had been his own son—other days when he shrank from him, afraid to speak lest he should name him the author of his vast misfortunes. And now, as it were in an instant, he had cast both restraint and fear aside, put on his ancient bonhomie and given full rein to that natural affection of which he was very capable. Even the servants remarked a change so welcome and so manifest.

Let it be written down as foreordained in the story of this unhappy house, that in like measure as the father recovered his self-possession, so, as swiftly, had the daughter journeyed to the confines of tragedy and learned there some of those deeper lessons which the world is ever ready to teach. Anna returned from Henley so greatly changed that her altered appearance rarely escaped remark. Defiant, reckless, almost hysterical, her unnatural gayety could not cloak her anxiety nor all her artifice disguise it. If she had told the truth, it would have been to admit a position, not only of humiliation, but of danger. A whim, by which she would have amused herself, had created a situation from which she could not escape. She loved Alban and had not won his love. The subtle antagonist against whom she played had turned her weapons adroitly and caught her in the deadly meshes of his fatal net. Not for an instant since she stood upon the lawn at Ascot and witnessed the defeat of her great horse, Lodestar, had she ceased to tell herself that the world pointed the finger at her, and held up her name to scorn. "They say that I cheated them," she would tell herself, and that estimate of the common judgment was entirely true.

It had been a great race, upon a brilliant day of summer. Alban had accompanied her to the enclosure and feasted his eyes upon the rainbow scene, so amazing in its beauty, so bewildering in its glow of color that it stood, to his untrained imagination, for the whole glory of the world. Of the horses or their meaning he knew nothing at all. This picture of radiant women, laughing, feasting, flirting at the heart of a natural forest; the vast concourse of spectators—the thousand hues of color flashing in the sunshine, the stands, the music, the royal procession, the superbly caparisoned horses, the State carriages—what a spectacle it was, how far surpassing all that he had been led to expect of money and its kingdom. Let Anna move excitedly amid the throng, laughing with this man, changing wit with another—he was content just to watch the people, to reflect upon their happy lives, it may be to ask himself what justification they had when the children were wanting bread and great hosts of the destitute lay encamped beyond the pale. Such philosophy, to be sure, had but a short shrift on such a day. The intoxication of the scene quickly ran hot in his veins, and he surrendered to it willingly. These were hours to live, precious every one of them—and who would not worship the gold which brought them, who would not turn to it as to the lodestar of desire?

And then the race! Anna had talked of nothing else since they set out in the motor to drive over to the course. Her anger against Willy Forrest appeared to be forgotten for the time being—he, on his part, eyeing Alban askance, but making no open complaint against him, met her in the paddock and repeated his assurances that Lodestar could not lose.

"They run him down to evens, Anna," he said, "and precious lucky we were to get the price we did. There'll be some howls tonight, but what's that to us? Are we a philanthropic society, do we live to endow the multitude? Not much, by no means, oh, dear, no. We live to make an honest bit—and we'll make it today, if we ever did. You go easy and don't butt in. I've laid all that can be got at the price, and the rest's best in your pocket. You'll want a bit for the other races—eh, what? You didn't come here to knit stockings, now, did you, Anna?"

She laughed with him and returned to see the race. Her excitement gave her a superb color, heightened her natural beauty and turned many admiring eyes upon her. To Alban she whispered that she was going to make a fortune, and he watched her curiously, almost afraid for himself and for her. When the great thrill passed over the stands and "they're off" echoed almost as a sound of distant thunder, he crept closer to her as though to share the excitement of which she was mistress. The specks upon the green were nothing to him—those dots of color moving swiftly across the scene, how odd to think that they might bring riches or beggary in their train! This he knew to be the stern fact, and when men began to shout hoarsely, to press together and crane their necks, when that very torrent of sound which named the distance arose, he looked again at Anna and saw that she was smiling." "She has won," he said, "she will be happy tonight."

The horses passed the post in a cluster.

The horses passed the post in a cluster. Alban, unaccustomed to the objects of a race course, had not an eye so well trained that he could readily distinguish the colors or locate with certainty the position of the "pink—green sleeves—white cap"—the racing jacket of "Count Donato," as Anna was known to the Jockey Club. He could make out nothing more than a kaleidoscope of color changing swiftly upon a verdant arena, this and an unbroken line of people stretching away to the very confines of the woodlands and a rampart wall of stands and boxes and tents. For him there were no niceties of effort and of counter-effort. The jockeys appeared to be so many little monkeys clinging to the necks of wild chargers who rolled in their distress as though to shake off the imps tormenting them. The roar of voices affrighted him—he could not understand that lust of gain which provoked the mad outcry, the sudden forgetfulness of self and dignity and environment, the absolute surrender to the desire of victory. Nor was the succeeding silence less mysterious. It came as the hush in an interval of tempests. The crowd drew back from the railings and moved about as quietly as though nothing of any consequence had happened. Anna herself, smiling still, stood just where she was; but her back was now toward the winning-post and she seemed to have forgotten its existence.

"Do you know," she said very slowly, "my horse has lost."

"What does that mean?" Alban asked with real earnestness.

She laughed again, looking about her a little wildly as though to read something of the story upon other faces.

UNIONS' VICTIM WRITES.

San Francisco Merchant Describes Impossible Conditions in North—He Praises Local Brothers' Spunk.

A San Francisco merchant, who has sustained large losses through the repeated strikes in that city, has written a letter to the secretary of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association of this city, congratulating the association upon its stand against labor unions and expressing the hope that the $100,000 "peace fund" will be speedily raised. The letter continues:

"I glory in your spunk, and hope to hear of your success in raising the necessary amount. It will prove a good investment for every merchant and manufacturer who subscribes. It is easier and cheaper to break up the unions and run your own business than it is to have the labor-union bosses dictating to you all the time.

"During our car strike, which has been on since May, if we had taken steps similar to the action of your organization, things would have been different. We would have soon had things running smoothly. Even if every merchant was obliged to contribute a couple of thousand of dollars to a special fund, it would have proven a good investment. I have lost at least $10,000 since the strike began. I employ a number of people, who are nearly all union men. They certainly have made my life a burden. I would gladly sell out for 75 cents on a dollar, if I could do so.

"I know of a certain store here that was boycotted because one of the saleswomen rode on a street car. The firm was obliged to discharge her, and it paid the unions $500 before it could do business without interference.

"Do you call this free America? It could not be worse in Russia. If I had not already sustained such heavy losses in this city, I would be glad to subscribe $300 or so to your defense fund. As it is I give you my best wishes for your success and industrial freedom."

Sketched from life for Wood Bros.

"No Clothing Fits Like Ours"

Not the Common Kind

Every Suit a Worthy Exponent of the Best in Modern Tailorcraft

Wood Bros.' hand tailored clothes appeal to good taste. They represent the best of the reigning fabrics and styles. They are never loud or coarse in design or cut. They are conspicuous for dignity and refinement. They are not common. They are made expressly to our order by artistic designers and expert tailors. They are not a part of the wholesale output of large factories. Individual choice and preference find satisfactory expression in selecting from our lines. The transient patron realizes the advantages possessed by this exclusive store and becomes a steady customer. Ordinary ready-made clothing fails to satisfy him. The best of merchant tailoring could not please him more.

PLEADS FOR WATER.

TAKES RIVERS AS HIS THEME.

Expert Delivers Talk Before Local Engineer Body.

Says Navigable Streams Will Solve Rate Problem.

Urges That California Join Great Movement.

John A. Fox, special director of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, was the guest last night at a banquet given by the Engineers and Architects' Association at the Hollenbeck Café. Sixty engineers were present, and the talk was all along the lines of river and harbor improvements. Mr. Fox and Capt. Amos A. Fries delivered the principal addresses. Lieut.-Gen. Adna R. Chaffee was one of the guests, but did not deliver a talk.

Capt. Fries presided, and introduced Mr. Fox. The speaker explained his mission in coming to the Pacific Coast, and told what is being accomplished and what it is hoped to accomplish in the way of improving the condition of the harbors and navigable rivers of America.

"Our Congress is striving to bring the nation to the realization of the fact that water transportation is only one-sixth as costly as transportation by rail," he said. "Once this fact is generally appreciated and our rivers are put into condition to handle freight traffic, and all talk of railroad rate legislation will be a thing of the past. There will be no need for any talk of government ownership and the question of freight tariffs will answer itself.

"But in order to accomplish this end it will be necessary to develop a complete system of waterways. This the congress hopes to bring about. It hopes to have our magnificent waterways considered from a national standpoint, and put into such condition as will make it possible to handle the great body of freight that must be moved from one part of the country to another. It seeks to show the manufacturer located on the sea coast that improved streams a thousand miles inland mean cheaper coal, cheaper cotton and cheaper wheat, because they mean cheaper transportation.

"Once these facts are realized and progress will be easy. But a campaign of education must be waged before anything can be accomplished.

"The National Rivers and Harbors Congress is an organization composed of the various Chambers of Commerce, Boards of Trade and other like civic organizations, which are interested in having the waterways of the country developed. Its president is the Hon. Joseph E. Ransdell, M.C., member of the Rivers and Harbors Committee of Congress, while three other members of that committee are numbered among its members.

"The congress indorses no particular project, but it is working for the speedy completion of all projects which have been pronounced worthy by a competent board of engineers.

"A national congress will be held at Washington on December 4, 5 and 6. We expect to have 3000 people in attendance, gathered from all parts of the United States. The congress will be national in every respect, and it was partly to induce California to send representatives that I made my trip to the Pacific Coast.

"The object of the convention will be to urge upon Congress the necessity for taking action and the Executive Committee is anxious that the Pacific Coast shall be well represented. I delivered a talk before the National Irrigation Congress at Sacramento. That body placed the seal of its approval upon the Rivers and Harbors Congress work and voted to send fifteen delegates to participate in the deliberations to be held in December.

"This country should spend from $50,000,000 to $80,000,000 annually during the next ten years for river and harbor improvements. The result would be the greatest thing possible for the nation."

Capt. Fries took San Pedro harbor as the topic of his address. Said he:

"San Pedro harbor should be dredged to a depth of thirty feet instead of twenty-five. All things being equal the harbor having the greatest depth will have the advantage over the shallower one. The larger ships of the Mongolia class would be unable to enter a twenty-five-foot harbor.

"The breakwater should, I believe, be extended clear in to shore. There are perhaps six days in the year when the heavy sea makes complete protection necessary and, if the harbor is dredged to the thirty-foot depth, it will be essential to insure the complete safety of all craft that may take refuge therein. I am firmly convinced that the greater depth is desirable and I believe that it should be worked for."

At the close of Capt. Fries' talk there was a general discussion of the plans for the improvement of San Pedro harbor and a resolution was drafted asking that the harbor be dredged down to thirty feet and furthermore that the breakwater be extended to land. A copy of the resolution will be sent to each Senator and Representative in Congress with the request that it be given careful consideration and an effort made to secure the ordering of the deeper dredging.

Mr. Fox will go to San Pedro, Ocean Park and Long Beach this morning to look over the ground. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon he will address the Chamber of Commerce on the subject, "Rivers and Harbors." This evening he will start for San Diego, where he will deliver an address before returning East.

Warm Welcome Waiting.

"I am sorry for you," said a tender-hearted old lady, visiting a convict prison, to one of the prisoners. "I suppose you'll be thankful when the time comes for you to leave this dreadful place?"

"No," returned the man. "I'd a sight rather stop where I am!"

"How strange," said the visitor to the warder, as she turned away. "I had no idea the prisoners were so contented. What was the poor man's offense?" she continued.

"'E were a bit too absent-minded, marm," replied the warder, with a grin.

"Absent-minded?" exclaimed the astonished lady.

"Yes, marm," explained the official. "'E kep' forgettin' as 'ow 'e were a married man. And 'es got five wives a-waiting fur 'im outside."—[Smith's Weekly.

MAGNETIC SYRIAN.

year ago last July they sold their interests in Seattle, planning to come to Los Angeles, where Mrs. Dalbony has a sister, Mrs. J. W. McDonald, as well as a number of good friends.

Mrs. Dalbony came here with her mother and her husband was to follow, but he has never appeared.

He has never written to his wife a line, who, after many months, located him in Montana.

The charges against him in the petition for divorce are desertion and non-support, but a great deal lies behind those simple words. A world of suffering has pushed this shrinking woman into court.

A light dawned on the interviewer when Mrs. Dalbony reluctantly whispered: "You know, if a woman even smiles in the presence of a man who is not her husband, a Syrian will set her down on a par with low women, and in wild fits of temper will accuse her of unspeakable things."

Mrs. Dalbony is a member of the Women of Woodcraft, and is known all over the country in fraternal circles. She has a brother in the Philippines who is an army officer, and who expects to be in Los Angeles before the case comes to trial. She also has sisters in Montana who supply all her material needs while she devotes herself to the care of her helpless mother.

Dalbony, being away, could not be seen, but his friends say he would tell a very different story than that his wife relates.

ORDNANCE FOR JAPAN.

Krupp Gun Works Now Building Many Twelve-inch Cannon, While Chinese Buy Old Ones.

The Krupp works at Essen, Germany are building for Japan about thirty twelve-inch guns for use on board battleships, and they are continuing the fulfillment of a contract which was made, according to the Washington Star, soon after the war with Russia ended, for reëquipping the Japanese field artillery.

Confirmation has been obtained of the statement that Japan only placed an order for twelve-inch guns with the Krupps because the British works were filled with orders three years ahead for guns of this caliber.

The Japanese, before contracting with the Krupp works, consulted with the British government on the subject.

Japan is selling her old field artillery to the Chinese Viceroys.

The Krupps are sending the guns to Japan in the rough, bored out but not finished. The guns will be completed and mounted in the Japanese arsenals. The Krupp works are understood to be making more out of the contract than if the guns were delivered completed.

There are several Japanese officers stationed in Germany, but their presence is due to inspection of the field artillery only. The reports circulating abroad that the Krupp works are engaged on enormous orders for war material placed by Japan recently are said to be incorrect.

IMMUNE.

CANNOT TOUCH THE ICE MAN.

Short-weight Frigidity Not Within Law's Pale.

New Ordinance Is Needed to Remedy the Evil.

Never a Prosecution Here of Scale Jugglers.

The ice man is above the law.

Late last night City Attorney Hewitt sent back to Mayor Harper the report of the Sealer of Weights and Measures on the systematic robberies of the ice men through short-weight deliveries. He recommends, not the prosecution of the offenders, but the passage of an ordinance making it a misdemeanor to sell or deliver short-weight packages or parcels.

Short-weight delivery is named a misdemaenor in the Penal Code, but the City Attorney says the statute is so worded that it would be extremely difficult to secure a conviction on the evidence, furnished by the Sealer of Weights and Measures.

"The Times has done a good work in exposing the criminal practice of the ice men," said Mr. Hewitt last night. "If it were impossible to secure the passage of a new ordinance providing a penalty for specific short-weight deliveries, such as those practiced by the ice men, I should proceed under the present statute.

"They have been guilty of obtaining money under false pretenses. The companies cannot escape equal responsibility with the men on the wagons, although it has not been shown that the companies profited by the thefts of the drivers and helpers.

"I shall coöperate gaidly with the Mayor and the inspectors in breaking up this practice of delivering short weights. But to make this work effective we should have a specific ordinance that will cover the deliveries made by the ice and fuel men."

NEVER PROSECUTED.

The exposé of the ice men has brought to light the fact that there has never been a prosecution here for delivering short weight. In the past the ice men and the fuel men have operated with impunity; apparently they were aware that they were above the law.

Six months ago an employé of a local coal merchant confessed under the fervor of a religious revival that his employer had been sending out short-weight coal all winter. His conscience pained him like an aching tooth by reason of the part he had taken in delivering the coal.

The elders called on the coal merchant, who was a member of the same church, and secured from him a promise to make restitution to all those of the congregation who had received the short-weight sacks.

Los Angeles is the only large city in the country where citizens are compelled to receive their ice on faith; in all others a city ordinance requires that ice men shall carry scales on their wagon. Here the ice men makes no pretense at weighing the chunks.

The red tape of the Penal Code has tied the hands of the householder, placing him at the mercy of the ice and fuel bandits. Some of these drive ice wagons in the summer and coal wagons in winter. They are just as adept at producing two sacks of coal where but one stood before, as they are in cutting three 30-pound slices from a single 100-pound chunk of ice.

GOT NAMES MIXED.

In telling of the experience of William Frimmersdorff of the Pacific Electric Grill with the ice man in yesterday's Times, an unintentional wrong was done the Merchants' Ice and Coal Storage Company.

Mr. Frimmersdorff says now that this company has not delivered ice to him since last February. The Los Angeles Ice and Cold Storage Company supplied him with ice during July and August; it is this company that he charges with fraudulently doubling his bills. Frimmersdorff got the names confused in examining bills of both companies.

"I want to stand by every word " said, as published in The Times Tuesday morning," said Mr. Frimmersdorff last night, "but it should apply to the Los Angeles Ice and Cold Storage Company."

HEBREWS' RIGID FAST ON DAY OF ATONEMENT.

Jews in their prayer shawls celebrating Yom Kippur.

The solemn observance of Yom Kippur, the Hebrew Day of Atonement, began last night at sundown, and will continue for twenty-four hours, terminating at sundown this evening. During this time nothing will pass the lips of the faithful Hebrew.

Think what that broad statement means, for he interprets it literally. He will eat nothing, drink nothing, and will not so much as wash his mouth or brush his teeth. The entire day, beginning early this morning and ending with the closing of the day, will be spent in the synagogues. There will be sermons by the rabbi, solemn music, and the reading of scripture, but there will be long periods when all will sit quiet and meditate. The day will end with a feast.

In Temple B'nai B'rith, Ninth and Hope streets, Rabbi S. Hecht will preach at 7:30 and 9:30 this morning. During the day the "Anodah" will be read, giving a description of the service of the Atonement in the temple, and the Book of Jonah will also be read in the presence of the congregation.

Rabbi Isidore Myers, in charge of the Sinai congregation, will preach in Simpson Auditorium at 7:30 this morning, which will be followed by other services throughout the day. He will be assisted by Cantor Shoyeson.

The day will be observed in the same way by the congregation Beth Israel in the synagogue at Temple and Olive streets.

Danger from Asiatic Migration.

MONGOLS AND TURKS THE THREATENING RACES—THE "BARBAROUS AND UPSTART" POWER.

By J. M. Scanland.

FRONTING the Pacific Coast of the United States is an immense horde of barbarians—a menace to Christianity and to civilization. A survey of the population and the area of the four quarters of the globe will better illustrate the impending danger from the irruption of races.

The yellow, or brown, race of Asia is estimated at 650,000,000—nearly one-half of the population of the world, which is estimated at 1,400,000,000. They occupy 14,000,000 square miles of territory—nearly one-fourth of the land surface of the globe.

The division known as China has a population of about 430,000,000—nearly one-third of the inhabitants of the world. Japan, a greater menace, has a population of 50,000,000, and, should that upstart country dominate China, as it is seeking to do, the United States will, sooner or later, have one-third the population of the world to contend against. China, so long inert, is now awaking from her sleep of centuries, and should these Asiatics migrate in large numbers, as is their custom, they would soon overpower the United States from the very superiority in numbers.

Japan, with its 50,000,000 population, and area of 161,000 square miles (including Formosa,) not only seeks to be the dominating element in China, but is the disturbing element wherever these yellow "Ishmaelites" are found, especially in the United States and in its island possessions—the Philippines and Hawaii. If we include Korea, which Japan is now plundering, with the consent of the civilized world, that barbarous, upstart power will have an additional population of 10,000,000, and a greater area of 82,000 square miles.

The density of population on the Island of Japan is 250 to the square mile, greater than that of any other country in the world. Only about one-third of the area of the island is adaptable to cultivation. Hence the desire of the Japanese for more territory.

The density of the population of Asia, inhabited by the yellow race, is about sixty to the square mile. An immense area of Asia is uninhabitable, and the Chinese also desire new pastures. For a decade the Japanese have been swarming into the Pacific islands, and for half a century the Chinese have been migrating to California. The exclusion law of a quarter of a century ago partly stopped the Chinese invasion, which numbered about 200,000, and now numbers only about 100,000. Then, the Japanese began to swarm in, and now there are more of these pests in the United States than there are Chinese, and they work cheaper, and are less reliable. Within the past few years the Japanese have also been swarming into Canada and into Mexico, and are stirring up trouble there, also.

OUR MISTAKES.

We now see that we made mistakes when we "battered down the Chinese wall" and opened the door of Japan with cannon balls. We have put up a wall against the Chinese, and are trying to close the door against the wily Jap, in whom we are warming a viper. Japan dominates China, and was the instigator of the boycott of American goods by China. Unless this yellow wave is kept back, this country will be overrun, as was Europe, with barbarians, and civilization will again become extinct.

Facing this immense horde of restless Asiatics, is about one-seventh their number. That is, the United States proper has a population of about 77,000,000, with an area of 3,692,000 square miles. Including our possessions, the population is 94,000,000, and the total area is 3,800,000 square miles. The density of the population of the United States is only eighteen to the square mile. This country being more sparsely settled than the European countries, naturally attracts the attention of the Asiatics. The Pacific Coast is especially attractive to them as affording more room than any other section of this country. Thus we have a population of 94,000,000, facing 450,000,000 Asiatics. Occupying the other parts of our continent are Mexico, with a population of 12,000,000, and an area of 800,000 square miles, and Canada, with a population of 5,500,000, and an area of 3,370,000 square miles. It is to these three countries, and the North American continent, that the Asiatics are migrating, and whose labor, social and political conditions are most seriously threatened.

NORTH AMERICAN RESOURCES.

The total population of North America is about 107,000,000, with an area of 8,569,000 square miles. The density of population is about thirteen to the square mile, as against sixty per square mile of Asia.

Counting the two other Americas, we have: Central America, with a population of 3,167,000, and an area of 181,130 miles. That is, this was the estimate after the last revolution, and it is not believed that there has been a decrease of population since.

South America has a population of 36,420,000, and an area of 6,837,000 square miles—nearly twice the size of the United States, and its colonies, and about 40 per cent. of its population. Both Central and South America are being invaded by the Asiatics, but these fields are not as inviting as North America; the United States, especially. South America has plenty room, however, as the population averages only six to the square mile.

EUROPE SAFE.

Europe is not seriously threatened by the yellow wave, as those countries have little room to spare, the population being 380,000,000, with 3,555,000 square miles. The density of population is 106 per square mile.

Australasia has a population of 470,000, and an area of 3,288,000 square miles, being about 14 to the square mile.

There is ample room in the Polar regions, but the Asiatics have no taste for that cold country. It has an immense area of nearly 5,000,000 square miles, and a population of only 300,000, or about seven to the square mile.

There is also a great opening on the near-by continent of Africa, for the Asiatics, which has an area of 11,500,000 square miles, and a population of 150,000,000, being about eleven to the square mile.

It is North America that is threatened by the Asiatics, and they not only threaten our territory, but will contend for the mastery of the Pacific Ocean—an empire of water as large as the land surface of the world and twice the area of the Atlantic Ocean.

CRIMINAL NEGLECT.

That the Pacific Coast of the United States should so long remain unprotected by a fleet, and practically without harbor defences, is a criminal neglect of duty on the part of the authorities. We permit a nation of half the number of our population, and not one-twentieth of the volume of our resources, to practically dominate this vast water area—as large as the land surface of the world—and which commands the North American continent.

China has a population of 432,000,000—nearly one-fourth that of the entire world, and an area of 4,270,000 square miles. Should this immense mass become restless, and join Japan in its presumptuous invasion of America, this country would be over-run as Russia was by the Mongols in the thirteenth century. For more than two centuries they occupied the greater part of Russia's territory, and that country nearly lost its national existence in its long and bloody contest with the barbarian invaders. At the same time Spain was engaged in fighting the invading Moors, who occupied the entire country, with the exception of a few provinces in the northern mountain fastnesses. Thus, was the Christian world invaded on two sides by the Mongol and the Moor. It was a war on the one hand for civilization, Christianity, and national existence, and on the other for Orientalism and the conquest of territory. Finally Russia hurled back the Mongol hordes and saved Europe from devastation, and Europe stood by and witnessed and sanctioned the overthrow of Russia by Japan.

WAR FOR THE CROSS.

Russia advanced, and now contains a population of 143,000,000, or 17 per cent. of the world, and possesses an area of 9,000,000 square miles—one-sixth the area of the globe. Only for the unfortunate war with Japan, the Bear would have grown stronger. And this war, as the long struggle against the Mongols, was also a war for Christianity, for wherever the Mongol plants his foot, Paganism supplants Christianity. And, Japan was assisted by the civilized and Christian countries of America and England, without which financial aid Japan would have failed.

Unlike Russia, Spain began to decline, mainly owing to its greed for gold, and oppression of its colonies. That once mighty empire has perhaps made its last fight for Christianity, and it is doubtful if it could expel the Moor were he to cross over and again, occupy his mosques and palaces. Spain's once vast empire has been reduced to 200,000 square miles, and a population of 19,000,000. Its African and islands possessions number about 500,000.

The Turkish Empire, another dangerous power to civilization, contains a population of 40,000,000, and an area of 1,622,000 square miles. The population of Turkey in Europe is 6,130,000, and the area is 650,000 square miles. Turkey has a population of 17,000,000 in Asia, and an area of 700,000 square miles. This makes a total population of 63,000,000, and a total area of 2,487,000 square miles.

For centuries the Turks were a menace to Europe and to Christianity, until Constantinople fell in 1453. The capture of Rhodes, Cyprus, and the isles of Greece, owned by Venice, opened the way to Dalmatia, to Italy, and both banks of the Danube. Spain and Venice overwhelmed the invaders at Lepanto—one of the great, decisive battles of the world. Since then, however, these barbarians have made four irruptions through the center of Europe. The followers of the Crescent but await the signal from their brethren, the Mongols and the Japanese, to join in a general invasion of America. Their aim now, as then, is to reign over the Christian world.

No other oriental power is considered as great a menace to civilization. It is mainly the Mongoloids and the Turks that need be kept back. Egypt, India, and Africa, are now well under the "sphere of influence" of Britain and European powers. "Dying" Egypt, a land of romance, history, and the seat of a civilization that extends back to mythology, is under the paws of the British lion, and that grasp is tightening. That once immense empire is now reduced in area to 400,000 square miles, with a population of 10,000,000.

In like manner, Africa was divided among the European powers, losing an area of 3,100,00[illegible] square miles, and a population of 11[illegible],000. Abyssinia may soon become European, and then there will remain of this once great empire of Hannibal, only Liberia and the Sahara Desert, wihch no peoples seem to desire.

Thus, we see the new world threatened by the old, and the most uncivilized of all peoples. This yellow avalanche should be held back, else this continent will be engulfed and civilization blotted out. A century is a short time in the history of a nation, and within that time the yellow race may dominate the world, unless checked now in their migrations. It is plain to the ordinary thinker that the yellow race is a menace to the new world. They would turn back civilization beyond the Middle Ages—even to their own barbarism of thousands of years ago, and from which they have not advanced—save in pretence. Barbarians they were, barbarians they are and will so remain. It seems that this young republic, the freest government in the world, is destined to be attacked by yellow vandals. The Pacific Coast will be the battlefield for the empire of the world.

HOPE FOR OLD ORCHARDS.

Ohio Experiment Station Expert Sends Department of Agriculture a Recipe for Revivifying.

F. H. Ballou of the Ohio experiment station maintains in a report to the Department of Agriculture that old, neglected orchards which have been overgrown with weeds and brambles and have become not only worthless but a menace to new orchards, may be "renewed" so that they may be a valuable source of fruit, especially while new orchards are coming into bearing.

Mr. Ballou explains at the outset that "renewal is a reversal of the generally prevailing idea of 'pruning up' old trees. It is distinctly a process of 'pruning down.'"

"The type of trees with which renewal is not practicable is that type whose heads have been formed at an extreme height from the ground, and those naked branches, from that elevated point of divergence, extend many more feet upward and outward, with no intervening smaller branches," says Mr. Ballou. "Usually a tree that was originally headed moderately low and whose lower branches are in good condition can be successfully renewed.

"Cut out the topmost branches the first season of renewal, leaving all healthy side branches. The next season these horizontal branches may have their extremities lopped back with the pruners in such a way as to promote a uniform, well rounded, symmetrical head or top.

"It will be necessary to saw large branches first on the under side, then on the upper side, a few inches farther out or up the branch in the direction of its growth. This allows the branch to break off without splitting the part remaining. A second cut, at an angle, can then be made without difficulty, leaving a smooth, clean-cut stub.

"All wounds should be dressed, a few weeks after cutting, with a thick paint made of pure white lead and boiled linseed oil.

"The benefits of heading back will be lost in time, unless the work be followed up by annual discriminate thinning of the new shoots, and cutting back of those selected for future fruit bearing.

"Renewal of orchards may profitably be accompanied by the addition of stable manure, either worked into the soil beneath the extremities of the branches, or allowed to remain upon the surface to be covered later with straw or other coarse material applied as a mulch. The combination of renewal and fertilization will work wonders in the rejuvenation of many old orchards long considered unprofitable and valueless."

MINING BANQUET.

and Exchange Board, but he was unable to reach Los Angeles in time for the banquet, and R. L. Colburn of Goldfield, spoke on this subject.

"Now is the time, here is the place and this is the people to start a new mining exchange which is certain soon to become the most important in the entire West," said Mr. Colburn.

"Goldfield owes its success and present standing to the indomitable will of the men who developed that region in the face of great adversities, and who opened up the vast possibilities of that rich deposit so aptly described by the name given it.

"Many of these men are now residents of this city, and they bring to their new home the same qualities—the never-die activities—to put into the new stock exchange which have already caused such splendid development in the Nevada mining regions.

"Los Angeles is destined to become a great city, and it is the logical thing to count on it being a city of utmost importance to the mining industry of the Southwest. The time is ripe for the start which we celebrate here tonight, and I believe the Los Angeles and Nevada Mining Stock Exchange will be a success from the first call onward."

Oscar Lawler, United States District Attorney, spoke in response to the toast, "The City of the Angels," and while giving his home a good name, he failed not to "jolly up" the men from the Nevada mining regions and waxed eloquent over the future of Los Angeles and the closely-locked ties of business and commerce with our neighboring State.

"BUSINESS IS BUSINESS."

William D. Stephens, president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, spoke on the trite expression, "Business is Business." Naturally, Stephens branched off to his favorite topic, the future growth of Los Angeles, and the certainty of its greatness.

"I am here as a representative of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce," he said. "The Chamber of Commerce has been very active in advertising Los Angeles as a most ideal spot in which to live. It is as great a summer resort as a winter resort now. Many of the people who thronged this city during the summer months, and many who are still here, are from the mineral regions of Nevada.

"We want these people. Perhaps my reason is a selfish one. Business is business, however, and while we want these people's money, I am sure that they receive in return full value in the joy of living in such a delightful spot. All that pertains to mining, which can be associated with the work of the Chamber of Commerce we are more than glad to advertise. The Chamber of Commerce is vitally interested in the development of Nevada, and the surrounding mineral district, and will aid in every possible manner the welding of the bonds which tie Los Angeles with the new fields.

"There is no question that within a few years a great oriental trade will be centered about Los Angeles. I think that the people of Nevada and the Southwest are as much interested in such a development as the people of Los Angeles are interested in the exploitation of the gold fields at our doors."

FRIENDLY RIVALRY.

Leonard Merrill, representing the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, responded to the subject announced by the toastmaster as "Our Rivals." The rivalry apparently is to be a friendly one, and Merrill was warmly commended for his talk on the situation. During his address he said:

While we are rivals to a certain degree in a business way, there is no ill feeling between the old Los Angeles Stock Exchange and the new Los Angeles and Nevada Mining Stock Exchange. In fact, we are more than pleased to welcome the advent of a new institution composed of such well-known mining men and influential stock brokers as is this one. We will give the new exchange a square deal in every respect, and will expect a square deal in return.

I speak the sentiment of the old institution when I say that I hope the new venture will prove an immediate and lasting success. There are great possibilities here for trade in mining securities, and I hope this effort on the part of "our rivals" will result in making Los Angeles a great center for all that pertains to the mining industry.

"THE ALMIGHTY DOLLAR."

Attorney William T. Craig spoke of "The Almighty Dollar." He discussed the tendency of modern times to worship at the shrine of wealth, but declared that the getting of money was every man's duty. He said, in part:

Modern society more than any other has become the money worshiper, in spite of the fact that in politics, in religion, in the press and in the great educational institutions the worship of money is denounced as the greatest of the evils that threaten the freedom of the people of the world. And so it is—the love of money is the root of all evil. Money worshiped for its own sake is the evil of the times.

To get money is the duty of every man. The dollar is almighty. Unconsciously we measure ourselves and other people by the extent of the pocketbook. Not because the man is to be the more admired because of his money, but because of the possibilities that money brings to him—because of the power for good or for evil that he possesses who has the means to do his will. The responsibilities of the rich man extend in proportion as his wealth increases. If it be used for the betterment of the world he is a blessing to the world. If he uses his wealth to amass more wealth, his existence is a misfortune to the world. If great aggregations of capital, with the vast power which money in such quantities places in their hands, use the power they have to oppress the people, to wring from the savings of labor and commerce a dishonest profit, they become a menace to government and to all men of wealth.

To get money is every man's duty. To get money is the one struggle of all men. Not because it is money, but because money is the standard of man's success or failure. Without it, no matter what his ambitions, his abilities or his character may be, he cannot fulfill the measure of the power that is his.

Men are apt in this age to mistake the object of their admiration as the sun-worshiper did the object of his worship. No more unfortunate mistake could be made. Who but a pagan could bow down to the wealth obtained by rascals who have misused the law and robbed the people of their hard-earned dollars. These men are a menace to wealth. If the worshipers of wealth show no discrimination in their admiration of these vampires, they cannot complain if those who condemn and despise these people show little discrimination in their attacks upon wealth.

A BANKER'S VIEWS.

"Banking and Mining" were discussed by W. C. Patterson, vice-president of the First National Bank.

Both banking and mining operations partake of the nature of the men who manage them, said the speaker. If the manager of a bank is reckless and visionary the bank will share in his peculiarities. If, as I have said on a recent occasion, the patron saint of the banker is Shylock, no liberality or public spirit may be expected. A true banker, and likewise a good bank, is broad-minded, patriotic and properly conservative.

Many mining projects do not commend themselves to bankers for the reason that they are largely speculative and visionary. Many corporations are based on "prospects" rather than upon proved values.

An exchange such as you have organized may do much toward eliminating fake claims from public notice, by forbidding any security to be listed which is devoid of actual demonstrated merit.

Mining is as legitimate as any other business, but, like banking, its enterprises partake of the character of the men who promote them.

Banks should be so run as to be attractive to commercial, manufacturing and mining projects, and these in turn should be so conducted as to commend the confidence of bankers.

As no man can be entirely independent of other men, so no enterprise, whether it be banking or mining, can live to itself alone. They are necessary to each other and interdependent.

It gives me pleasure to welcome the advent of the Los Angeles-Nevada Mining Stock Exchange, and I predict, as a result of this occasion, a closer and more helpful commingling of the interests of Los Angeles and the rich mineral districts of Nevada.

"THE TENDERFOOT."

J. C. Fremont Hull, vice-president of the American National Bank, a newcomer to Los Angeles, responded to the toast to the "Tenderfoot."

He touched on the feelings of a tenderfoot both of the old type of 1849 and the latter day specimen, both of whom have opened up the vast wealth of the mineral sections of Nevada and other parts of the Southwest. Last year I passed through experiences which always fall to the lot of both the tenderfoot and the hardened miner, when I visited Goldfield, said Mr. Hull. There is a dark side to the mining business. Men work for months; spend all they own to sink a shaft, and then strike nothing. Death often follows such disappointing work. A brighter side, however, is presented when a strike is made. The most [illegible] of is that of a man [illegible] result of many hard [illegible]

GOVERNOR'S GOOD WISHES.

A letter was read from Gov. [illegible] sent from Carson City, Nev., in [illegible] he expressed best wishes for the [illegible] cess of the new exchange and [illegible] that he believed the mining [illegible] Nevada were to be closely [illegible] Los Angeles from this time [illegible] to the mutual good of both [illegible]

DO WOMEN DO POLITICS?

[illegible] on Support of Their Own Candidate.

[illegible] Fail to Get Delegate to Conference.

[illegible] Laymen Said to Be on the Toboggan.

[illegible] has happened. Who [illegible] two bunches of women [illegible] to agree on anything? [illegible] of indignation was [illegible] at the idea of the men of the [illegible] Church cutting the women [illegible] of having one of the delegates to [illegible] General Conference, and last week [illegible] nominated Mrs. I. J. Reynolds of the First Methodist Church of [illegible], and resolved to concentrate [illegible] strength in order to secure her [illegible].

[illegible] address was drawn up and signed [illegible] number of representative women [illegible] church, to be sent to the delegates to the lay college, setting forth [illegible] of Mrs. Reynolds to their [illegible], and embodying briefly the [illegible] upon which she proposed to [illegible]. Among other things, was the [illegible] that she would stand pat [illegible] amusement clause in the discipline known as "Section 248."

[illegible] this is one of the rules for [illegible] blue-blooded Methodism relent[illegible], a prominent Meth[illegible] yesterday it was cut out [illegible] proposed address to meet the [illegible] of Mrs. Johnson of Pasadena, [illegible] of a leading candidate among [illegible], who oppose "248," and it [illegible] that any announcement on [illegible] would operate against him. [illegible] appears that Mrs. Reynolds is [illegible] identified with the Home [illegible] Society, and when the address [illegible] changed, was presented to [illegible] Johnson, who is president of the [illegible] Missionary Society, she still [illegible] to sign it, saying that it [illegible] her society, so the women [illegible] to make the best of it, without [illegible] any further effort at get[illegible].

FOR MRS. REYNOLDS.

[illegible] meeting yesterday the women [illegible] adopted an address for publication in the church papers, appealing to delegates to the lay electoral [illegible] to support Mrs. Reynolds.

"[illegible] that the interests of Methodism in Southern California," says [illegible], "can best be served by [illegible] a woman representative in the [illegible] Conference.

"[illegible] Mrs. I. J. [illegible] address closes with a strong ap[illegible] delegates to the lay college to [illegible] the women have a representative in the General Conference in [illegible] of Mrs. Reynolds.

[illegible] Reynolds has been for years [illegible] identified with educational [illegible] in Southern California, having [illegible] teacher in the schools of Po[illegible] principal of the Pasa[illegible] High School; a member of the [illegible] Board of Education for four [illegible] President of the Shakespeare [illegible]. BAD MEN'S MASTER.

PRISON WARDEN TO QUIT JOB.

TOO MUCH WORK AND TOO LITTLE PAY IN NEW MEXICO.

Superintendent Littrell, Who Was Appointed Three Months Ago, Decides to Resign, and, Although the Salary is Small, Gov. Curry Is Besieged With Applicants for Job.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SANTA FE (N. M.) Sept. 15.—It is stated in official circles here that Marion S. Littrell, who, three months ago was appointed superintendent of the Territorial prison, will resign October 1.

The reason given for Littrell's resignation is that he finds the duties as superintendent of New Mexico's big penal institution, which houses over 300 convicts, are too arduous and entail too great a responsibility for the compensation received, which is but $2500.

The retiring superintendent was appointed by Acting Gov. James W. Raynolds to succeed Capt. Arthur Trelford, who was removed in June last for alleged cruelty to convicts and mismanagement of the prison. At the time of his appointment, Littrell was Sheriff of Colfax county, one of the largest counties in the Territory, which office pays in the neighborhood of $7500 a year. He was elected to this position for the fifth time November 6 of last year. When he accepted the appointment of superintendent he did not give up the office of Sheriff, but took a leave of absence. He will return to his home at Raton and assume the duties of his former position there.

With the announcement that Littrell is to quit, Gov. Curry is besieged with applicants for the position. Perhaps most prominent of these is Col. Charles L. Ballard, Sheriff of Chaves county and a former Rough Rider. Another applicant is R. C. Garrett, at present assistant superintendent of the prison. However, Ballard seems to have the inside track for the job.

HAPPY DAY.

HANDS ACROSS THE BORDER.

DISTINGUISHED MEXICANS ARE ENTERTAINED ROYALLY.

Don Andreas Aldasoro, Assistant Secretary of Interior, and Party of Friends from Neighboring Republic Are Guests of Gen. M. H. Sherman on Trip to the Seashore.

An excursion to the beaches, arranged by Gen. M. H. Sherman for the entertainment of Don Andres Aldasoro, Assistant Secretary of the Interior of Mexico, and his party, was made yesterday in Gen. Sherman's special car over the line to Redondo, returning by way of Venice, Santa Monica and Hollywood.

The trip revealed to the visitors the great growth and attractiveness of suburban Los Angeles, and the day being of the usual Southern California fall variety, they were enabled to sympathize with the enthusiasm of Angelenos when they talk of the joys of living in God's country. Under a clear sky, a gentle westerly breeze put just a touch of silver upon the blue Pacific and a line of feathery foam between the sapphire deep and the golden sand, where regiments of sea birds paraded and fishers drew their seines.

In the pavilion on Bristol pier a banquet was spread, and an orchestra played the airs of Mexico and America while the party was at table. An unexpected and keenly appreciated feature of the entertainment was the singing of Frank Pollock, the great American pupil of Jean de Reszke, who was one of Gen. Sherman's guests and who, although obliged to be more than ordinarily careful of his voice at present, consented to give two operatic numbers in his superb tenor.

The table was decorated with the Mexican and American colors, and informal talks on the relations of the two republics were given by members of the party.

From the beach, the visitors were taken to the Outpost, in Hollywood, where they were entertained al fresco by Gen. Otis.

The guests of Gen. Sherman were Señor and Señora Aldasoro, Señores Puga and Sandoval, Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Anderson, Dr. Norman Bridge, Frank Pollock, H. T. Cory, Gen. H. G. Otis, Harry Chandler, Marquis Gaton of Chicago, T. O. Dennison of the New York Herald and Allen Kelly.

WASHINGTON.

DOORS AGAIN ARE UNBARRED.

Vanity Fair Is Preparing for Brilliant Season.

Capital Stirred by Coming of Bishop of London.

Week's Budget of Weddings and Romances.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—The fashionable boulevard of Washington is fast losing the deserted air which characterized it during midsummer and by which it unfortunately will be remembered by hosts of summer visitors. Windows are being once more flung open to let in rays of sunshine, and doors unbarred preparatory to admitting Vanity Fair for what promises to be a most brilliant social season—the last of the present administration and the first of a new Congress.

The approaching visit of the Rt. Rev. A. F. W. Ingram, Lord Bishop of London, England, who will be here for the general convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, is responsible for the reopening now of many homes which are usually deserted until the end of the season at Lenox.

The White House will be in full feather by convention time, and as Mrs. Roosevelt is a devout churchwoman, it is expected that she will entertain the distinguished British divine, known to the world as the "working bishop," and who is the human link between Mayfair and the east side of the world's capital.

The British Ambassador and Mrs. Bryce will also be here in time to assist in "personally conducting" the bishop on his first tour of America. He is making the trip especially to present to the old Bruton Parish Church, at Williamsburg, Va., the Bible King Edward has given in connection with the Jamestown tercentennial celebration. The chief event of Bishop Ingram's stay in Washington will be the laying of the cornerstone of the National Episcopal Cathedral at Mount St. Albans. The site is almost on a level with the apex of the Washington Monument, and although it is in the suburbs now, the city is approaching it rapidly on all sides.

Mount St. Albans commands a wonderful view of the capital, the slow-flowing Potomac, and the surrounding country. It was originally occupied as the residence of Hon. James Nourse, President Washington's first Registrar of the Treasury. Years afterward, at the death of his granddaughter, there was found a box containing forty gold dollars, the proceeds of needlework she had sold. On its cover were inscribed the words: "For a free church on Alban Hill." The boys of St. John's School, accepting this message from the dead, dug the foundation, and within four years, in 1854, the first free church in the District of Columbia was completed. Its doors have never since been closed, although, as the bishop of Washington said: "Again and again the surrounding property would have been purchased for secular purposes had not this little sanctuary of God stood there like a sentinel guarding it from all but sacred uses."

According to accepted plans, the proposed cathedral will be almost as large as that of St. John the Divine, now being erected in New York, and larger than most of the famous cathedrals of Europe. It will be pure decorated Gothic in design, with a French note that suggests the Cathedral of Canterbury. This suggestion will be further emphasized by the coloring, a reddish stone having been selected for the building material.

A peace cross, erected in 1898 to commemorate the ending of war between Spain and the United States, a school for choir boys, erected through the generosity of the late Mrs. Harriet Lane Johnson, mistress of the White House during the administration of her uncle, James Buchanan; a school for girls, donated in part by Mrs. Phoebe Hearst of California, and "a little sanctuary," built by her children in memory of the late Mrs. Percy R. Pyne of this city, form the nucleus of a series of structures for educational and ecclesiastical purposes which, in time, will cause the cathedral close to resemble the quadrangles at Oxford University. Within the sanctuary is the Glastonbury cathedra, or bishop's chair, which is designed as a permanent witness of the affection between the British and American churches, it being constructed of twenty carved stones from the old Abbey Church, sent to Washington in 1900 as a gift from the church at Glastonbury to the churchmen of America.

Those expecting to spend the coming winter in Washington will be interested in the plans of the Choral Society. "The Messiah" will be given on December 17, that being the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the society. The oratorio will be sung under the direction of Percy S. Foster, with orchestral accompaniment. For this, as well as for the performance of Gounod's "Redemption," which follows, a number of New York's best soloists have been selected.

The annual exhibition of the Washington Water Color Club will be held in January of the coming year, instead of, as formerly, in November. The change was made to enable local contributors to send their paintings to the exhibitions of the New York and Philadelphia Water Color Clubs, without conflict, and will bring the Washington exhibit at a time when the social season is at its height and interest most keen. Mrs. Albert Clifford Barney, announcement of whose engagement to Dr. Joseph Buchanan of New York was a midsummer sensation because their troth was plighted in business-like fashion before a notary public, will not be represented at the forthcoming exhibition unless her plan to remain abroad with her daughters for a year is changed. Besides being an artist of more than national reputation, Mrs. Barney is an author and successful playwright. Before leaving Washington in June, she leased her beautiful residence on Sheridan Circle to Sheridan Du Pont of Delaware, whose daughter, Mrs. Francis S. Crowninshield, will be its chatelaine when Congress convenes.

Since her marriage into a distinguished family of Massachusetts, Mrs. Crowninshield has divided her time between Boston and Bar Harbor, with an occasional visit to Europe. She spent a few months here in the spring and made a host of friends, who will welcome her return as a householder. She has rented her Boston home to former Ambassador and Mrs. Bellamy Storer, who will occupy it during the coming winter, despite the fact that their own residence here, so long occupied as the French Embassy, will again be for rent.

While society was taking an official vacation from the capital, Hon. Martin A. Knapp, president of the Interstate Commerce Commission, took a little excursion on his own hook, and as a result, there will be another official hostess to present to the social world as soon as Mrs. Roosevelt gives the signal for the raising of the curtain. The new Mrs. Knapp was Miss Nellie Maynard, and later Mrs. Gardner of Syracuse, N. Y., the former home of Mr. Knapp. Upon their return to this city, Mr. and Mrs. Knapp will reside at Stoneleigh Court, known as "the apartment built by the late Secretary Hay."

Another romance closely identified with the official circle is that of Allan V. Cockrell and Mrs. Francis E. Reed of St. Louis, who were married on Monday at the summer home of the bride's parents at Spring Lake, N. Y. They met in Florida last winter while Mr. Cockrell was in attendance on his sick father, the "Grand Old Man of Missouri," former Senator Francis M. Cockrell, now a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Hearing his son speak of Mrs. Reed, the Senator asked to meet her, and immediately took such a fancy to the dainty woman that he asked her to come again and again. It was said that the son's happiness helped not a little in restoring the health of the father.

St. Luke's Episcopal Church at Hot Springs, Va., will be crowded to the doors on September 21, when Miss Elizabeth Lanier Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lanier Dunn of this city, is to be married to Sydney Buford, Jr., of Richmond, Va. Many Washingtonians will be present at the ceremony, which will be performed by Bishop Randolph of Virginia, assisted by Rev. John Scott, rector of the church. Miss Dunn will attend her sister as maid of honor.

Another early fall wedding that will call for a large party of Washington people, is that for which cards were issued this week by Senator and Mrs. Isador Rayner of Maryland. Miss Jennie Rayner Bevan, niece of the Senator, is the bride-to-be, and Robert W. Wells of Washington is the bridegroom-elect. Miss Bevan has been frequently the guest of her aunt and uncle since the latter was elected to the United States Senate. Mr. Wells, who also belongs to an old Maryland family, is a member of the district bar, and will bring his bride here to live.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Dugger of Pasadena; Messrs. James A. Keller, H. Franklin, J. L. Marvins, Dr. David Cohn and Miss Edith Cohn, of San Francisco; A. R. Speehr of Oakland, and Miss Cora M. Bethell of San José are among the tourists from California in Washington this week.

C. S. Quinn of Vancouver, A. Bernstein of Salt Lake, and D. A. Smyth of Ogden are also here.

PARALYSIS OF CAMP AVERTED.

COPPER QUEEN COMPANY WON'T DISCHARGE MINERS.

Calumet and Arizona Concern, However, Will Reduce Its Working Force One-Half—Members of Defunct Brokerage Firm Charged With Embezzlement.

BISBEE (Ariz.) Sept. 14.—A few days ago announcement was made of an intention on the part of the Copper Queen Company to materially reduce its force of miners in sixty days. This report almost brought paralysis upon the business interests of the camp. Yesterday, however, General Manager Walter Douglas said: "Whatever we may have considered at an earlier date, we do not now intend to lay off men."

But now comes a telegram from Duluth to the effect that the Calumet and Arizona Company, with mines in Bisbee, has decided to cut down its production of copper one-half, which means a reduction of one-half in the working force.

Fifty miners have been discharged by the Copper King Company, near Clifton.

BROKERS ARRESTED.

The latest development in the sensational failure of the brokerage firm of Duey & Overlock was the arrest, last night, of Harry Duey and James S. Gibbs of the company, on charges of embezzlement preferred by C. M. Holmes, manager of the Western Union office in Bisbee, who is one of the creditors. The defendants have been released on nominal bail.

Holmes alleges that he ordered some stock of Duey & Overlock and paid for it, and that he did not receive the actual stock certificates, the firm alleging that it would take time to secure them. He avers that the stock actually arrived, but that it was not delivered on his demand. Joseph E. Morrison and Richard F. Wood, who were named as assignees of the firm upon Duey's petition, have resigned in response to the demands of the creditors, and have been succeeded by F. R. Harrington, who will close up the business and who is to lead in the reorganization of the firm, in which the creditors are to be the stockholders.

TO SUE MINING COMPANY.

It is understood that the Attorney-General of the Territory will apply, at the next session of the Supreme Court in Phoenix, for a writ of mandate to compel the County Supervisors of Cochise county to bring suit against the Copper Queen Consolidated Mining Company of Bisbee for $111,140.37, alleged to be due the county for taxes for the year 1901, a year in which the Supervisors compromised the assessment against the corporation.

Headquarters for the western division of the El Paso and Southwestern Railroad are to be moved to Douglas next month. For several years headquarters for both the eastern and western divisions have been at El Paso. The headquarters of the eastern division already have been removed to Tucumcari in New Mexico.

A large quantity of steel rails has been received at Agua Prieta, across the line from Douglas. They were shipped in by the Southern Pacific. It is believed that they will be used in the building of the projected line between Douglas and Nacozari.

CRIMINAL REPENTS.

The eloquence of a Salvation Army officer in Douglas lately led to the very strongest evidence of repentance on the part of a convert, who not only expressed his conviction of sin, but gave specific information of crime which he had committed. The man is said to be wanted for forgery in Silver City, N. M., for drawing a false check upon an El Paso bank. He has expressed his wish to return to New Mexico for trial, and his willingness to accept any punishment that may be meted out to him.

TRANSGRESSOR'S WAY HARD.

A very practical illustration of the old adage, "The way of the transgressor is hard," was afforded a short time ago in Bisbee by a woman known as Ada Beaumont, who has gone to the home of her parents in Kentucky to die. A few weeks ago, while intoxicated, she was thrown from a horse near her domicile, in the less reputable part of the town, and so injured that death is merely a matter of months. Her face was badly scarred, her jaw broken and her sight almost destroyed. In her extremity, she appealed to the parents whom she had deserted many years before.

WEDDED IN JAIL.

The county branch jail at Bisbee was the scene of a social function the other evening, when J. H. Brown, an inmate, was wedded by Justice of the Peace Hogan to Mrs. Annie Hooper. After the ceremony, the bride was driven to her home, and the supposedly happy groom was led back to his cell.

Miss Estella Meigel, teacher of the public school at Don Luis, was arrested at Naco a few days ago, as also was Clarence Hedberg, both being charged with smuggling. On them were found three silk shawls and some jewelry, which they had brought across the line. They have been released under bonds of $250 each.

WOMAN SHOOTS HIM.

E. Joves, a Mexican, lately caused the arrest of Mrs. L. Molina, who was charged with shooting him in the shoulder. When the preliminary examination was held, it resulted in the discharge of the woman and in the sending of Joves to the County Jail, it being shown that the woman had shot the man in self-defense.

BREATHING EASIER.

By the passing of the smelters from Bisbee, the town has been deprived of a pall of sulphur fumes and smoke. It was believed at the time the smelters were removed to Douglas that the sanitary conditions would become worse, owing to the absence of the disinfecting sulphur. This has not proved to be the case. Breathing has become a much easier matter, both for human beings and for plants, and now on the hillsides, where vegetation hitherto had been stifled, are starting orchards and gardens, both beautiful and fruitful.

FRACTURE OPENS.

About eight months ago Jesse Goode was thrown from his horse near Bisbee and severely hurt. After a short time in the hospital, he was dismissed as cured, but later complained of pains in his head and returned to his old home in Indiana, where he died a few days ago. Death was due to the opening of a fracture of the skull sustained at the time of the accident.

Spencer W. Clauson, for many years mine superintendent for the Copper Queen Company, will hereafter make his home in Los Angeles.

STATEHOOD.

NEW MEXICANS LIVE IN HOPES

ANXIOUS TO ADD ANOTHER STAR TO OLD GLORY.

They Believe That If President Roosevelt Can Be Won Over Their Ship of State Will Sail Serenely Into the Nation's Starry Haven. Campaign Goes Merrily on.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SANTA FE (N. M.) Sept. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Will President Roosevelt lend his support to New Mexico's campaign for single Statehood?

This is the question that confronts the leaders of the Statehood campaign, which is now on in earnest in this Territory. It is acknowledged that if this Territory is to secure the boon in 1908 for which it has been fighting during forty years past, the President must, first of all, be won over. If this is accomplished, and President Roosevelt indorses the plan, then the outlook for Statehood next year is roseate.

The delicate task of breaching the matter to the President has been delegated to Gov. George Curry, and the time will be at the deep waterways convention next month at Memphis, Tenn., at which the President will be the chief figure. There is, perhaps, no man in the West today who stands closer or enjoys the confidence of the nation's Executive to a greater degree than Gov. Curry. New Mexicans feel that if any one can win over the President it is Curry, and the people of the Territory have unanimously agreed to leave it all to the new Executive.

Meantime the campaign goes merrily on. Within the past week the capital has been fairly alive with leaders of both the Republican and Democratic parties, and so far not a dissenting voice has been heard. It has already been agreed that, should President Roosevelt favor the movement, a large delegation of leading citizens of the Territory will make a trip to Washington at the convening of the first session of the Sixtieth Congress in December to press the claims for Statehood.

That which has added the chief stimulus to the movement, perhaps, is the fact that New Mexico wishes to cut loose from the apron strings of the parent government and be admitted as a sovereign State, in order that it may be free to manage its own affairs and not be dominated by special assistant Attorneys-General and special Federal agents, as has been the case during the past few months.

NEW ORDINANCE FOR REVENUE.

TELEPHONE COMPANY MUST GET CHARTER OR PAY.

Pasadena Proposes to Charge License for Every Pole in the City Where Companies Have Not Rights of Way—Press Humorists Walk to "Sunnycrest" and Recuperate.

PASADENA, Sept. 17.—As a set-off for the action of the Sunset Telephone Company in refusing to take out a city franchise, J. Perry Wood, the legal adviser of the Council, yesterday introduced an ordinance which compels all companies using poles set in the streets or alleys to pay a license of $2 per year for every pole. The ordinance provides that this tax shall apply to all companies who do not take out a charter in the city, and shall be collected in all cases where the companies do not pay the city 2 per cent. of the gross receipts from the business done in Pasadena.

Through this provision the new ordinance will not affect the Home Telephone Company, because under its city charter it now pays the city 2 per cent. of its business. Besides the Sunset, the companies affected are the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies.

The ordinance provides that its provisions shall not apply to the companies or corporations transmitting messages for the government of the United States and its officers and agents exclusively.

Under the programme now adopted by the Council, it is intended to compel the Sunset and other companies to pay the city for the privileges enjoyed. City Attorney Wood says that the Supreme Court of the United States has upheld similar ordinances, holding that the tax is in the nature of a rental of the city streets. Should the Sunset win its suit with the city of Pomona this new ordinance will then face them in this city, and if they do not apply for a charter they will be compelled to pay $2 per year for every pole they erect.

It is stated that the Sunset Telephone Company has 4000 poles in the city of Pasadena, which would give the city an income of $8000, and therefore be more costly than a franchise. What will be the outcome of the struggle no one can predict. The ordinance yesterday did not receive the full support of the members of the City Council.

Councilmen Barnes and Braley thought that a tax of $2 per year was excessive, but the measure was finally passed on its first reading by the affirmative votes of all except Councilman Barnes. It is possible that at the second reading of the ordinance the amount of the tax may be amended.

City Attorney Wood has worked for weeks on this matter, as he desires to take no chance of permitting the telephone company to escape payment for the privilege of business in this city. He also says the proposed law is just, as the Western Union and Postal telegraph companies scarcely pay at all on their plant in this city. The city taxes this year of the Western Union are $7.30 and the Postal will pay $6.16.

FETE PRESS HUMORISTS.

When the press humorists reached Pasadena the joke was on them as they were dropped from the cars more than a mile from the nearest point to Sunnycrest, the estate of Rev. Robert J. Burdette, who had arranged a luncheon for the crowd on his cool verandahs. They trudged the whole distance and were welcomed by Mrs. Burdette, Mrs. Bridge and Mrs. Wolfe. The affair was strictly informal, and no set speechmaking was permitted. Rev. Robert J. Burdette, formerly the "Hawkeye Man," welcomed his company graciously and the humorists enjoyed themselves and forgot the daily grind of quip and jokelets.

At 1:30 o'clock automobiles provided by the Board of Trade carried the party around the beautiful avenues and suburbs of the city, and J. Augustin Daly informed the Pasadenans that he was confident Horace Greeley meant this town when he advised, "Go West, young man." He says he is confident that many of the party will return to Pasadena to make their permanent homes when their papers raise salaries to a point where the humorists can save enough to buy a home.

During the afternoon a stop was made at the residence of the Misses Mary and Edna Foy, where tea was served.

At 6:30 tonight the humorists and their friends assembled at a banquet at the Maryland Hotel, where covers were laid for 100 guests. Mayor Thomas Early was the humorist of this occasion, and got off a speech which has been irritating his system for several weeks. J. Augustine Daly presided in the absence of Rev. Robert J. Burdette, who was forced to attend a meeting of his church trustees in Los Angeles. The affair was entirely informal, and after Mayor Early's address of welcome everybody talked that pleased, as long as he pleased, or stayed silent. The banquet was in the best taste of the Maryland.

SUES FOR LIGHT BILL.

Mayor Thomas Early got a surprise package today when the Edison Electric Company served him with papers in suit for $14,000 unpaid light bill of the city. This amount has been disputed for two years, and the electric company intends to bring the matter to a finish. It is claimed by the city that the contract with the Edison people is illegal, as the Council has no authority to make it in the form passed. It is also claimed by the city that the bill is excessive. Two months ago the city made an offer to pay half the bill and cancel the balance. The company refused. Hence the matter will be tried out in the Superior Court.

SPLITS KNEE-CAP.

While boarding an electric car at South Pasadena H. C. Conover knocked his knee against the step and split the cap in two. Although Conover is an unusually heavy man he got aboard the car and rode to Pasadena. He alighted at the corner of Colorado and Fair Oaks, but found he could not navigate further.

Policeman Al. Wood saw his trouble and took him to the Emergency Hospital where Dr. A. D. S. McCoy and the injured man's family physician made an examination.

He was removed to the Pasadena hospital and there the doctors fastened the broken knee cap together with silver wire. The fracture was such that ordinary bandaging would not suffice to hold the broken bone together. Conover's wonderful nerve in getting on and off the car without assistance in his crippled condition greatly surprised all who knew the nature of the injury, as the knee cap was split cleanly in two.

SOCIETY SURPRISED.

Friends of Miss Wilhelmina Eliot and Grosvenor L. Watkins were surprised yesterday at the news of their quiet wedding at the private chapel of Bishop Joseph Johnson in Los Angeles. The groom is the son of B. Marshal Wotkyns of Bellefontaine street and the bride the daughter of Edward Eliot of No. 537 South Orange Grove avenue. The wedding was hurried forward by reason of Bishop Johnson's desire to begin a visit to the East. At the same time the groom finds it necessary to make a business trip through the Eastern States and both determined to turn the journey into a wedding tour. The happy couple will start on their trip in about ten days. Meantime they are not informing their friends of their plans or whereabouts.

At the ceremony the chapel was beautifully decorated in pink and white. B. Marshal Wotkyns, Jr., brother of the groom, acted as best man. The bride was attired in a pink linen walking gown and carried a shower bouquet of pink Cecil Brunner roses. Following the ceremony the party, which consisted of the bridal pair and their immediate relatives, repaired to the home of the bride's father, where an elaborate wedding breakfast was served. Both families are well known in Pasadena. The groom is a graduate of Stephen Cutter Clark School here, and has spent all his life in Pasadena. The bride has been a belle in the select set, whose beautiful homes adorn Orange Grove avenue, and make it one of the loveliest drives in the world.

PASADENA NEWS NOTES.

While the press humorists were viewing the city a little joke occurred at the Maryland. The cashier is a lady of such delightful disposition that she is known as "Sunbeam." One of the guests is a traveling man for one of the largest companies in his line. He was loitering near the desk when "Sunbeam" chirped, if Sunbeams may, "Do you know I want to see what you have up there in your showroom? They must be pretty. I nearly always buy something, too. Now, won't you tell me what you are showing?" He replied, "Why, certainly madam, I am selling burial caskets." She had thought it was jewelry.

Yesterday the school board reported to the City Council what had been done with the proceeds of the 1905 4 per cent. bonds, aggregating $152,025.

In explanation of Charlie Parsons's poor showing at Jamestown in the 100-yard sprint, when a lot of loafers beat him out in slow time, it may be said that just previous to his departure for the races, Parsons had a severe attack of ptomaine poisoning. The pride of California did his best to back out of the job, but the Olympic Club insisted on his trying for the race. He had not sufficiently recovered, and he was beaten in time that he can surpass any day when in good health.

No quorum was present at the meeting of the North Pasadena Land and Water Company yesterday, and the vote on the amendment of the by-laws and constitution, so as to include the "dry tract," went over.

Fire did $1000 damage to a house owned by Mrs. Delia R. Jackson on Ford Place. The flames started among some oily rags left by painters in a dark corner.

YOUNG'S NAME IS WITHDRAWN.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCE TAKES EXCEPTION TO STAND.

Because He Favors Wine With Meals Methodists Refuse to Elect Him on Board of Stewards—Two Leases on One Lot Cause of Strife and City is Interested.

LONG BEACH, Sept. 17.—When the freeholders by an overwhelming majority, eight months ago decided that Hotel liquor licenses would not be tolerated under the provisions of the new charter it was supposed the question had been settled for two years at least. But it crept into the quarterly conference of the First Methodist Church last night and because of his expressed views, R. H. Young, a prominent member of the Church, was dropped from the proposed new board of stewards.

There was no scene, and no aftercomment, the result rather indicating a settled course of procedure that was carried through without a hitch.

The last quarterly meeting of the conference year was held last night, and there was a goodly per cent. of the 1200 membership present. Rev. Will A. Bell, the pastor, presented a list of eleven stewards to be elected. When Mr. Young's name was read, a member of the church arose and remarked that Mr. Young, during the agitation of the building of Hotel Virginia, announced that it would perhaps, be the best thing under the circumstances, to permit the serving of wines with meals at the hotel, and the speaker objected to his appointment as steward, as the liquor question was dangerous ground.

A spirited discussion followed, in the course of which Mr. Young stated that since the episode, in question, he had investigated the proposition thoroughly and that he was still not convinced that to serve wines at the hotel in the manner indicated would be altogether out of the way.

That settled it, and Rev. Bell said that because of this stand he felt impelled to withdraw Mr. Young's name from his list of nominees.

MIXED REAL ESTATE.

Two leases on the same piece of property threatens to make trouble for the latest lease holder and retards the erection of an $18,000 apartment house.

On the property at present stands a small two-room cottage and entrenched therein is "Billy" Clark, a veteran newspaper man, who holds a five-year lease from Miss Fettie, the owner, and he threatens things unutterable if any vandal hands are laid upon the roof which covers him.

The other lessee, W. L. Holland, has begun work on his apartment-house and says Clark must get off as his lease covers a larger lot than Clark's.

In order to prevent trespass, the newspaper man erected a wire fence about his domicile, but Holland's employés destroyed it last night, and removed a small outbuilding. Should any attempt be made to remove the cottage Holland will be arrested for trespass.

Miss Fettie acknowledging Clark's prior lease, for which he had paid five years' rent in advance, offered him a lot on Signal Hill, but "Billy" said it was too far away, and too high up. Then she offered him a lot on the inner harbor, but the newspaper man demurred, fearing a high tide might inundate him, during a winter night and cause an attack of rheumatism.

The fight for possession is attracting considerable interest in the city, with the sympathy in favor of Clark, who is a pioneer of Long Beach.

CORNER IN PIPES.

Plumbers of the city are indignant today over the march stolen upon them by Messrs. Baker & Thomas, rival contractors, who have purchased all the available supply of four-inch and six-inch sewer pipe, and with no prospects of securing any more for a month. As a result, the sharp-sighted contractors will be able to secure most of the residence work in the new sewer district just opened and the other men must content themselves with gas fitting and repairs.

Vice-President P. E. Hatch of the National Bank of Long Beach is mourning the loss of a valuable combination Elk and Pythian charm presented him by the Chamber of Commerce on his retirement as its president.

Although condemned by the building inspector, the rest and shelter pavilion at the north end of Pacific Park, opposite the Southern Pacific depot, which, for twenty years has been a landmark, will not be torn down because of a protest of citizens who have enjoyed it as a half-way resting place. Instead it will be overhauled and repaired.

TUG OF WAR WITH DEATH.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LORDSBURG, Sept. 17.—Clinging to the rounds of a ladder sixty-five feet down a narrow well, E. T. Keiser missed a horrible death by a miracle today, while a swiftly revolving shaft stripped him of clothing until, when released by the machinery, he wore only a pair of shoes. That his flesh was not ripped from his bones as well, he considers a marvel.

Mr. Keiser went down the well on his ranch to examine the machinery of his pumping plant, and when down about sixty-five feet his shirt became entangled with the shaft which works the centrifugal pump. In an instant his clothing was being wound around the shaft. His shirt and trousers were wrenched off him and Keiser, badly bruised, was able to climb to the top with only his shoes on. He stuck his head above the shaft and called to the engineer to fetch him some clothes.

His bruises are not so serious as to prevent him from presiding at a mass meeting here tonight.

Pasadena people who own a launch which they keep at West Long Beach found the boat missing today from its moorings and instituted a search in the belief that it had gone adrift. It was found but was badly damaged. Either a gasoline explosion occurred or the boat was set on fire, as the interior was charred and blackened.

Representatives of the Mexican Trading Company, which plans a steamer line between San Pedro and Mexican points, were in the city today interesting local capitalists, and also investigating the possibilities of the inner harbor for docks and warehouses to accommodate freight cargoes. They control five boats, two of which will be passenger steamers.

George Crocker, a drug clerk recently convicted of violating the liquor ordinance, was today sentenced to pay a fine of $200 or in default to spend sixty days in jail. His attorney filed notice of appeal.

LARGE SCHOOL ATTENDANCE.

Grammar School Building in South Pasadena Not Big Enough—City Council Matters.

SOUTH PASADENA, Sept. 17.—The public schools opened yesterday with a very large increase in attendance over last year. The total enrollment was 482. Two of the rooms in the High School building are utilized to accommodate the overflow from the grammar school.

COUNCIL BUSINESS.

At the meeting of the City Council last evening a resolution was adopted ordering the extension of Oxley street from Stratford Place to Garfield avenue.

The tax rate was fixed at 75 cents for the general fund, and 10 cents for the library fund.

The Street Superintendent was instructed to place street signs at all crossings within free delivery limits.

Charles Boyington was awarded the contract for laying sidewalks on Monterey Road at 15 cents a square foot.

John Bondt was given a permit to establish a dairy in the northwest portion of the city.

Arthur C. Bent was given an extension of ninety days in which to complete his storm-drain contract in the Lincoln Park district.

Permission was granted to abutting property owners to improve Pasadena avenue from the Santa Fé tracks to the junction with Pasadena del Rey.

Stokes & Richardson were given permission to widen and improve the north side of Pine street from Huntington Drive to the eastern city limits.

FREE DELIVERY LIMITS.

The limits within which mail will be delivered have been fixed as follows: Garfield avenue on the east, Columbia on the north, Palm and Pasadena avenue on the west. Three carriers will be employed.

VENICE RACE TRACK.

Conference Held by Racing Men and Capitalists and Money in Sight.

VENICE, Sept. 17.—It seems to be settled that the race track is to be located near the east line of Ocean Park. All kinds of stories are afloat today as the result of a meeting held last night by the interested ones. H. D. Brown, builder and former owner of the race track at New Orleans, was the center of attraction. With him at the Venice meeting was several prominent business men, among them being Abbot Kinney, L. E. Bradt, H. R. Hanna, Dr. J. M. White, H. Wickhiser, J. G. French, A. F. Webster, C. A. Stavnow, C. J. Daly, T. R. Taylor, Dr. Ayery and Dr. Stanwood. It is said that Brown had $200,000 in his "inside pocket" for the venture, but that the people would have to subscribe $50,000 in stock to secure the establishment of the track at Venice.

Another meeting was held tonight to further discuss the matter. The raising of the $50,000 seems to be the smallest part of the enterprise, and it is the consensus of opinion that the race track will be established here.

SUICIDAL NERVOUSNESS.

Former Church Organist Jumps Into Ocean Then Clings to Pile Until Rescued.

OCEAN PARK, Sept. 17.—Miss Ada Showalter, 25 years old, of No. 1812 South Union avenue, Los Angeles, attempted to end her life tonight by leaping from the end of the Horseshoe pier. A nervous breakdown was the cause of the act. She was seen to walk out on the pier at about 7:30 o'clock, and her shrieks as she leaped to the water attracted the attention of the few persons on the wharf. She caught hold of a pile, after sinking beneath the surface the first time, and a quick rescue was effected. Dr. W. H. Kiger was summoned and pronounced her out of danger, although suffering from extreme nervousness.

Miss Showalter was taken to the Elks' rooming-house, at Pier avenue and Ocean Front, and will be taken to her home in Los Angeles tomorrow.

Her family was notified, and her brother hastened to the hotel where his sister was taken. He could think of no motive for Miss Showalter's act, but stated that she was a sufferer from nervous prostration, brought on by overwork. For two years the young lady has served as organist of the First Methodist Episcopal Church at Sixth and Hill streets, Los Angeles, and, in addition to this work, has been giving piano lessons to a large class of pupils.

Three months ago she gave up her position as church organist, and since then her place has been filled by Clyde Collison. Her position is still open to her, however, whenever she is well enough to resume her work.

A large lot on Hollister avenue, close to Bristol pier, is offered at a sacrifice price, for cash. No agents; no commission. Owner, Address X, box 190, Times Office.

MUST GET BUSY.

Monrovia City Engineer Ordered to Submit Delayed Water System Plans or Quit.

MONROVIA, Sept. 17.—Engineer O. K. Parker of Los Angeles must either submit within a reasonable period the specifications which he engaged to draft for the betterment of Monrovia's water systems, or tender his resignation as consulting city engineer. To this effect Clerk Hotchkiss at last evening's session of the City Council, was instructed to advise him.

Bonds in the several sums specified were voted eight months ago to complete all but one of the improvements recommended by Mr. Parker in his initial report. Funds in the amount of $25,000 are available for this work whenever the contracts are awarded. Bids for neither labor nor material can be advertised for until the working specifications have been submitted by the engineer and approved by the Council.

The subdivision of large citrus tracts and the rapid increase in population make it imperative that the municipal water systems be put in the highest possible state of efficiency. Public sentiment is strongly opposed to further delay and the Council has been urged to take immediate action.

FUNERAL SERVICES.

The funeral of M. R. Conable, for three years a resident of this city, was held this afternoon, Rev. Mr. Quimby, All Saints Episcopal Church, officiating. He is survived by Mrs. Conable and a grown son and daughter. Mr. Conable came here from St. Paul for his health and for a time improved amazingly. He was a native of New York and matriculated from Cornell University. He founded a large publishing house in St. Paul, and was otherwise prominent in the business world of the North Mississippi Valley.

HURRY CALL FOR TRUSTEES.

GLENDALE, Sept. 17.—In spite of two new rooms and two extra teachers provided, to relieve the crowded condition in the grammar school at the close of the first day, yesterday, there was a hurry call for the school trustees, and last night a special meeting was held to make arrangements to care for the new pupils. Many new seats were ordered today, as fully two dozen pupils could find none yesterday, and more pupils will enter within the next few days. Altogether 324 pupils enrolled the first day. There are now over sixty in the primary department.

CHILD'S FUNERAL.

Yesterday afternoon funeral services, conducted by the Rev. C. R. Norton, were held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Campbell on Second street, for their little son, Phillip Franklin Campbell. Only relatives and members of the P.E.O. Chapter were present.

Dr. I. D. Jones of Murdock, Neb., yesterday informed the Nebraska State Board of Health that twenty cases of beri-beri existed among the Japanese laborers at Alvo, Neb. The State board immediately sent representatives to investigate. Dr. Jones declared that the disease resembled paralysis and seemed to be contagious.

WOMEN IN HOSPITAL

Experiences of Mrs. Rockwood and Miss T[illegible]

MISS MARGARET TIERNEY MRS. CHAS. A. ROCKWOOD

A large proportion of the operations performed in our hospitals are upon women and girls for some organic trouble.

Why should this be the case?

Because they have neglected themselves, as every one of these patients in the hospital beds had plenty of warning in those dragging sensations, pains at left or right of abdomen, backaches, nervous exhaustion, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, and other organic weaknesses.

All of these symptoms are indications of an unhealthy condition of the female system and if not heeded the penalty has to be paid by a dangerous operation. When these symptoms manifest themselves, do not drag along until you are obliged to go to the hospital and submit to an operation—but remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, has saved hundreds of women from surgical operations.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured more cases of feminine ills than any other one remedy. Such letters as the following are constantly being received by Mrs. Pinkham to prove our [illegible]

But [illegible] friends as well as meddle[illegible] and the young couple are [illegible] laughing at the chagrin of their [illegible].

[illegible] the wedding Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] went to their respective [illegible] and so they have lived since [illegible]. But yesterday afternoon, [illegible] a reporter for The Times called [illegible] the couple they owned up.

[illegible] couldn't bear the thought [illegible]," said the pretty young [illegible] with a becoming blush, "so we [illegible] we'd get married and talk [illegible] afterward. We fooled our [illegible], for we had planned [illegible] big wedding later on; but there [illegible] coming home and we feared [illegible] might not care to let us get [illegible] just now. Just think—I'm [illegible] he thinks I'm too young to [illegible] Hayward! Whew! But wait [illegible] learns that I am already!"

HEAVY TAX RATE.

[illegible] supervisors, for the county and [illegible] council for the city, yesterday [illegible] rates of taxation on property [illegible] city of Santa Barbara. They [illegible] a decided increase over the fig[illegible] last year. For the State, [illegible] and school, the rate for 1907 is [illegible]; in 1906, $1.90; for the city, [illegible]; in 1906, $1.20. This means a [illegible] over last year of 30 cents on [illegible] valuation as fixed by the As[illegible].

[illegible] increase in the county is due to [illegible] expenditures for bridges, [illegible] some $60,000, which were [illegible] out by last winter's severe [illegible]. Otherwise, it is shown, the tax [illegible] have been lower this year [illegible]. In the city the report of the [illegible] showed that the munici[illegible] rates in taxes within the [illegible] $7,280,330; and in the an[illegible] total, [illegible].

TIPPED TO DEATH.

[illegible] CRISPO, Sept. 17.—John [illegible] of Santa Margarita fell from [illegible] as the wagon tipped over [illegible] this morning and sus[illegible] injuries which proved fatal. He [illegible] wife and ten children.

HIS LUCK.

WHEEL OF FATE WAS STOPPED.

DRUNKEN TEAMSTER'S ESCAPE IS NARROW ONE.

Crushed by One Wheel of His Wagon Other Touches His Head When His Four Mules Halt—Bandits Bluff Bluffers and Get Stakes. Baudy Charges in Fight for Child.

SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 17.—Frank Paine, employed as a teamster between this city and the mountains, escaped death last night by six inches and has severe injuries as a memento of his experience. Yesterday he started for the mountains with a 1500-pound load and four-mule team. Late last night his unconscious form was found lying beneath the wagon, the rear wheel of which was pressing against the base of his skull.

The front wheel had passed over his chest and there were severe contusions of the cheek and chin, and his left ear was torn almost completely from his head, which was almost buried in the dirt of the road. Had the mules pulled the wagon six inches further the wheel would have crushed the man's skull.

Paine had been drinking some during the day and it is believed fell from the wagon while drunk. He claims he has no recollection of the fall. His condition is serious, but he will recover.

GET THE "POT."

Two masked men surprised a poker game at 1:30 o'clock this morning at Needles and secured $1000 in cash as their booty. Nine players were at the table in the rear of Lamar's barber shop.

The robbers appeared at a rear door and covered the players with a pair of six-shooters before they knew what had happened, ordering the players to line up against the wall and hand over their cash. No attempt was made to take anything but cash, all jewelry being passed over. The robbers disappeared as quickly as they had appeared and the officers have little clew as to their identity.

CUTE "INSANE" MAN.

W. H. Sharpe, the Needles mining man who was recently before the Los Angeles courts on an insanity charge, was brought before Judge Oster here today and his hearing set for Friday. Sharpe told the court that he would act as his own attorney and wanted bench warrants issued for witnesses, whom he said would smash the court's jurisdiction in the case, claiming that he was amenable only to the Los Angeles court, which has had the case in hand. He charged that he had been kidnaped from Needles on a bogus warrant issued by Judge Root and brought to the County Jail. It is believed here that Sharpe is hopelessly insane.

FIGHT FOR CHILD.

Charles W. L'Heureux has arrived here from Hutchinson, Kan., to fight the petition filed by his wife, Mrs. Blanche L'Heureux of Redlands, for letters guardianship for her 4-year-old son, Charles Philip. A bitter legal battle is in prospect over the child whom the wife charges the husband is anxious to kidnap and remove from the State.

The husband on the other hand, charges that the wife has three times deserted him and as many times has begun divorce proceedings, the last time being in the spring, but she left Kansas, taking with her the child, knowing that she could not prove the charges made in the divorce case. The husband wants a quick trial and filed a sensational affidavit in support of the request in which the above facts are set forth, as well as charging his wife with being guilty of things a true wife would not be guilty of. The petition for guardianship filed by the wife will be heard September 30.

FOR A MILL.

Iowa capitalists are here considering the feasibility of establishing a second flouring mill in this city. They have been quietly operating here for some time, and have secured large quantities of grain from the growers with which to start the mill project. The only mill in the city will probably pass into the hands of the Globe Milling Company soon, as that concern has an option on it.

The choicest spot on earth right now is "Hotel del Coronado."

SERIOUS CELEBRATING.

Fire-eating Young Man Fires Four Bullets Into Another Apparently For Fun.

REDLANDS, Sept. 17.—The local celebration of Mexican Independence Day yesterday nearly ended in a tragedy. Frank Hill, a young man with fire-eating tendencies and a capacity for strong drink, had been giving the local police considerable trouble throughout the day, and had endeavored several times to provoke a quarrel. He found a victim toward the close of the festivities in Francisco Lopez, firing at the latter almost without warning, and it is said without provocation.

Lopez was struck by four bullets, but an examination this morning revealed the fact that none had found a vital spot, and that the young Mexican was in no danger. Hill is being held in San Bernardino jail until the condition of his victim is absolutely determined, when a formal charge will then be made against him.

BELATED MUSIC.

Wedding Chorus Played Twenty-four Hours After Marriage of Young Couple.

RIVERSIDE, Sept. 17.—The Lohengrin Bridal Chorus, played by Signor Valenza, the Glenwood harpist, at dinner at the Mission Inn last evening was the somewhat belated wedding music for the marriage of Frederick L. Magaw, a real estate broker of Los Angeles, and Miss Sophia L. Goos.

They were married at the Baptist parsonage with a simple ceremony yesterday noon, Rev. W. L. Tucker officiating. The bride wore a brown traveling suit and was unattended. She is recently from the East and has been making her home at the Lankershim Hotel since her arrival in Los Angeles. The groom is a member of the Jonathan Club of that city. Mr. and Mrs. Magaw are passing the early part of their honeymoon at the Glenwood.

CONTRACT RESCINDED.

The contract between the city of Riverside and the Pacific Light and Power Company for electrical power was rescinded by the City Council this morning, following similar action taken by the Board of Public Utilities last evening. The agreement with the company, which was made November 27, 1906, will terminate November 27, 1907. Only a portion of the electricity used by the city is supplied by the Pacific Light and Power Company, the greater part of it being furnished by the Redlands plant of the Edison Electric Company and the steam power plant owned by the city of Riverside at the substation.

PASTOR TO LEAVE.

Rev. E. J. Inwood, the popular pastor of the First Methodist Church, was presented with a handsome gold watch last evening by the members of the men's meeting of the church. The presentation was made by Judge M. B. Hoxie. The meeting was the last one at which Mr. Inwood will be present, as he is slated by the conference for the pastorate of the University Methodist Church at Los Angeles, and the gift was an expression of the love and esteem of the men of the church.

Visit "Hotel del Coronado" now.

CORONA.

CORONA, Sept. 17.—The Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational Church held a house warming this evening at the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Sweet on Eighth street.

The Santa Fé, which recently opened a large deposit of cement clay below Prado, is making daily shipments of seven carloads to the Colton plant. It is said that the Santa Fé's need of so many cars for its own shipments has practically put other Prado clay shippers out of business.

The dam across the Santa Ana River at Prado is now completed.

The Fraternal Brotherhood initiated twenty new members last evening.

The W.C.T.U. opened its fall sessions with a social this afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Juliet Powell Rice.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wood left today for Catalina.

Rev. Chester Ferris and family returned today from Cold Water Cañon.

ELSINORE.

ELSINORE, Sept. 15.—The funeral of David W. McCrea, who died Saturday after an illness extending over two years, was held at the home yesterday afternoon, Rev. T. W. Twomnley officiating. The services at the cemetery were in charge of the Masons, of which order Mr. McCrea was a member. Mr. McCrea had been superintendent of the Alberhill Coal and Clay Company for many years. A widow and two sons survive him. A coincidence in the sad occurrence was that yesterday was the sixteenth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. McCrea.

A heavy apple crop is reported in the Elsinore Valley this fall. Ground is being broken for the erection of a large business building on Main street adjoining the postoffice. The property belongs to W. F. Vernon, who will use a part of the building for restaurant purposes.

Among arrivals at the Bundy are: Dr. J. B. Cook, E. H. Grant, D. K. Kelly, R. W. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Woodruff, Misses Carrie and Augusta Britton, W. K. Henard, Geo. H. Enners, Geo. M. Ross, James H. Hill, all of Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Shields are here from Long Beach.

HEMET.

HEMET, Sept. 17.—The pear crop is all picked with the exception of the Winter Nellis. It is estimated that over 300 tons of pears have been harvested in this section.

The Farmers and Merchants bank, which opened three months ago will soon occupy permanent quarters in the new Bothin block.

A rural delivery route is to be established in Hemet. Nearly all the necessary boxes are subscribed for.

Several important land sales were made during the last week, both through the Hemet Land Company and local agents.

"HOBOS DESPAIR."

Orange County Will Have a Rock Pile and Santa Ana Will Assist.

SANTA ANA, Sept. 17.—This county will have a rock pile this winter for the amusement of the hobo tourists. A plan of coöperation between the county and city has been arranged and tacitly agreed to, though it will not be finally completed until the Board of Supervisors meets on October 1. The city will pay the salary of the guard and will furnish the rock for the gang, and the county will pay for the extra meal that will be given the "Weary Willies" who are placed on the rock pile.

Sheriff Thomas Lacy says that there is nothing so much dreaded by tramps as a rock pile, and the institution in the past has proven a protection to the community. "Hobos pass the word along," says the Sheriff.

Ordinary prisoners in the County Jail get two meals a day. Those working on the courthouse yards and in other places get three meals.

SANTA ANA NOTES.

The City Council last night passed an ordinance making it a misdemeanor for any one to distribute samples of patent medicines about the city. Within the last few weeks several instances of where children have picked up patent medicine samples and eaten them have come to the notice of the Board of Health, and it was on this body's petition that the ordinance was framed. The penalty for violation of the ordinance is a fine of $25 or ten days in jail, or both.

Three of the "blind pig" men of Huntington Beach yesterday pleaded guilty to the chrage of selling liquor, and paid $150 fines each. Justice of the Peace J. W. Shirley also gave them suspended sentences of sixty days each. The three men to plead guilty are Charles Gee, Joe Lewis and Charles French. Gee's partners, Dick Button and M. C. Miranda, have decided to fight the case. They come up for pleading tomorrow.

Justice of the Peace Edward Smithwick yesterday married a couple and gave the fee to the bride, a blind Mexican girl. The bride is aged 22, and her name was Amelia Erona. Her husband, Juan Rosales, was arrested a short time ago and given ten days in jail for disturbing the peace on the complaint of the girl's mother, who said Rosales had abused the girl. The Justice of the Peace knew that the couple was in destitute circumstances.

The place for the fall months is "Hotel del Coronado."

EARLY WALNUTS.

Crop Thirty Days Ahead of Last Year. Quality Makes Up for Quantity.

FULLERTON, Sept. 17.—The shipment of the season's walnut crop will begin this week. The Golden Belt Fruit Company have a carload ready and will ship them out September 21, which is the earliest date of any previous shipment. The walnuts are of extra fine quality, the best ever sent from this district.

While the quantity of the crop is only estimated at about two-thirds, the quality and price will bring to the growers about as much as an average full crop. With the favorable condition of the weather, should it continue, the walnut harvest will be over fully thirty days earlier than usual.

Five cars of oranges, the last of this season's crop to be shipped from this point, will be sent out tomorrow, three cars from the Citrus Union and two from T. Strain, Jr.

A week at "Hotel del Coronado" in the fall is delightful.

HURT BY FALL.

ORANGE, Sept. 17.—Harls Erwin, son of W. H. Erwin, was badly injured by falling from his wheel yesterday afternoon. His arm was broken just below the elbow. Dr. Bradshaw set the injured member, and the boy is getting along nicely today.

FRANCHISES BOTHER.

City Council Refers Belated Questions to City Attorney—The Steam Roads.

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 17.—The city council has referred to the city attorney the bid of $1005 by E. Bartlett Webster for the railroad franchise on A street. He is to report to the street committee, Thursday. The reason the bid was not accepted at the time of opening was that a question of legality of award was raised in view of the fact that the application called for the completion of a mile of the road within two days, the mile being already in operation, the route lapping over a franchise already granted to Mr. Webster. In the discussion it was developed that overlapping franchises had been granted to the San Diego Electric Railroad. It was held that if one was illegal all of them were illegal.

The council has adopted an ordinance ratifying the action of the harbor commissioners in granting Messrs. Kellar and Kerchoff a railroad franchise over the tide lands of the water front, between Kamia and Wetherbee streets. The ordinance granting them a general railroad franchise was conditional that the harbor commissioners grant the application for one over the tidelands.

L. A. Creelman of the sixth ward has been elected permanent president of the city council, vice George F. Mahler, resigned.

In view of the number of narrow escapes from accidents at the grade crossings of steam railroads, Mayor Forward has recommended to the council that an ordinance be adopted providing for automatic gates or other safeguards.

SAN DIEGO DOTS.

Henry D. Blakslie of Uplands, San Bernardino county, has been named as the third commissioner to adjust matters pertaining to the division of San Diego and Imperial counties. The other two commissioners are Chester Gunn and L. N. Farnsworth.

The South Coast Oil Company has filed articles of incorporation, the plan being to drill for oil near La Costa. The incorporators are John R. Berry, Frank S. Gruber and J. E. Wyckoff, of Los Angeles, who with George H. Clarke and J. Russell Smith of San Diego are named as the board of directors.

According to a decision which has been received from U. S. Webb, Attorney-General, this county must bear the expense of transcribing the tax rolls for the new county of Imperial. The decision overrules the findings of the district attorney's office.

A letter has been received from Clinton, Ill., saying that the Magills, arrested here on the charge of murder, have been allowed a change of venue to another county and that the trial will be had in October.

The supervisors have fixed the tax rate for the city of San Diego at $2.17 for each $100, and the rate outside the city $2.30 for each $100. The total assessed valuation of real estate is estimated at $6,121,279, personal property, $3,653,530; grand total of all property in the county, $26,784,130. The total value of mortgages is set down as $1,495,477.

T. J. Fisher has been named for the vacancy on the board of supervisors made vacant by the transfer of Mr. Webster to Imperial and the redivision of the old county supervisoral districts.

SCHOOL CHANGES.

Delay in Opening Due to Sickness of Teacher—Oceanside's Schools Full—Notes.

OCEANSIDE, Sept. 17.—The grammar and primary grades of the Oceanside schools opened Monday with a good attendance in both departments. Owing to the illness of Miss Wackerman, the primary teacher, and the delay in securing a teacher for the grammar grade, these departments were not opened until one week later than the High School. The following teachers are in charge: W. H. Hensey, principal of the High School and supervisor of the grades, teacher of English and commercial arithmetic; Miss Elizabeth B. Moyer, history, mathematics, commercial work and civics; Miss Alice McDill, Latin, German and grammar, but while Miss McDill is sick at her home in Los Angeles, Miss Sophie Birdorf is substitute in her place.

Others are Miss Rosemary Conway, who has been studying abroad for six years, and has charge of the music in all the grades; Miss Florence Kynder, a graduate of Chicago Normal School, and specialist, teacher of drawing in the High School and grammar grades, and Miss Theodora Wackerman, primary grades.

NEWS NOTES.

Miss Gertrude Ruke is engaged to teach at San Luis Rey. Miss Effie Nugent left Monday to teach in the Newport Beach schools.

Miss Dorothy Forrest has gone to Occidental College in Los Angeles.

Rev. J. A. Wood goes to the Methodist conference this week.

F. P. Smith has been appointed postmaster at Carlsbad.

MEN ONLY

I Cure Cases That Others Cannot Cure

A bold statement, but just as true as it is bold. Not all cases that others fail to cure are curable by my methods, but fully ninety per cent. of them are. The way to learn whether your case is curable is to consult me. I know exactly what can be done in every instance. I ought to know this, for I have done nothing else other than treat men's diseases for twenty-five years. If your case is curable I will treat you. If it isn't I will not. If I treat you, and you so desire,

I Will Wait for My Fee Until You Are Well.

WEAKNESS

Weakness in men is comparatively a simple ailment and is but a symptom of local disorder, a congestion of an important nerve center. No stimulating treatment, whether internal or locally applied can do more than excite temporary activity. By my system of local treatment I restore absolutely normal conditions throughout the organs involved, which promptly results in complete and permanent restoration of strength and vigor. This treatment is original with me, and is the only radical and certain cure yet devised.

VARICOCELE

Varicocele is a relaxation, knotting and twisting of the most vital blood vessels of the organic system. It stagnates the local circulation and interferes with the processes of waste and repair. Neglect brings derangement of functions and injury to the general health. Most physicians resort to surgical operations and hospital treatment. I cure Varicocele in one week without operation, pain or detention from business. My cures are absolutely permanent and no ill efects whatever can follow my treatment.

I also cure all special diseases of men, such as Hydrocele, Nervous Debility, Blood Diseases, etc.

DR. TAYLOR, The Leading Specialist.

EXAMINATION FREE

I offer not only Free Consultation and Advice, but to every case that comes to me I will make a careful Examination and Diagnosis without charge. No ailing man should neglect this opportunity to get expert opinion about this trouble. If you cannot call, write for diagnosis chart. My offices are open all day from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., and Sundays from 9 to 12.

Speaking of Ailments of Men

It is obvious to thoughtful men that they require the attention of a skilled specialist. My experience in the treatment of Pelvic, Nervous and Disorders of Men covers a period of many years.

My commodious offices are equipped with every appliance that medical science can suggest for the successful treatment of private diseases of whatever nature—no hospital in the country is superior in this respect.

If you are a sufferer from any of the following diseases, are thoroughly in earnest and have no time nor money to waste, I invite you to call at my offices for a confidential talk—for which no charge will be made. I will make no promises which I cannot fulfill to the letter.

I specialize in Nervous Debility, Nervous Dyspepsia, Paralysis, Piles, Fistula, Hydrocele, Varicocele, Stricture, Blood Poisoning and Weakness in all its forms.

HOURS—9-4, 7-8, Sundays, 9-12.

MEN Can't You See?

That when you are weak, debilitated or diseased you don't count in the fight for recognition and success. You can't succeed, because the shadow of your weakness is ever before you, and destroys all your confidence; secretly brooding over your trouble won't help matters, either. You have got to have medical attention, and the quicker you wake up to the fact, the better for yourself. Every day that you leave your trouble neglected you are taking the longest kind of chances, because when one organ of the body is diseased the trouble is carried in turn to other organs, and then a great big smash-up takes place, and you become a full fleged member of the "down and out" club.

You Ought to Know This

You know what one broken spoke in a wheel will do if it is not replaced, and it is just the same with the human frame. You may have VARICOCELE, PROSTATITIS, BLOOD POISON, or some kidney, liver or bladder trouble, and if so, you have got to admit that everything I have told you here is true.

Now, I've learned all this and how to cure such ailments by many years of experience in treating diseases of men, and when you come to me you come to a man who knows his business and knows it thoroughly. I don't treat you for something you haven't got, and do nothing for the trouble you have, as so many do, but I examine you in a scientific way which permits of no mistake. That's why all my patients get well.

A TALK WITH ME IS FREE

If you will call and see me I will prove this. It won't cost you a cent for a talk and examination. I do this free for the purpose of proving all my claims. If you can't call, write.

Yesterday's Forecast and Report.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, Sept. 17, 1907.—[Reported by A. B. Wollaber, Local Forecaster.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 29.90; at 5 p.m., 29.90. Thermometer for corresponding hours showed 56 deg. and 69 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 78 per cent.; 5 p.m., 67 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., northeast, velocity, 2 miles; 5 p.m., west, velocity, 10 miles. Maximum temperature, 72 deg.; minimum temperature, 53 deg. Barometer reduced to sea level.

Weather Conditions.—The storm off the Washington coast Monday morning moved rapidly eastward and is now central east of the Rocky Mountains. This movement was followed by a general rise in pressure over the Pacific Northwest, and clearing weather prevails in that region this morning. On the south Pacific Slope the weather continues fair and pleasant. East of the Rockies there is considerable cloudiness, while scattered showers have occurred in the Dakotas, Minnesota and along the shores of the lower lakes. Elsewhere in the eastern half of the United States fair weather continues. The indications are for fair weather in Los Angeles and vicinity during the next 36 hours.

Forecasts.—Local forecast for Los Angeles and vicinity: Fair tonight and Wednesday; winds mostly westerly.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—The area of high pressure off the Washington and Oregon coast this morning is moving slowly eastward and now overlies the western portions of Oregon and Washington. This movement has caused cloudy weather in western Washington with scattering light showers and fair weather over other districts on the Pacific Slope except thunderstorms in northern Arizona. The temperature changes have been slight in all districts. Conditions are favorable for fair warmer weather in California Wednesday, with light northerly wind. Forecast:

San Francisco and vicinity: Fair warmer Wednesday; light northwest wind.

Santa Clara Valley—Fair, warmer Wednesday; light north wind.

Sacramento Valley: Fair, warmer Wednesday; light north winds.

Los Angeles and vicinity: Fair Wednesday; light west wind.

Arizona: Fair Wednesday and Thursday.

WESTERN UNION OIL EXCHANGE FEATURE.

THE sale of ten shares of Western Union oil stock was a feature of the session of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday. The price was at 350, and the stock closed at 349@360, showing evidences of weakness. Ten shares of Union oil also changed hands yesterday at 182, the stock closing at 182@188. Twenty shares of Associated Oil sold at 29.75 cash, while another lot of twenty shares was tied up under seller thirty contracts at 29@29.62½. The close was at 29.75@30.25. Rice Ranch was weak yesterday, closing at 1.22 bid.

California Hills was a leader on the mining call. Trade totaled 11,000 shares of the stock at 1⅛@1¼. Johnnie Consolidated was handled to the extent of 7000 shares at 14¼@14½, cash. Two thousand shares additional were sold at 14½@13¾, buyer thirty days. Furnace Creek Copper was handled at 25 cents again, 100 shares selling at that price. Consolidated Mines was handled to a total of 3000 shares at 2⅜@2½.

[illegible] and better by 10 cents per box. Eggplant was dull at 2½ cents. There was little interest in the general run of vegetables at bottom figures.

Fruits—Fancy apples hold to high and advancing prices. They are in slim demand, and most of them are being shipped to eastern markets. There is a fair run on choice varieties at reasonable figures. Fancy oranges and lemons continue at top prices. Grapes moved freely as quoted, muscats preferred. Peaches were in good supply and demand, prices holding firm. Blackberries were plentiful and easier at 8 and 9 cents. Very fancy grapefruit was cleaned up at an advance to $2.50. Watermelons were in fair request at a shade lower.

Poultry—Inquiry was excellent, with prices very firm. Sales of hens and ducks were heavy.

Groceries—Business was brisk, all lines moving freely. Flour was steady with conditions unchanged on coffees and teas. Dried fruits rule very firm, the market being almost bare of spots and prices on the upward.

On the call, beans asked outside figures for small offerings. Asks were low and declining on choice Highland Burbanks. There were no offerings of butter. The day's sales were 10 cases local case-count eggs.

NEW YORK MARKET.
SHARES AND MONEY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Stocks had a good recovery today and the vigorous upward movement was in face of some unfavorable factors, or rather of realization of the favorable happenings that had been previously acted upon in the market. The reverse movement of prices usual on such occasions was responsible in no small part for the brisk recovery of the day. Operators in stocks were very busy discussing the resumption of the proceedings in the government suit against the Standard Oil Company, but it was evident that the long course of preparations for this occurrence had exhausted the requirements. The same was true of the disclosure in sworn testimony in court of the precarious state of health of a foremost capitalist in the copper industry, that person's serious illness having been reported and exaggerated to the point of an alleged fatal termination many times in the course of the recent bear campaign. The facts as now learned were given a large interpretation in the whole course of the market in July and August. The market, in short, gave every evidence of being oversold. A confirmation of this was seen in the loaning rates for stocks, some of which have commanded a small premium in the loan crowd. This fact was only accepted for its true value today after prices turned upward, as it is a favorable device in a liquidating market to borrow stocks for delivery to avoid the transfer of holdings in the name of influential holders and give the appearance at the same time of a short interest in the market. The bears have ignored the significance of the demand in the loan crowd so long as they have weak spots in metal securities to help in forcing prices downward. With relief today for that weak spot the influence of the strength for several days manifest in the railroad group asserted itself on the whole market. Beside the requirement of an uncovered short interest, the copper industrials had the benefit of a violent rebound in the price of copper in London today, spot copper rising there £3 12s 6d per ton. In contrast there was a further reduction in the price of copper at the New York Metal Exchange of ½ cent per pound. Sentiment over the situation in the metal market was appreciably improved, nevertheless, and greater confidence was expressed that a level of more effective demand was being approached which gave promise that the market would right itself. The views publicly expressed by the chairman of the United States Steel directors gave some feeling of assurance that the course of the copper market need not foreshadow a similar course in iron and steel or not in the same acute degree. With the market relieved from the dragging effect of the persistent weakness in the industrials, some of the formerly existing factors asserted themselves on the side of strength in the market. The conspicuous strength of the Hill stocks was evidently due to assumptions of the benefit to flow from the higher dividend distribution to Burlington stockholders. Union Pacific shared in this movement, although in a lesser degree. Money on call here continued firm and there was a stronger tone in the time loan market. Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $1,782,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Boston Copper Market.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO FRED DORR.]

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Reflecting the strength of New York list and the advance in London copper there was an improved tone to the local market. Around 2 o'clock the market held dull, but the tone, if changed at all was firmer. It seems to be good opinion that there is less voluntary selling of coppers and that money conditions are so improving that there is less forced selling. The market closed strong as follows:

SAN FRANCISCO LIST.

[Exclusive service to The Times by the Los Angeles Stock Brokerage Company, ground floor, Citizens' National Bank building. Quotations are guaranteed by the Western Union Telegraph Company.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—The mining market opened weak this morning, but on the informal a strong reaction set in with some of the leaders selling above yesterday's quotations. Goldfield Consolidated gained 37½ points, Florence 10, Sandstorm 5, and Combination Fraction 3½. Jumbo Extension and Daisy dropped 2½ points each. Red Hills was the feature of the regular board, 11,500 shares changing hands at prices ranging from 45 to 48, closing 48@49. The Tonopahs, Bullfrogs and Manhattans were dull and heavy. Following are the closing quotations of the San Francisco Stock and Exchange Board, together with the regular call sales:

Nevada Homestake Mining Co.

This company owns with perfect title the following mining lode locations:

Homestake, Klondyke, Rufugio, Rocky Point, Amethyst, Valley Boy and Valley Girl, in the Fairview mining district, Churchill county, Nevada.

The ground was secured for the company by Charles A. Gehrmann, an engineer of high standing and large experience in field work. In speaking of this property he says:

"In one place upon the Amtehyst claim I succeeded in uncovering a very strong and evidently large deposit. Having nothing but a prospect pick, little could be done. However, the ore here exposed over a space of 20 feet was all mineralized." Several samples were taken and showed results as follows:

	Value per ton.
Light brown sample; .04 gold, 74.16 silver, .02 copper and 23 per cent. lead	$77.70
Dark brown and reddish sample; rather porous; .02 gold, 21 oz. silver, 11 per cent. lead	24.80
Sample of darker red and a heavier ore ran .25 gold, 27 oz. silver and 18 per cent. lead	38.75

The directors of the company are: J. C. McCormack, M. J. Monnett, C. A. Gehrmann, F. M. Dorsey, Louis Schloss.

A limited amount of the stock of the company will be sold today at FIVE CENTS A SHARE in 1000 share lots. Give your order to any of the brokers on the Los Angeles-Nevada Mining Stock Exchange. These shares are intrinsically worth ten cents and they will sell at that price at an early date. This ad. will not appear again, therefore, act today.

AN ACREAGE TAX.

[St. Paul Pioneer Press:] Gov. Chamberlain of Oregon has proposed a graduated acreage tax as a means of discouraging the holding of large quantities of land. The suggestion is aimed especially at the holding of land for speculative purposes. As the Portland Oregonian suggests the first question is that of the constitutionality of such a tax. Gov. Chamberlain, it appears, attempted to meet this by arguing the analogy between such a tax and the graduated inheritance tax. But whether this disposes of the constitutional question is entirely a matter of locality. The taxation of land is wholly and indisputedly a matter within the jurisdiction of the several States. What may be a constitutional tax law in Oregon may be by the clear letter of the law or by the interpretation of the State courts unconstitutional in Minnesota. There is no room for question that under the recently discarded tax provisions of the Constitution of this State a graduated land tax would have been invalid. And this in spite of the existence of a graduated inheritance tax: for the latter was provided for by a special provision of the Constitution. Whether under the present Constitution a graduated land tax would be valid in Minnesota is an entirely different question. It would all depend on the courts' interpretation of the meaning of the clause which requires that all taxes shall be "uniform on the same class of subjects."

On its economic side a good deal might be said in favor of Gov. Chamberlain's suggestion. If it were possible to prevent evasion the imposition of a tax growing heavier and heavier on each additional acre or ten acres in excess of a reasonable minimum would tend to discourage the holding in an unproductive state of large blocks of land. But it would also force onto the market in many States, if the graduated tax became common, a large quantity of land. The average value of land would suffer unless the natural demand for land could be stimulated. It is doubtful in the present relation of the population to the land whether a law levying a tax serious enough to accomplish its purpose could be put into effect without a more or less violent disturbance of values, which would affect even small holders of rural land. And it is still more doubtful whether in view of the dominance of the rural element in almost all State Legislatures a graduated land tax would have the slightest chance of enactment. Gov. Chamberlain's suggestion is likely to prove of more interest as a matter for discussion among economists and social reformers than as a practical cure for large land holdings.

CHEAP!

BUY TWO LOTS IN NARCISSUS.

Extra Strip of Rabbit Land With Every Pair.

Poetic Boomers Launch Town in Antelope Valley.

Experts Say Tract Is Worth About Five an Acre.

To plant a town in the midst of a semi-desert district in the jack-rabbit range of the Antelope Valley is the latest dream of a local real estate company. The sale of lots began yesterday in this new town of Narcissus. The prices range from $25 to $100 a lot. An extra strip of sand is thrown in for good measure to purchasers of two lots. Experts declare that the tract is worth possibly $5 an acre.

The land in and about Narcissus is said to be permeated with alkali. There is no habitation within miles. The only building within sight of the visitor is a Southern Pacific water tank.

It is stated by V. S. Phillips, the present manager of the scheme, that offices will be opened in eastern cities for the sale of lots. He naively remarked yesterday that Narcissus would appeal more to easterners in search of a California home than it would to hardened Angelenos.

"Yet we have already sold several lots to local people," said Phillips with an air of triumph. He admitted there were no improvements on the tract as yet.

"We expect to spend some money there this fall," he said. "The view is fine. And water can be obtained by going down several hundred feet. We shall get out some very attractive literature in a few days to send to our eastern friends."

BEAUTIFUL "MAKINGS."

The plats and drawings at the office of the company show the "makings" of a beautiful town. In the center is to be a park. Lots near this park sell at the highest figures. A series of streets and avenues, already named, radiate from the projected park. Although nothing is grown in the vicinity, the settlers are to be "farmers." A cruel commentator remarks that most of them will be "suckers."

As the lots are only 30 or 40 feet by 100 feet, a "farmer" would be obliged to buy a large part of the town site in order to engage in agricultural pursuits. But the company claims that a better way will be to farm land in some other section and live in Narcissus. "Te dum, te dum, te tiddledy ump te dum."

Just what arrangements are to be made for stores, homes, water, transportation, light, sewers and all the supposed adjuncts of town life, do not appear.

Another real estate man, who has made a personal investigation of the site of the boom town of Narcissus, stated that the only merit in the proposition was the view.

"The land is practically worthless," he said. "The Southern Pacific company has a water tank near the site of the proposed town. Lancaster is three or four miles away. I can purchase all the land I wish in that section for $5 or $6 an acre, but I don't want it.

WILDCAT SCHEME.

"To my mind, it is a wild scheme, and it will hurt the reputation of Southern California lands. All wildcat schemes which are foisted on easterners hurt this section. No person with any intelligence is going to buy a lot in a section far removed from civilization, even if a dozen lots were thrown in with each purchase. Antelope Valley is bound to develop in spots some day, but the idea of sticking a town in the unwatered plain is absurd."

The town with the poetic name is promoted by the Mineral Lands Improvement Company. This concern recently started an alleged town near Goldfield. It was called North Goldfield. Titles were said to be imperfect, and the purchasers of lots have not realized a fortune on their speculation, so far as reported.

The land near Lancaster is partly government land, and is partly owned by the railroad.

It is understood that the company has made arrangements to "work" 1000 acres on the public, if the flower town can be made to stretch its limits. The present plat includes about 160 acres.

"Broadway" runs through Narcissus. Harper, Avalon, Beach, Euclid and Main streets are names of some of the paper streets. They run through several gopher villages and skirt white patches of alkali. From "Broadway" a fine view is to be had of the water tank. By climbing on the wagon seat one may catch a glimpse of Lancaster.

BUSINESS MAN INTERVIEWED.

Among many business men interviewed for The Times by A. T. Brant is Peter McCarthy of Troy, N. Y., connected with the Troy Waste Manufacturing Company, Troy Knitting Company, and Commercial Union Telegraph Company. Mr. McCarthy said:

"The supposition is that money will be plentiful after the first of November.

"The prosperity of the country is on a good, firm basis; but the people have been trying to do too much and there has been a little letting down.

"The period of stagnation will be short, as the resources of this country are very large, and we are not effected by depressions in the stock markets as in the past.

"The price of labor is too high for competition, unless protected. Freedom in the industries is vital to prosperity.

"Roosevelt discovered that grafting had gone to such an extent that, unless it was checked, it would be the downfall of the country. The results of these investigations will be good. There is no danger if everything is done in the limelight."

STEEL COACHES.

has been in service for a year or more. Steel coal and flat cars have cut down the cost of maintenance to a considerable extent.

A question to be discussed today is the introduction of a gasoline motor car on branch lines along the Coast. At the present time the motor car is in operation on the Union Pacific as far west as Denver.

W. R. McKeen, Jr., of Omaha, who is attending the conference, said:

"There are ten motor cars of the latest model now in operation in and about Omaha. They have given satisfaction in every way. The design is a 200-horse-power motor. In 2000 trips which these motor cars have made under trial, only ten were failures. Of course, the motor cars cannot be operated over any great stretch of territory. It is found to be most valuable on branch lines, where the operation of a full train is not necessary. Motor cars could be operated successfully in a number of places along the Coast. The Union Pacific still has a great demand for them, however, and it will probably be some time before any are operated here.

"Twelve cars are being manufactured. One is in operation on a branch of the Chicago and Northwestern. A number of orders have been received for cars which will be filled as soon as they can be turned out.

"The gasoline engine on the motor car is much more perfect than the engines used on automobiles. The motor car is equipped with a flexible control engine, while the automobile has a constant-speed engine. The flexible-control engine does away with the speed gears, and is directly connected with the axle."

AWKWARD FIX PATROLMEN'S.

CHARGED WITH TAKING SECRET SERVICE MAN'S BADGE.

Must Appear Before Police Commission on Tuesday to Explain Arrest at Chutes Park—Report from Alleged Victim Puts Them in Very Peculiar Light.

Complaints charging Patrolman John M. Walsh and John W. Murphy with interfering with a United States officer in the discharge of his duty were filed yesterday with the Police Commission by Chief of Police Kern. There was also filed a detailed account of the assault upon the Secret Service officer and his record, which was forwarded by Agent George W. Hazen.

According to the report, the attack upon Secret Service Agent William M. Farrell was uncalled for and brutal.

Walsh and Murphy are patrolmen on special duty, and work from the University Station. They are under the command of Capt. Bradish. Murphy has been with the department many years. He began as a patrolman, and later became a detective. Two years ago he was reduced to the ranks, and when the University Station needed men, he was sent there. Walsh has worked as patrolman, detective and plain-clothes officer.

On September 2 the officers, in plain clothes, were sent to Chutes Park to help quell the Labor Day disturbances there.

Following is a part of the report made by Farrell to Agent Hazen, who sent it to the Police Commission:

"On Labor Day I was ordered to visit Chutes Park and watch out for counterfeit money. I went to the park in the evening. I soon learned that most of the money was being handled by one cashier, who sold beer checks. These checks were good for any stand in the grounds.

"I went into the room where this cashier was and showed him my star, the official badge of the Secret Service. The cashier recognized the badge and said that if I would return the following morning, he would have the funds collected and assorted and any counterfeit money would be put aside for my inspection.

"It was then after 9 o'clock and seeing that most of the money had been passed in, I started toward the entrance of the park. I had not gone far when two men in citizens' clothing stepped up to me. They did not tell me their business, and they did not show any star or badge of authority.

"One man, who, I have since learned, is named Walsh, grabbed me by the lapel of the coat and said in a gruff voice: 'Give me that gun and that star.'

"I told him to take his hands off me, that I was a secret-service officer. He paid no attention and began to tear at my clothes, while searching me. He took my billy and tore my star from my suspender. He searched me all over, insulting me in the meantime by remarking that there were lots of fake detectives around trying to stick people up for a little money.

"I protested and tried to explain, but it did no good. They took me by the arms and conducted me to a little room near the gate. There they completed the searching process, and demanded to see any identification papers I might have. I showed them letters bearing the treasury stamp, but Walsh remarked that the papers didn't suit him. He said he knew Secret Service Officer Cronin, and that his badge didn't look like mine.

"About that time Capt. Bradish came in. The minute he saw me he walked up to me and shook hands. He said the officers had made a mistake and apologized. He returned my star and weapons, and again apologized. He told me that Walsh was so erratic that frequently he had to take him from his work and send him home.

"Walsh looked on for a moment and then with the remark, 'Well, have it your own way, Cap,' walked out of the room."

Farrell, according to the report of Agent Hazen, has a good record.

Walsh and Murphy have been ordered to appear before the Police Commission on Tuesday.

STABBED BY A NEGRO.

E. B. O'Shea of No. 607½ North Main street was stabbed by a negro on an inbound Southern Pacific train about midnight. O'Shea was in charge of two cars of Mexicans from El Paso. He noticed the negro, who was beating his way, and attempted to eject him from the platform. The negro cut him with a razor on the right wrist and left hand. O'Shea was sent to the Receiving Hospital.

BURGLARS GET JEWELRY.

Burglars entered the home of Walter Caruthers at No. 1624 New Hampshire street last evening and rifled the house. From the Caruthers the robbers secured a small diamond ring, a locket and a gold watch. In the part of the house occupied by R. D. Edwards an opal ring, a bracelet and a watch were taken. The thieves secured entrance by prying open a rear window. No one was at home.

OFF A STREET CAR.

Chester Drumiller of Pasadena fell from a car at First and Main streets last night, and sustained slight injuries.

MOTHER AND CHILD ARE FOUND IN GARVANZA POOL.

All-night Search for Mrs. Frederick G. Baker and Her Young Daughter Ends at Daybreak With Gruesome Find—Ailing Mother's Burden the Cause of Tragedy.

Side by side at the Pierce morgue, the bodies of Mrs. Frederick G. Baker and her 7-year-old daughter, Alvina, await the formality of a Coroner's inquest.

Just as the rising sun lifted the mists from the waters of Johnson's Lake yesterday morning, the searchers who had spent the night in quest of the woman and her little one, found their bodies near the west bank.

The little girl had been clasped to the mother's breast in that last dread hour of the night, when, wild with the thought of leaving her child to face the perils and dangers of the world, Mrs. Baker leaped into the lake.

From the terminus of the car line near the Church of the Angels in Garvanza to the shores of the little lake, two blocks distant, the footsteps told only too plainly the tale of the midnight expedition.

Mrs. Baker left her home at No. 6406 Ruby street a little after 9 o'clock Monday night. During the evening she had been fearfully depressed and refused to talk to her sister, Mrs. Alvino Phillipo. Later, though, she went to her sister's room and kissed her goodnight, remarking that she thought she would take a walk.

A few moments afterward the mother and daughter started on their last journey.

The crew of a Garvanza car looked wonderingly at the pair as they got off near the Church of the Angels and inquired the way to Johnson's Lake.

Before the Church of the Angels, the footprints disclosed at sunrise yesterday, showed that mother and daughter had paused. The trail led to the water's edge.

The trampled grass, the broken twigs and scraped earth at the edge of the pond indicated that there had been a struggle.

Beneath a pebble on the porch of her sister's home, Mrs. Baker left the clew to the tragedy.

"I want to save my dear little darling from this world. Find our bodies in Johnson's Lake," was the scribble on the paper.

Mrs. Phillipo, the sister, gave the alarm. Failing to find Mrs. Baker in the house late at night, she went to the front porch and there found the note. A searching party was quickly organized. The lanterns flashed light across the trail where mother and daughter had journeyed a few hours before. Straight to the lake the footprints were trailed. Improvised rafts were launched and the searchers grappled for the bodies, during the hours just after midnight.

At daylight, near the west bank, the bodies were found. The woman was lying on her back in shallow water, while, resting on her bosom, lay the body of her daughter.

Members of the family said yesterday that Mrs. Baker had been ill for some time. She dreaded to die and leave her baby to face the world without a mother's care.

Some time ago, the husband left for Cylinder, Iowa, to dispose of property and return and make Los Angeles his home. He was to have returned within a few weeks.

Hair and Climate.

REDONDO, Sept. 16.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In The Times Magazine of yesterday a correspondent asked why it was that there are so many gray-haired young men in Southern California. Had that question been submitted to the writer of this article his observation would have suggested a reply to this effect, viz.: There is not an excessive number of gray-haired young men on this Coast; though there are thousands of middle-aged and old men whose hair was whitened in the East by the ordinary ravages of time, who, thanks to this marvelous climate, have every other appearance of youth. The observation of many others will confirm this statement, and it is one of the marvels of California not sufficiently dwelt upon.

If you take pride in your ability to guess the age of one of these young men, try it, and learn how pride may have a fall. There is a limit even to the power of the climate of California; it removes the wrinkles of age, steadies the tottering footsteps, straightens the bent figure, gives luster to the eye and color to the cheek, but is not able to restore the color of the hair; how that can be effected, however, may be learned by consulting the advertising columns of The Times.

WILL DECORATE WITH CORN.

Chicago Coliseum to Be Trimmed in Grain for National Exposition, October 5-19.

At the National Corn Exposition, Chicago, October 5 to 19, the most elaborate decorative scheme ever seen in Chicago, says the Tribune of that city, will be presented at the Coliseum Building and annex, where the show will be held.

This decorative work will cost in the neighborhood of $30,000, and corn will be the dominant (in fact, the almost exclusive) decorative material. In addition to a miniature corn farm in the center of the building one end will contain an ancient temple dedicated to the goddess of corn, where at certain times of the day the virgins of the sun will offer sacrifices of corn.

At the opposite end will be a realistic farm scene, made up of an actual farmhouse, windmill, growing corn, etc. On either side will be shields of the different States, done in corn, each showing the amount of corn grown last year. A large and splendid picture of Minnehaha will adorn one wall. Immense festoons of corn ears will be suspended from the ceiling and two gigantic pumpkins will demonstrate that corn and pumpkins grow together. The color scheme is exceedingly harmonious, and everything in the building will conform to the general decorative idea.

BEET LEAVES MAKE MILK.

Germans Prove This to Be a Very Superior Forage but Cows Lose in Weight.

[Indianapolis Star:] In Germany cows in milk are given enormous quantities of sugar-beet leaves—as much as 150 pounds daily for each 1000 pounds of live weight—besides concentrates in proportion to the milk yields, two, four, seven and ten pounds, and about twenty pounds of straw.

The food is weighed daily, as is the milk from each cow, and samples are kept for testing. It has been the opinion that beet leaves give thin milk, but in Germany milk testing 3.58 per cent when the cows are fed green corn fodder will give 3.54 per cent in the beet leaves period or virtually the same. Nevertheless there is one drawback: When many leaves are fed the manure is likely to become too soft, and it seems that the cows lose in weight.

It is suggested that by giving the cows thirty grams of precipitated phosphate of lime while the beet leaves are fed the digestion of the cows is improved and the manure becomes normal.

CHEAP!

BUY TWO LOTS IN NARCISSUS.

Extra Strip of Rabbit Land With Every Pair.

Experts Say Tract Is Worth About Five an Acre.

To plant a town in the midst of a semi-desert district in the jack-rabbit range of the Antelope Valley is the latest dream of a local real estate company. The sale of lots began yesterday in this new town of Narcissus. The prices range from $25 to $100 a lot. An extra strip of sand is thrown in for good measure to purchasers of two lots. Experts declare that the tract is worth possibly $5 an acre.

The land in and about Narcissus is said to be permeated with alkali. There is no habitation within miles. The only building within sight of the visitor is a Southern Pacific water tank.

It is stated by V. S. Phillips, the present manager of the scheme, that offices will be opened in eastern cities for the sale of lots. He naively remarked yesterday that Narcissus would appeal more to easterners in search of a California home than it would to hardened Angelenos.

"Yet we have already sold several lots to local people," said Phillips with an air of triumph. He admitted there were no improvements on the tract as yet.

"We expect to spend some money there this fall," he said. "The view is fine. And water can be obtained by going down several hundred feet. We shall get out some very attractive literature in a few days to send to our eastern friends."

BEAUTIFUL "MAKINGS."

The plats and drawings at the office of the company show the "makings" of a beautiful town. In the center is to be a park. Lots near this park sell at the highest figures. A series of streets and avenues, already named, radiate from the projected park. Although nothing is grown in the vicinity, the settlers are to be "farmers." A cruel commentator remarks that most of them will be "suckers."

As the lots are only 30 or 40 feet by 100 feet, a "farmer" would be obliged to buy a large part of the town site in order to engage in agricultural pursuits. But the company claims that a better way will be to farm land in some other section and live in Narcissus. "Te dum, te dum, te tiddledy ump te dum."

Just what arrangements are to be made for stores, homes, water, transportation, light, sewers and all the supposed adjuncts of town life, do not appear.

Another real estate man, who has made a personal investigation of the site of the boom town of Narcissus, stated that the only merit in the proposition was the view.

"The land is practically worthless," he said. "The Southern Pacific company has a water tank near the site of the proposed town. Lancaster is three or four miles away. I can purchase all the land I wish in that section for $5 or $6 an acre, but I don't want it.

WILDCAT SCHEME.

"To my mind, it is a wild scheme, and it will hurt the reputation of Southern California lands. All wildcat schemes which are foisted on easterners hurt this section. No person with any intelligence is going to buy a lot in a section far removed from civilization, even if a dozen lots were thrown in with each purchase. Antelope Valley is bound to develop in spots some day, but the idea of sticking a town in the unwatered plain is absurd."

The town with the poetic name is promoted by the Mineral Lands Improvement Company. This concern recently started an alleged town near Goldfield. It was called North Goldfield. Titles were said to be imperfect, and the purchasers of lots have not realized a fortune on their speculation, so far as reported.

The land near Lancaster is partly government land, and is partly owned by the railroad.

It is understood that the company has made arrangements to "work" 1500 acres on the public, if the flower town can be made to stretch its limits. The present plat includes about 100 acres.

"Broadway" runs through Narcissus. Harper, Avalon, Beach, Euclid and Main streets are names of some of the paper streets. They run through several gopher villages and skirt white patches of alkali. From "Broadway" a fine view is to be had of the water tank. By climbing on the wagon seat one may catch a glimpse of Lancaster.

BUSINESS MAN INTERVIEWED.

Among many business men interviewed for The Times by A. T. Brant is Peter McCarthy of Troy, N. Y., connected with the Troy Waste Manufacturing Company, Troy Knitting Company, and Commercial Union Telegraph Company. Mr. McCarthy said:

"The supposition is that money will be plentiful after the first of November.

"The prosperity of the country is on a good, firm basis; but the people have been trying to do too much and there has been a little letting down.

"The period of stagnation will be short, as the resources of this country are very large, and we are not effected by depressions in the stock markets as in the past.

"The price of labor is too high for competition, unless protected. Freedom in the industries is vital to prosperity.

"Roosevelt discovered that grafting had gone to such an extent that, unless it was checked, it would be the downfall of the country. The results of these investigations will be good. There is no danger if everything is done in the limelight."

STEEL COACHES.

has been in service for a year or more. Steel coal and flat cars have cut down the cost of maintenance to a considerable extent.

A question to be discussed today is the introduction of a gasoline motor car on branch lines along the Coast. At the present time the motor car is in operation on the Union Pacific as far west as Denver.

W. R. McKeen, Jr., of Omaha, who is attending the conference, said:

"There are ten motor cars of the latest model now in operation in and about Omaha. They have given satisfaction in every way. The design is a 200-horse-power motor. In 2600 trips which these motor cars have made under trial, only ten were failures. Of course, the motor cars cannot be operated over any great stretch of territory. It is found to be most valuable on branch lines, where the operation of a full train is not necessary. Motor cars could be operated successfully in a number of places along the Coast. The Union Pacific still has a great demand for them, however, and it will probably be some time before any are operated here.

"Twelve cars are being manufactured. One is in operation on a branch of the Chicago and Northwestern. A number of orders have been received for cars which will be filled as soon as they can be turned out.

"The gasoline engine on the motor car is much more perfect than the engines used on automobiles. The motor car is equipped with a flexible control engine, while the automobile has a constant-speed engine. The flexible-control engine does away with the speed gears, and is directly connected with the axle."

AWKWARD FIX PATROLMEN'S.

CHARGED WITH TAKING SECRET SERVICE MAN'S BADGE.

Must Appear Before Police Commission on Tuesday to Explain Arrest at Chutes Park—Report from Alleged Victim Puts Them in Very Peculiar Light.

Complaints charging Patrolman John M. Walsh and John W. Murphy with interfering with a United States officer in the discharge of his duty were filed yesterday with the Police Commission by Chief of Police Kern. There was also filed a detailed account of the assault upon the Secret Service officer and his record, which was forwarded by Agent George W. Hazen.

According to the report, the attack upon Secret Service Agent William M. Farrell was uncalled for and brutal.

Walsh and Murphy are patrolmen on special duty, and work from the University Station. They are under the command of Capt. Bradish. Murphy has been with the department many years. He began as a patrolman, and later became a detective. Two years ago he was reduced to the ranks, and when the University Station needed men, he was sent there. Walsh has worked as patrolman, detective and plain-clothes officer.

On September 2 the officers, in plain clothes, were sent to Chutes Park to help quell the Labor Day disturbances there.

Following is a part of the report made by Farrell to Agent Hazen, who sent it to the Police Commission:

"On Labor Day I was ordered to visit Chutes Park and watch out for counterfeit money. I went to the park in the evening. I soon learned that most of the money was being handled by one cashier, who sold beer checks. These checks were good for any stand in the grounds.

I went into the room where this cashier was and showed him my star, the official badge of the Secret Service. The cashier recognized the badge and said that if I would return the following morning, he would have the funds collected and assorted and any counterfeit money would be put aside for my inspection.

"It was then after 9 o'clock and seeing that most of the money had been passed in, I started toward the entrance of the park. I had not gone far when two men in citizens' clothing stepped up to me. They did not tell me their business, and they did not show any star or badge of authority.

"One man, who, I have since learned, is named Walsh, grabbed me by the lapel of the coat and said in a gruff voice: 'Give me that gun and that star.'

"I told him to take his hands off me, that I was a secret-service officer. He paid no attention and began to tear at my clothes, while searching me. He took my billy and tore my star from my suspender. He searched me all over, insulting me in the meantime by remarking that there were lots of fake detectives around trying to stick people up for a little money.

"I protested and tried to explain, but it did no good. They took me by the arms and conducted me to a little room near the gate. There they completed the searching process, and demanded to see any identification papers I might have. I showed them letters bearing the treasury stamp, but Walsh remarked that the papers didn't suit him. He said he knew Secret Service Officer Cronin, and that his badge didn't look like mine.

"About that time Capt. Bradish came in. The minute he saw me he walked up to me and shook hands. He said the officers had made a mistake and apologized. He returned my star and weapons, and again apologized. He told me that Walsh was so erratic that frequently he had to take him from his work and send him home.

"Walsh looked on for a moment and then with the remark, 'Well, have it your own way, Cap,' walked out of the room."

Farrell, according to the report of Agent Hazen, has a good record.

Walsh and Murphy have been ordered to appear before the Police Commission on Tuesday.

STABBED BY A NEGRO.

E. B. O'Shea of No. 607½ North Main street was stabbed by a negro on an inbound Southern Pacific train about midnight. O'Shea was in charge of two cars of Mexicans from El Paso. He noticed the negro, who was beating his way, and attempted to eject him from the platform. The negro cut him with a razor on the right wrist and left hand. O'Shea was sent to the Receiving Hospital.

BURGLARS GET JEWELRY.

Burglars entered the home of Walter Caruthers at No. 1624 New Hampshire street last evening and rifled the house. From the Caruthers the robbers secured a small diamond ring, a locket and a gold watch. In the part of the house occupied by R. D. Edwards an opal ring, a bracelet and a watch were taken. The thieves secured entrance by prying open a rear window. No one was at home.

WILL DECORATE WITH CORN.

Chicago Coliseum to Be Trimmed in Grain for National Exposition, October 5-19.

At the National Corn Exposition, Chicago, October 5 to 19, the most elaborate decorative scheme ever seen in Chicago, says the Tribune of that city, will be presented at the Coliseum Building and annex, where the show will be held.

This decorative work will cost in the neighborhood of $30,000, and corn will be the dominant (in fact, the almost exclusive) decorative material. In addition to a miniature corn farm in the center of the building one end will contain an ancient temple dedicated to the goddess of corn, where at certain times of the day the virgins of the sun will offer sacrifices of corn.

At the opposite end will be a realistic farm scene, made up of an actual farmhouse, windmill, growing corn, etc. On either side will be shields of the different States, done in corn, each showing the amount of corn grown last year. A large and splendid picture of Minnehaha will adorn one wall. Immense festoons of corn ears will be suspended from the ceiling and two gigantic pumpkins will demonstrate that corn and pumpkins grow together. The color scheme is exceedingly harmonious, and everything in the building will conform to the general decorative idea.

BEET LEAVES MAKE MILK.

Germans Prove This to Be a Very Superior Forage but Cows Lose in Weight.

[Indianapolis Star:] In Germany cows in milk are given enormous quantities of sugar-beet leaves—as much as 150 pounds daily for each 1000 pounds of live weight—besides concentrates in proportion to the milk yields, two, four, seven and ten pounds, and about twenty pounds of straw.

The food is weighed daily, as is the milk from each cow, and samples are kept for testing. It has been the opinion that beet leaves give thin milk, but in Germany milk testing 3.58 per cent when the cows are fed green corn fodder will give 3.54 per cent in the beet leaves period or virtually the same. Nevertheless there is one drawback: When many leaves are fed the manure is likely to become too soft, and it seems that the cows lose in weight.

It is suggested that by giving the cows thirty grams of precipitated phosphate of lime while the beet leaves are fed the digestion of the cows is improved and the manure becomes normal.

ELECTRIC COMPANIES MERGE.

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—The consolidation of the Chicago Edison Company and the Commonwealth Electric Company was completed today by the filing of certificates designating the new corporation as the Commonwealth Edison Company, with a capital stock of $30,000,000.
